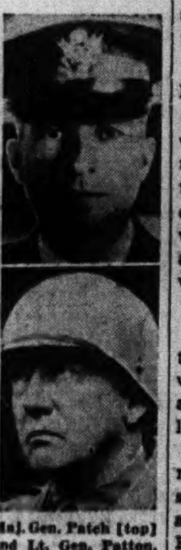
ARMY APPOINTS GEN. PATTON TO NEW COMMAND

Gen. Patch Named Leader of 7th.

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., 58, denounced for slapping a soldier but acclaimed as a field commander, is slated for a major role in the invasion of western Europe.



Maj. Gen. Patch [top] and Lt. Gen. Patton.

The first official indication of this was the announcement in Naples today that he has relinquished command of the United States 7th army to Maj. Gen. Alexander W. Patch, followed quickly by war department disclosure that Patton now heads "another army." Patch, 54, is a veteran of Guadalcanal and Pacific fighting.

Officials would not say which field army has been assigned to Patton, or where it is located, presumably because of army policy that it is the privilege of combat theater commanders to make such announcements. In this case, the announcement is expected from Gen. Eisenhower, chief of the allied invasion forces.

Expected to Be Under Bradley.

Despite the public outcry which followed disclosure that Patton, in a fit of fury while visiting a hospital during the Sicilian campaign last year, had struck a soldier who he thought was shirking his duty, there has been every indication that Eisenhower considers Patton's driving energy and capacity as a combat leader indispensable.

Eisenhower gave Patton a stinging personal rebuke for the slapping incident, but after Patton apologized to the soldier concerned and to his entire command took no official action to punish him.

It was assumed here that Patton, in his new assignment, will act under Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who has been designated by Eisenhower as senior commander of American army ground troops in the invasion forces.

[Bradley commanded the American 2d corps as part of Patton's 7th army in Sicily.]

Location of 7th Undisclosed.

While several units formerly with the 7th army have been assigned to the 5th army in Italy, the location of the 7th has not been disclosed. Patton led the 7th army to victory in Sicily. His forces toppled Messina, the last Sicilian city captured.

The 7th army was made up during the Sicily campaign of the 1st, 3d, and 45th infantry divisions, plus detachments of the 2d armored and 82d air borne divisions—comprising largely troops of the United States 2d army corps which Patton headed during part of the Tunisian campaign. Bradley commanded the 2d on its final dash to Bizerte.

30 YEARS IN THE ARMY.

Gen. Patch, a veteran of 30 years of army service, handled the final mopping up of the Japanese on Guadalcanal, moving in with the army troops to relieve Maj. Gen. Vandegrift's marines. Patch also commanded the United States troops in New Caledonia.

Patch returned to the United States in March, 1943 to head the 4th army corps, with headquarters at Fort Lewis, Wash., under the war department's announced policy of bringing battle experienced commanders back to give troops in training the benefit of actual combat lessons.

A veteran of World War I. and a graduate of the command and general staff school and of the army war college, Patch formerly commanded Camp Croft, South Carolina infantry training center. He previously had served as an instructor of the Alabama National Guard and as professor of military science and tactics at the Staunton Military academy, Virginia.

FBI Charges Fake Working Record Graft

Baltimore, Md., March 21 (AP).—The federal bureau of investigation today announced the arrest of 34 shipyard workers accused of falsifying work records to defraud the Bethlehem Steel company's Sparrows Point [Md.] yards and the government of sums which mounted to more than a million dollars a year.

John W. Vincent, special agent in charge of the Baltimore FBI office, said the scheme had been in operation for at least five years.

He said other arrests would follow.

The arrests of 17 of the persons were reported a few hours before the additional 17 were taken into custoday. Vincent said 33 of them were counters in the welding section and were responsible for recording the amount of welding done by individual workers.

Faked Work Records.

For a fee, Vincent continued, these counters would credit the welders with more work than they actually had done, thus resulting in larger pay checks for the welders.

The shipyard, working on government contracts, built 24 major vessels last year—principally tankers and cargo ships. It is one of two Bethlehem shipyards in Baltimore.

In Washington an FBI announcement said that the company "had coöperated to the fullest extent" in the investigation which led to the arrests.

"The practice followed was to charge each welder approximately $1 or more per day for falsifying the work completed records of that welder for a day's work," Vincent said in a prepared statement.

Boost Pay $15 a Day.

"In some instances false reports were submitted by the counters indicating that a welder had completed welding work which would entitle him to as much as $25 as his day's pay, when as a matter of fact, the welder would have been entitled to only $10 as his day's wages." Vincent said the FBI estimated that more than 700 welders were paying the $1 or more a day to counters.

All were arrested upon warrants authorized by United States Atty. Bernard J. Flynn and will be arraigned before United States Commissioner James K. Cullen charged "with having perpetrated a fraud upon the United States government."

One Is "Lavish Entertainer."

Shipyard Manager Frank A. Hodge said that the problem had been of great concern and that a number of employes already had been discharged. The offenders constituted a small percentage of more than 8,000 employes, Hodge commented.

The FBI agent said one of the arrested men had bought an automobile and had built a modernistic playroom and bar in his home, "where he gained the local reputation of being a lavish entertainer."

CHAPLIN BEGINS NERVOUS ROLE AT BAR OF LAW

Actor Put On Trial in Mann Act Case.

BY MARCIA WINN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on back page.)

Los Angeles, Cal., March 21.—Charlie Chaplin today began one of the few roles he never essayed on the screen, that of defendant at the bar.

If asked to give it a title, he might give it that of his first million dollar comedy back in 1918, "A Dog's Life," for it is a harsh and bitter role.

The silly, clowning Chaplin that millions knew wasn't here. Gone were the French kick, the brush mustache, the fluttering mannerisms. It was Charles Spencer Chaplin, No. 16,617 on the criminal docket of the United States court for the southern district of California, on trial accused of two violations of the Mann act. He is accused of transporting Joan Berry, 24, his one time "resident" protegee, to New York and back for immoral purposes.

Looks All of His 53 Years.

Chaplin looked every day of his 53 years as the trial opened. The face that stands out so startlingly against his thick silver hair by virtue of its deep tan is heavy jowled, lined, and dissipated. The eyes which makeup once transformed into mournful caverns are small.

The once thin little figure, today neatly encased in double breasted navy blue, is stocky. Only the hands that today never were at ease have the sensitivity for which they once were renowned.

Yet the Chaplin today is the Chaplin that has been seen around here in recent years—with one major exception. Today he was amiable. Today Chaplin smiled at members of the press, a largesse he rarely has tossed in that direction. Today he faced batteries of cameras without protest, he who in the past has arrogantly told restaurant owners, "Throw those morons out!"

Equipped with Press Agent.

Today he came to trial, as once long ago did Samuel Insull, with a special press agent, Casey Shawhan, whose sole duty it is to feed, wine, and placate members of the press covering the trial. Mr. Shawhan, one of the ablest publicists in Hollywood, was given leave of absence by his employer, 20th Century-Fox, to "assist" the press.

With Chaplin, too, is the man who is said to be the ablest criminal lawyer of this decade. The second Clarence Darrow, they call him, as they say: "If you're in trouble, and you can pay, get Jerry Giesler."

Chaplin has Giesler, a big, soft spoken man with thinning jet black hair brushed like pencil strokes across the blank areas of his head. Giesler slumps nonchalantly at the defense table, bored and weary, yet gathering his bulk in lightning intensity when the moment comes.

Geisler had little to do today, as did United States Atty. Charles H. Carr, the prosecutor. Today might be called the judge's day, the day

Ruling Curbs City Courts on Divorces

The Illinois Supreme court at Springfield ruled yesterday that city courts may not grant divorces to nonresidents unless the marital offenses complained of occurred within the territorial limits of such courts.

Divorce lawyers generally agreed the opinion was far reaching. One, Sol R. Friedman, said it might imperil houndreds of divorces and also in many cases resultant remarriages. There are city courts in 28 different Illinois cities, all empowered to grant divorces.

Second Husband Plaintiff.

The case involved was that of John F. Cullen and Mrs. Helen Stevens Cullen, who were married in 1942. Cullen sued for an annulment, asserting that Mrs. Cullen's divorce from her first husband, Paul Stevens, in Calumet City was illegal because the cause of divorce—desertion—did not occur in Calumet City, but in Indiana.

Judge Thomas J. Lynch of the Circuit court, upheld Mrs. Cullen's divorce and refused to grant an annulment. Atty. Friedman appeared as friend of the court, while Elmer J. Schnackenberg, speaker of the state house of representatives, appeared for Cullen.

The Supreme court held, however, that the Calumet City divorce was not valid and remanded the case to the Circuit court with instructions to grant Cullen an annulment.

Rehearing to Be Asked.

The Supreme court held that city courts may grant divorces to nonresidents of their cities so long as they are residents of the county. Atty. Friedman said he would seek a rehearing and, if necessary, would appeal to the United States Supreme court.

The Calumet City City court grants an estimated 300 divorces a year, while some 100 divorces a year are allowed by the Chicago Heights City court. Of divorces that have been granted by all City courts in Illinois, it has been estimated that more than 1,000 were allowed to residents.

25 Pound Baby with Full Set of Teeth Born in South

Raleigh, N. C., March 21 (AP).—A 25 pound baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Amon Harris, Negro couple, at St. Agnes hospital here today. The child was 32 inches long, had a full set of teeth, and the mother and baby were reported in "excellent condition," the attending physician said.

DENTISTS' RATIO TO CIVILIANS SET AT ONLY 1 TO 2,000

The ratio of dentists to civilians is now only about 1 to 2,000, Dr. Harold Hillenbrand of the Chicago College of Dental Surgery disclosed yesterday. He spoke at a convention of the American Association of Dental Schools in the Drake hotel.

The ratio was too low even in prewar times when it was 1 to 1,800, Dr. Hillenbrand said, and if it drops to 1 to 2,500 it will reach the danger point.

Dental authorities said the army and navy have a theoretical ratio of one dentist to 500 men. No country has even approached this ratio in civilian practice, it was said.

Discussing proposed extensions of social security to include health and dentals programs, Dr. Hillenbrand said the proposals could not be feasible until "a great expansion" in dental training had taken place.

Tax Estimates Are Due April 15, Doughton Says

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—Chairman Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house and ways and means committee said today more than 15,000,000 of the 50,000,000 tax payers will have to estimate their 1944 income and pay a portion of the tax on it by April 15, and that there is little hope of any last minute, legislative respite.

'Short Weights' Hot Dog Buyer 13 Cents; Fined $25

LONDON, March 21 (AP).—With Wales mines operating near normal following the return of all except a handful of 100,000 strikers, a new pay dispute developed tonight in the Yorkshire coal fields and 14,000 men walked out. The walkout closed eight pits.

General to Let Flak Console a Hero's Mother

Since last October Sgt. Robert K. Bell's letters from an air base in England to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bell of Denver, Ind., had a lot to say about his dog, a black cocker spaniel named Flak.

Sgt. R. K. Bell.

Sgt. Bell paid $50 for Flak, and he told his folks it was a million dollar buy. Every time Bell and his bomber crew comrades left their base on a mission over Europe, Flak was near the runway barking good luck to them. Every time the plane returned, Flak was there, joyfully greeting his master and crew.

Pet Always in His Thoughts.

The sergeant and his dog were inseparable. In his letters Bell generally wrote such things as: "Flak's climbing on my shoulder now," or "Flak's barking," or "Flak wants his dinner."

Then a telegram from the war department came to Mr. and Mrs. Bell. It said: "Regret to inform you your son . . . killed in action."

Several days ago Robert's sister, Miss Marietta Bell, 21, a cadet nurse at Michael Reese hospital, wrote a letter to Gen. Henry H. Arnold, head of the army air forces.

Mother Voices a Wish.

The letter said:

"Robert, my brother, was killed in action. He had been awarded the Purple Heart and the distinguished flying cross. Flak, his dog, is 5 months old. I am appealing to you for my parents' sake. They are quite elderly and my mother is not well. She made the statement, 'If we only had Robert's dog here with us so that we could look after it, as he would if he were living.'

"I know it would receive the best of care, as we live on a small country farm. This would be all we would have to remember him by. We will pay anything that is asked. But please try to return Flak to us."

Yesterday Gen. Arnold's headquarters replied to Miss Bell: They are trying to bring Robert's dog home to the parents.

Battleships Shell Foe on New Ireland

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 22 [Wednesday]—(AP).—American marines from the Solomon Islands seized Emirau Island Monday while United States battleships in their first action in the Bismarck sea area pounded the Japanese base at Kavieng on New Ireland with 1,000 tons of steel.

The marines overcame light enemy resistance to put Emirau under allied control. Possession of Emirau, in the St. Matthias group 84 miles northwest of Kavieng, "completes the isolation of all enemy bases in the Bismarck archipelago and places us within bombing range of Truk," Gen. MacArthur said.

540 Miles from Truk.

Truk, the big enemy naval and supply base which already is within range of American bombers based on recently conquered Marshall Islands air fields, is 540 miles north of Emirau. Truk is 600 miles from the Marshalls.

The marine raiders, supported by strong naval and air groups, went ashore on Emirau Island at dawn. They found no fixed enemy defenses, indicating that MacArthur again had hit where the Japanese least expected a blow.

Other marines seized Elomusao, a small island south of Emirau.

These holdings, which are suitable for the development of an air field, put the allies closer to Truk than at any other point in the Pacific.

Has Two Harbors.

Emirau Island, sometimes known also as Squally Island, is about 10 miles by 4 in area and is the smaller of the two principal islands in the St. Matthias group. Mussau, 15 miles northwest, is the larger.

The captured island is flat and has two harbors, the larger of which is Hamburg bay on the north coast. The whole island group is part of the New Guinea territory which was mandated to Australia by the Versailles treaty after the last World war. The islands formerly belonged to Germany.

Kavieng Almost Destroyed.

The three and one-half hour bombardment of Kavieng by battleships and other war craft almost wiped out the town, a headquarters spokesman said. It had been preceded by an aerial bombing. The attackers suffered no losses.

Allied aircraft, Gen. MacArthur said, struck at Rabaul and Open bay, New Britain; Bollandia and Aitape, New Guinea, and at ships off the Madang coast of New Guinea.

Fair Cabbies Say Law Would Aid 'Wolfy' Fares

Portland, Ore., March 21 (AP).—Taxi service was suspended today for a two hour period while women drivers debated a proposed city ordinance which would require all drivers to post names and addresses on cab meters. Most of the women are against it; many of them think they should strike if it ever becomes law. They argue that if their addresses are up there in plain sight, some of the fares will follow them home.

JAPANESE ADVANCING IN FIERCE FIGHTING ON BURMA-INDIA BORDER

NEW DELHI, India, March 21 (AP).—Japanese troops are advancing in fierce fighting along the northwest Burma-Assam border, the southeast Asia command announced today.

[The Japanese controled Singapore radio said Japanese units have crossed into India and "are fighting on Indian soil."]

The allied bulletin asserted that combined allied forces operating in northeast Burma scored "unexpectedly sudden" successes in breaking thru into the upper Mogaung valley and in the capture of a town 70 miles west of China's Yunnan border. Allied columns were on three sides of Myitkyina, the center of Japanese activity in northeast Burma.

The Japanese had concentrated troops, vehicles, and stores on the banks of the Chindwin river and were attempting to push up the Kabaw valley just west of the Chindwin. Another Japanese river crossing was reported on the Chindwin 20 miles south of previously reported crossings.

[Jap campaign intended to cut Gen. Stilwell's supply line, Col. Conrad H. Lanza believes. Details on page 2.]

Rumania Is Next, Turks Say.

LONDON, March 21 (AP).—German forces were reported tonight to have taken over communications centers in Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, while a Nazi army of 100,000 men developed its occupation of Hungary, and while Adolf Hitler was said to be maneuvering to set up a Quisling regime in Hungary.

Bela Imredi.

The Germans clamped a tight news blackout over Hungary, but thru Turkey, Switzerland, and Sweden came reports which made a fairly complete picture of this latest German move, undertaken as the Russian offensive nears the Balkans.

Without immediate confirmation from other sources, the Ankara Turkish radio said the Germans had occupied the postal and telegraph offices of Sofia. The broadcast was recorded in Berne, Switzerland.

See Hint of New Invasion.

The reported move perhaps presaged a full scale drive into Bulgaria such as was sent against Hungary, where the German occupation was meeting some opposition.

London's Wednesday morning newspapers published dispatches from Ankara reporting that Premier Ion Antonescu of Rumania was planning to seek an armistice with Russia shortly because he is convinced Germany has lost the war.

The dispatches said Antonescu was expected to propose the withdrawal of all Rumanian forces from Russia to positions behind the Prut river and to renounce all claim to Bessarabia and perhaps northern Bucovina.

The Daily Mail said it was believed in Turkey that formal German occupation of Rumania is imminent. The dispatch quoted unconfirmed reports that four armored divisions and several infantry divisions were speeding thru Hungary toward Bucharest, Rumania.

Rumanians Jittery.

The rulers of Rumania met in a five-hour secret conference yesterday, said an Istanbul dispatch, presumably to make plans for meeting or surrendering to the advancing Russian forces. The young King Michael, Premier Antonescu, and war minister Gen. Pantazi were among the conferees, Istanbul said.

The Budapest radio went off the air tonight, announcing that an air raid was in progress, but resumed broadcasting an hour and three-quarters later. It subsequently broadcast a warning, heard by United States government monitors, that "nuisance raiders" were over various Hungarian localities.

Hold All Key Points.

An Associated Press dispatch from Ankara reported all important points in Hungary—especially transportation lines—are firmly in the hands of the Germans, whose entire southeastern defense command is being tightened.

The Bulgarian cabinet was declared by the Ankara radio to have met to hear German demands for more active Bulgarian participation in the war, with Premier Dobri Bojilov in constant consultation with the regency. Bulgaria, at war with the United States and Britain, thus far has confined her army to occupational and police duties.

Hungarian troops loyal to their 75 year old regent, Adm. Nicholas Horthy, resisted at some points, but on the whole the occupying force of five German and two Rumanian divisions appeared to be meeting little fight as it took over the country.

Seizes Liberals and Jews.

The pro-Nazi former premier, Bela Imredi, was understood to be heading a temporary government in coöperation with Berlin, and was reported to have ordered the arrest of his predecessor, Premier Nicholas Kallay.

Imredi went into action immediately, launching a round-up of liberal political leaders, Jews and Polish refugees, and summoning parliament to meet tomorrow, with himself substituting for the "absent" regent Horthy.

Horthy was still reported detained in Germany with three of his aides who went with him to Berlin last week at Hitler's call. Their detention and the occupation of Hungary followed their refusal to mobilize troops and further participate in the war against Russia.

Hungarian sources in Switzerland said Imredi would proclaim a new government at tomorrow's session of parliament.

10 POINT ULTIMATUM

BY EDWIN SHANKE.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 22 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The German occupation of Hungary followed the rejection by regent Adm. Nicholas Horthy of a 10 point Hitler ultimatum which would have made Hungary a virtual protectorate of the reich, Hungarians close to the regent said today.

Hungarians here listed the 10 demands as:

1—Surrender all Hungarian airdromes to the Germans.

2—Permission for Germany to base fighter planes and anti-aircraft crews in Hungary to combat allied planes flying over western Hungary against German war plants in Austria.

3—German control of the Hungarian telephone system.

4—Reorganization of the Hungarian army under German officers, similar to the system in Rumania.

5—Reorganization of the Hungarian army for total participation in the war against Russia.

Sought Oil Fields.

6—Exploitation of the oil fields in western Hungary under German control.

7—Hungary not to conclude any trade agreements without Nazi approval.

8—Solution of the Jewish problem in Hungary according to what Hitler described as the "continental system" of the Germans.

9—Abolition of the Socialist and small Landowners parties with the suppression of their newspaper and the expulsion of their representatives from the Hungarian parliament.

10—Suppression of Polish schools and newspapers in Hungary.

BIG AMERICAN BOMBERS BLAST INVASION COAST

LONDON, March 21 (AP).—American heavy bombers today blasted the Pas-de-Calais invasion coast area of France, which has been getting an almost daily plastering from lighter raiders. Liberators of the 8th air force unloaded explosives on targets identified only as "military objectives." All the American planes returned.

Mustangs of the 8th air force penetrated deep into France to attack enemy airdromes and installations from Paris down to the Pyrenees. Twenty enemy aircraft were destroyed at a cost of seven United States fighters.

The German air force late tonight poured incendiaries and high explosives on London in a half hour attack.

U. S. SUBS SINK 15 SHIPS ALONG JAPS' LIFE LINE

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—American submarines, cutting into Japanese supply lines in what the navy called "one of the most important of all Pacific operations," have sunk another 15 enemy merchant ships, it was announced today.

FATHER WILLING TO LET DOCTORS EXAMINE QUINTS

May Allow Experts' Blood Test.

BY YVONNE TABBUSH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, March 21.—Franco Diligenti, father of the now famous mystery quintuplets of Argentina, today expressed a willingness to allow outstanding specialists to study the case of the five babies, whose authenticity has been questioned in some quarters.

Asked whether he would be willing to submit the reputed quints to a blood test, their father, who had kept their alleged birth a secret for eight months, said:

"I am willing to allow outstanding Argentina specialists to study the case, provided the motive is for purely scientific reasons and no personal publicity or material gain is derived from it.

Plans Early Christening.

"I am not willing to submit the quints to multiple studies by the ordinary run of doctors. As for blood tests, if the specialists deem it necessary, I will consider the matter, provided the children will not suffer from it."

Diligenti said he planned to hold a christening party soon for the three boys and two girls when he moves into a new residence. Concerning the flood of messages he receives daily congratulating him on the modest and almost secretive attitude he has adopted regarding the quintuplets, Diligenti said:

"I am not interested in newspaper reports or the public's doubts. If they doubt the story, all the better. I have never announced the quints.

Not Interested in Money.

"You have seen the five children for yourself. I don't want any more publicity and I'm not interested in making money out of them.

"Never did I ask the servants, acquaintances, or neighbors to keep the existence of the quints to themselves. I am thankful the story was kept quiet for eight months—that is the biggest mystery of all."

Company of WACs Goes on Duty in Central Pacific

HEADQUARTERS, Pacific Wing, Air Transport Command, March 21 (AP).—Arrival of the first company of WACs assigned to active duty in the Central Pacific area was announced today by Brig. Gen. William Ord Ryan, commanding general of the ATC Pacific wing. The detachment will take over immediately the duties of enlisted men at Hawaiian ATC stations. The uniformed women will handle administrative office and motor transport work.

JAPANESE DRIVE ON INDIA AIMED AT YANKS: LANZA

BY COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

[Regular contributor to the Field Artillery Journal and recognized as an authority on military matters.]

Manipur is a small Indian state with a population under 500,000. Triangular in form, two of its boundaries, the east and south, adjoin Burma, and are respectively 150 and 100 miles long.

The area of the country is about 8,500 square miles, which is slightly larger than New Jersey. Most of the inhabitants live in a fertile valley which covers less than 10 per cent of the country. Jungle covered mountains occupy the remainder of this little state.

200 Miles to Yanks.

Two hundred miles to the north, but across high and difficult mountains, is Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese-American force which is working to extend the Ledo road. Two hundred and seventy-five miles to the south, over other mountain ranges, is the British force fighting the Japs on the Arakan coast. Manipur, between these two fighting areas, has been outside of active centers.

On March 13, news came that a Jap force was coming out of Burma toward Manipur. To date five hostile columns have been reported. Two of them are advancing across the south border in a northerly direction toward the capital city of Imphal, which is really an overgrown village. At the beginning of this week they were 100 miles away.

Fifty Miles from Capital.

Two more columns were southeast of Imphal and only 50 miles away. The fifth column was crossing the east boundary near the north end and was about 95 miles northeast from Imphal. British troops are in contact with the Japs, but have not stopped them.

Why should the Japs desire to invade Manipur?

Twenty-five miles west of Manipur is the Assam and Bengal railroad. Over this go the supplies for Gen. Stilwell's forces. If this could be seized, or severed, the Ledo road project might be seriously handicapped. This is more probably the Jap objective.

Attack in Center.

The British, American, and Chinese troops being active at two ends of a frontier about 500 miles long, the Japs are attacking the center. Whether they had information that the allies had few troops around Manipur isn't known. The Japanese have some Indian troops. It is likely that they are able thru sympathizers within India to obtain considerable information regarding conditions in that country and the dispositions of the allied forces.

If any one of the five Jap columns gets thru it may cut in rear of the British opposing the other four columns.

Jap-Made Horns Turn Up at Red Cross Celebration

Richmond, Va., March 21 (AP).—Patriotic workers celebrating success of the Red Cross fund in Richmond were startled in the midst of their victory noisemaking to read "Made in Japan" on the paper horns provided for the occasion. The horns were presumed to be pre-Pearl Harbor imports.

GERMANS CLAIM DUTCH SUFFER INVASION FEAR

Fascists Call Special Police Guard.

BY P. E. BRIQUET.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, March 20.—"The Netherlands is a prey to invasion jitters. All Dutchmen are hit, but those who are affected are really sick," writes the Essener National Zeitung, Hermann Goering's own newspaper.

After Interior Minister Heinrich Himmler's visit in February proceedings against terrorists are continuing. Thirty-six executions have been announced officially. According to a declaration by the chief of the police court in Amsterdam, the death sentence will be imposed not only on those possessing arms but also on those scheming hostile action against the Germans. At Leyden 50 inhabitants recently were imprisoned because it must be "assumed that they sympathized with those against the Nazis."

Anton A. Mussert, head of the Dutch Fascists, has had to call upon members of his organization to enter his special police, the "landwacht," which is supposed to "watch over the interests and good will of the people."

Policemen Executed.

Many policemen were recently condemned to death on the ground of participating in "terroristic organizations," while policemen faithful to the Nazis were murdered by patriots.

The Germans are gradually abandoning hope of winning over the Dutch with Mussert's help. The Deutsche Zeitung / Niederlanden says: "All efforts of Mussert and his followers seem to be to convince the Dutch people that Mussert's party should not be charged later with high treason. The German people were deceived into believing that the miracle of friendship with the Dutch could be achieved. Now we are no longer deceived. It is better so."

Arthur Seyss-Inquart, reich commissioner in Holland, said recently: "May God grant that our enemies open up their second front from the west in 1944, which will bring a victorious decision to Germany the same year."

LEADERS WILL URGE CLOSER SCHOOL FOR HERZL PUPILS TODAY

A committee of political leaders and other Chicagoans is scheduled to confer at 11 a. m. today with Supt. Johnson of the Chicago public schools to discuss whether the operations of Herzl Junior college, 3711 Douglas blvd., could be shifted to some location closer than Wilson Junior college, 6800 Stewart av. The navy has taken over the Herzl building.

Among those scheduled to attend are Ald. Fischman [24th]; Arthur X. Elrod, 24th ward Democratic committeeman, and Henry Sonnenschein, clerk of Superior court and 22d ward political leader.

Students yesterday protested moving to Wilson college, effective next Monday, because they would have a long distance to go to school. Johnson countered that Wilson is the only logical place because no west side school can accommodate Herzl's 600 students and their equipment and the 1,000 students now at Wilson fill only half that school.

A student spokesman said a mass meeting to protest the shift would be held at 7:30 p. m. today in the Jewish Peoples institute, 3500 Douglas blvd.

REDS POUR INTO BESSARABIA ON 50 MILE FRONT

Cut Railway; Make New Gains in Poland.

LONDON, March 22 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Russian troops sweeping across the Dniester river into Bessarabia on a 50 mile front cut the Cernauti-Baltic trunk railway yesterday and stormed thru 40 villages to within 30 miles of the Prut river from which the Nazis launched their 1941 invasion, Moscow announced today.

[Moscow considers the Prut river the current Rumanian border. The Russians in 1940 took over Bessarabian areas which previously had been part of Rumania.]

Moscow's bulletin said the Red army attacking in old Poland toward Lwow had captured 62 more villages. Soviet spearheads had crossed into Lwow province and were reported already within sight of Brody, 50 miles northeast of Lwow.

170 Miles from Warsaw.

Berlin's high command said the Russians were attacking Kowel [Kovel], 100 miles north of Lwow, 170 air line miles from Warsaw, and 500 miles from Berlin.

One soviet unit "which had broken into Kowel was wiped out," said Berlin, and German radio commentators on the Kiev-Warsaw line was raging with "unparalleled ferocity."

Attacking on a 500 mile front from Poland to the Black sea near imperilled Nikolaev and Odessa, Moscow said three big Red armies had seized a total of 330 towns and villages during yesterday.

The 40 villages captured in Bessarabia made a total of 80 taken in three days as the Russians pounded toward the Carpathian mountains in the west and toward the Danube river in the south.

Pour Across Dniester River.

Smashing German and Rumanian resistance on the approaches to the Prut, Moscow's bulletin announced the capture of a point 23 miles within Bessarabia. Presumably the railway was cut in this area. The Russians also reached a point within 20 miles of one German escape railway from southern Russia, and were within 48 miles of the major escape road, westward from Odessa.

Dispatches to Moscow from the front said a steady flow of Red army tanks, infantry, and artillery was pouring across the Dniester into Bessarabia, apparently in an effort to strike southward and tie a great noose around huge German forces retreating toward Odessa in a 10,000 square mile area of southern Russia.

The 3d Ukraine army under Gen. Malinovsky was hurling back the Germans toward Odessa and also had Nikolaev, Black sea port 65 miles northeast of Odessa, encircled on its three landward sides. Nikolaev is on the east bank of the Bug river at its mouth.

The Russian army newspaper Red Star said "soviet troops in the Ukraine have cut the German army in two."

NEXT WAR LOAN DRIVE TO START ABOUT JUNE 1ST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—A fifth war loan drive to obtain 14 or 15 billion dollars will start the last week in May or the first week in June, treasury department officials said today. Securities to be offered are expected to be almost identical to those offered in the fourth war loan drive, which produced 16 billions 730 million dollars. Bankers today began two days of conferences with treasury officials on details of the drive.

RUSSIA ANSWERS FINNS' REJECTION OF PEACE OFFER

Fate in Their Hands Now, Say Reds.

LONDON, March 21 (AP). — A few hours after Finland announced rejection of the Russian armistice terms today, an official soviet statement broadcast from Moscow said the refusal placed full responsibility for the consequences on the Finnish government.

Together the two declarations indicated a final breakdown in peace negotiations.

Red Terms Held the 'Minimum.'

"By this action it [the regime of Premier Edwin Linkomies] has taken upon itself full responsibility for what will follow," said the Russian broadcast.

The statement pointed out that Finland's first answer to the peace offer, made March 1, had been a reply that the soviet terms were difficult.

"The soviet government informed the Finnish government it considered the Finnish reply unsatisfactory," the statement said, adding that the six points presented were the "minimum and elementary ones" and that only their acceptance could make possible an armistice.

[The major Russian demands were withdrawal of the Finnish forces to the 1940 border and internment of all German troops now in Finland.]

"Negotiations Closed."

At that time a March 18 deadline was given Finland to make a decision, the broadcast said, and Finland made a negative reply March 17.

A Finnish foreign office spokesman said "Finland is willing for peace," but the soviet statement indicated that Russia considered negotiations closed.

RAIL LINE BOMBED 92 TIMES.

RADIO TRAITORS FACE TRIAL UNDER BRITISH LAWS, SAYS ATTLEE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 21. — William Joyce, otherwise known as "Lord Haw Haw," one of Berlin's top radio commentators, will not be tried as a war criminal after the war but will be "charged with offenses against British law and brought to trial in an appropriate British court," Deputy Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee told the house of commons today. The same treatment will be meted out to other British subjects assisting the enemy by broadcasting from enemy stations, Attlee said.

Joyce was said to have taken out German citizenship papers before the war.

Among recent acquisitions of radio commentators in Berlin is John Amery, son of the British secretary of state for India.

MacARTHUR SAYS HIS MEN RETAIN ONLY ¼ OF PAY

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 22 [Wednesday]—(AP).—American service men in the Southwest Pacific retain only about one-fourth of their earnings each month, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said today. A press release followed an earlier statement by the general that he opposed unofficial proposals to withhold some of the pay in Australia.

Some Australian organizations urged that part of the pay be withheld to check what they termed the increasing threat of inflation. Gen. MacArthur said he favored an increase in Australian service men's pay instead of withholding part of the American pay.

CHICAGO'S OLEO, WISCONSIN EGGS —THIS IS MOSCOW

BY EDDY GILMORE.

MOSCOW, March 21 (AP).—A walk thru the streets of Moscow, now wet with spring rains, is convincing proof of the aid the United States is sending the soviet union.

There were the white galoshes on the girl I was walking with.

"Where did you get those?" I asked her.

"Moscow," she said, lifting her foot to show the trademark. "But they are from America."

Cans of Oleo and Cheese.

Up the street was a window display; piled boxes of powdered eggs from Wisconsin. Then a windowful of oleomargarine from Chicago, arranged in neat piles of tin cans weighing six pounds each.

Still farther on we noted some American cheese in cans. There was a long line of customers for it.

At another store women were buying sugar in bulk. We asked what kind it was.

"American," smiled a girl clerk.

We asked the store manager if he had any other American food.

Like Chicago Sausage.

"Not right now," he reported, "but we've had vienna sausage from Chicago several times and are expecting some more soon. We like it very much."

We finally reached our destination, the home of a Russian friend. As we admired her baby, we noticed the pink blanket.

"American Red Cross, Montgomery, Ala., chapter" the label read.

Incidentally, on my way home I got my American suit severely splashed with mud from a big American-made truck that rumbled by, driven by a Red army man.

It was a very American day.

AMERICA'S FINEST SHOES FOR MEN

CIVILIAN FLEES PHILIPPINES AND ARRIVES IN U. S.

Seattle, Wash., March 21 (AP).—One of the first instances of the escape of an American civilian from the Philippine Islands since their fall was reported today upon arrival of Chester M. Peters, 32, formerly of Seattle. His return culminated a year and a half of hunted living from island to island.

Chester Peters.

Peters said a friend, who was afraid to risk escape, loaned him a small boat. He hugged the shoreline of a harbor and reached an uninvaded island in 1942. In three months the Japanese came there, too, and from then on Peters was always in hiding.

"Thousands of Filipinos took to the hills," he said. "There was confusion all over the islands. Towns were evacuated and then reëstablished. People were always coming and going." Peters finally arrived in Australia and the army arranged for transportation to America.

HULL ADVOCATES WORLD AGENCY TO KEEP PEACE

Favors Force, if Needed; Tells Foreign Policy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—In response to mounting demands in and out of congress that the administration disclose its war and peace aims to the American people, Secretary of State Hull tonight outlined 17 basic principles of American foreign policy.

He called for the creation of an international agency to keep peace by force if necessary and urged the creation of a world court to adjudicate political differences which might threaten world peace.

The statement reaffirmed adherence to the Atlantic Charter as observers here were holding funeral rites over the pact since Prime Minister Churchill announced without denial from the White House that it does not apply to victor and vanquished alike.

Policy Assailed in House.

Even as Hull distributed his statement, in response, he said, to the growing interest in the foreign policy of the United States and increasing requests for a definition of that policy, it was indicated his principles would not satisfy critics.

Two Republican members of congress took the floor in the house to assail the present foreign policy and demand that the people be told what the United States is fighting for, what it proposes to do about the peace and what, if anything, it has pledged itself to do.

Rep. Scott [R., Pa.] demanded that Mr. Roosevelt clarify the confusion of international issues by revealing what happened at the Teheran conference. He specifically asked what was decided about the future status of France and whether there was agreement between the United States and Britain on armistice terms which might be offered Germany.

Scott declared there is "reason to anticipate a pro-Russian Europe after the war" as a result of Russia's recognition of the Badoglio government in Italy, and the De Gaulle faction in France. He said Russia stands more than an even chance of prevailing over the British balance of power.

F. D. R. Called Director.

"The inescapable fact is that our foreign policy is now being handled exclusively by Franklin D. Roosevelt as President and commander in chief," Scott declared. "His failure to recognize any clear line of demarcation as between his two responsibilities contributes to the confusion as to what is happening to our foreign policy.

"The President has no exclusive power to make foreign policy or even to commit us to any policy whatever."

Scott also criticized the administration's handling of the diplomatic situation in South America, averring that the United States had suffered "our worse diplomatic defeat" in order to satisfy British needs for Argentine exports.

Breach of Charter Charged.

Rep. Bennett [R., Mich.] charged that the principles of the Atlantic Charter have not been followed in the Russo-Finnish peace negotiations or in the Polish boundary dispute.

"Russia's attitude toward small nations violates the principles of freedom of nations desiring to live at peace with one another," Bennett said. "The President should let the people of this country know whether our nation intends silently to acquiesce in such conduct. The United States should insist that Russia live up to her agreements as an equal ally equally concerned with the outcome of this conflict."

Evidently anticipating that his statement would meet with such criticism, Hull announced he hopes to deliver a nation-wide radio address soon on fundamental American foreign policy, with special attention to reconciliation of the Atlantic Charter with requirements of international security.

State Department Outline of U. S. Foreign Policy

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—The following is the state department statement on United States foreign policy:

OUR FUNDAMENTAL NATIONAL INTERESTS.

"In determining our foreign policy we must first see clearly what our true national interests are.

"At the present time, the paramount aim of our foreign policy is to defeat our enemies as quickly as possible.

"Beyond final victory, our fundamental national interests are the assuring of our national security and the fostering of the economic and social well-being of our people.

INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION.

"Coöperation between nations in the spirit of good neighbors, founded on the principles of liberty, equality, justice, morality, and law, is the most effective method of safeguarding and promoting the political, the economic, the social, and the cultural well-being of our nation and of all nations.

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION BACKED BY FORCE.

"Some international agency must be created which can—by force, if necessary—keep the peace among nations in the future.

"A system of organized international coöperation for the maintenance of peace must be based upon the willingness of the coöperating nations to use force, if necessary, to keep the peace. There must be certainty that adequate and appropriate means are available and will be used for this purpose.

POLITICAL DIFFERENCES.

"Political differences which present a threat to the peace of the world should be submitted to agencies which would use the remedies of discussion, negotiation, conciliation, and good offices.

INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE.

"Disputes of a legal character which present a threat to the peace of the world should be adjudicated by an international court of justice whose decisions would be based upon application of principles of law.

REDUCTION OF ARMS.

"International coöperative action must include eventual adjustment of national armaments in such a manner that the rule of law cannot be successfully challenged that the burden of armaments may be reduced to a minimum.

MOSCOW FOUR NATION DECLARATION.

"Thru this declaration, the soviet union, Great Britain, the United States, and China have laid the foundation for coöperative effort in the post-war world toward enabling all peace loving nations, large and small, to live in peace and security, to preserve the liberties and rights of civilized existence, and to enjoy expanded opportunities and facilities for economic, social, and spiritual progress.

SPHERES OF INFLUENCE AND ALLIANCES.

"As the provisions of the four-nation declaration are carried into effect, there will no longer be need for spheres of influence, for alliances, for balance of power, or any other of the special arrangements thru which, in the unhappy past, the nations strove to safeguard their security or to promote their interests.

SURVEILLANCE OVER AGGRESSOR NATIONS.

"In the process of reëstablishing international order, the united nations must exercise surveillance over aggressor nations until such time as the latter demonstrate their willingness and ability to live at peace with other nations. How long such surveillance will need to continue must depend upon the rapidity with which the peoples of Germany, Japan, Italy, and their satellites give convincing proof that they have repudiated and abandoned the monstrous philosophy of superior race and conquest by force and have embraced loyally the basic principles of peaceful processes.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE BARRIERS.

"Excessive trade barriers of the many different kinds must be reduced, and practices which impose injuries on others and divert trade from its natural economic course must be avoided.

INTERNATIONAL FINANCE.

"Equally plain is the need for making national currencies once more freely exchangeable for each other at stable rates of exchange; for a system of financial relations so devised that materials can be produced and ways may be found of moving them where there are markets created by human need; for machinery thru which capital may—for the development of the world's resources and for the stabilization of economic activity—move on equitable terms from financially stronger to financially weaker countries.

ATLANTIC CHARTER: RECIPROCAL OBLIGATIONS.

"The pledge of the Atlantic charter is of a system which will give every nation, large or small, a greater assurance of stable peace, greater opportunity for the realization of its aspirations to freedom, and greater facilities for material advancement. But that pledge implies an obligation for each nation to demonstrate its capacity for stable and progressive government, to fulfill scrupulously its established duties to other nations, to settle its international differences and disputes by none but peaceful methods, and to make its full contribution to the maintenance of enduring peace.

SOVEREIGN EQUALITY OF NATIONS.

"Each sovereign nation, large or small, is in law and under law the equal of every other nation.

"The principle of sovereign equality of all peace loving states, irrespective of size and strength, as partners in a future system of general security will be the foundation stone upon which the future international organization will be constructed.

FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

"Each nation should be free to decide for itself the forms and details of its governmental organization—so long as it conducts its affairs in such a way as not to menace the peace and security of other nations.

NONINTERVENTION.

"All nations, large and small, which respect the right of others, are entitled to freedom from outside interference in their internal affairs.

LIBERTY.

"There is no surer way for men and for nations to show themselves worthy of liberty than to fight for its preservation, in any way that is open to them, against those who would destroy it for all. Never did a plainer duty to fight against its foes devolve upon all peoples who prize liberty and all who aspire to it.

"All peoples who, with 'a decent respect to the opinions of mankind,' have qualified themselves to assume and to discharge the responsibilities of liberty are entitled to its enjoyment.

DEPENDENT PEOPLES.

"There rests upon the independent nations a responsibility in relation to dependent peoples who aspire to liberty. It should be the duty of nations having political ties with such peoples to develop materially and educationally, to prepare themselves for the duties and responsibilities of self-government, and to attain liberty. An excellent example of what can be achieved is afforded in the record of our relationship with the Philippines."

50 Persons Routed by Fire; Some Saved by Bed Sheets

Fifty Negro tenants, including several who improvised ropes of bed sheets to drop from their second floor rooms, were routed by a fire early yesterday in an apartment building at 2927 Indiana av. The fire, which originated in a rubbish heap near a furnace, caused damage of $700.

ALLIED MILITARY RULE OF FREED FRANCE IS SEEN

LONDON, March 21 (AP).—President Roosevelt's proposal for the civilian administration of France has passed directly into army channels, it was learned on good authority tonight.

All indications are that Gen. Eisenhower has been given the French political situation in addition to military problems on the opening of the western front.

It was understood that the President's directive does not contemplate an allied military government for the liberated portions of France but any control of civilian life exercised by the French committee of liberation will be tightly supervised by the allied military authority.

Deal Directly with Army.

A well-qualified source gave this account of the situation:

Communications from Washington, D. C., went directly thru army channels to the allied command without passing thru the customary diplomatic hands.

The procedure indicated the army again would exercise control as it did in the first few months of the North Africa landing. In the early period the army made military deals with the late Adm. Jean Darlan and Gen. Henri Giraud which were much criticized. When Gen. Charles de Gaulle arrived in Africa there was a gradual transition by the allies from military to diplomatic channels.

The proposal by President Roosevelt did not provide for the recognition of the De Gaulle regime as a provisional government but left the matter in status quo as far as committee recognition was concerned.

Wholesale Purges Feared.

With the army handling dealings with the Fighting French, operations in freed sections of France are expected to be on a straight military basis.

The proposal precludes any deal with Vichy but would leave the way open for underground resistance groups not affiliated with De Gaulle to negotiate with the allies.

The Algiers trial of Pierre Pucheu, former Vichy interior minister executed Monday by a French firing squad, has given rise to some fears of wholesale purges and strife which may disrupt the allied military effort.

CHICAGO LAWYER CRITICIZES SHAW FOR JUDGE POST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—Elwyn R. Shaw of Freeport, Ill., was criticized by a Chicago attorney today at a senate judiciary subcommittee hearing on Shaw's fitness for a northern Illinois district federal judgeship to which he has been nominated by President Roosevelt.

The attorney is Nathan Haffenberg, who has an office at 100 W. Monroe st. He complained that Shaw had used language uncomplimentary to the Haffenberg family while sitting as an Illinois Supreme court justice in an accounting suit between Haffenberg and a former law partner of Haffenberg. The complainant told of visiting Shaw after the case had been decided, and expressed the opinion that Shaw was then recovering from a "bender."

Shaw, telling the subcommittee his conduct in the Haffenberg case had been in accordance with judicial standards, denied the drinking accusation. His sobriety was defended by John Stelle, former governor of Illinois, and Col. William E. Carpenter, a former resident of Rockford, Ill., who was once probate judge of Winnebago county.

VESUVIUS' FIERY AVALANCHE HITS 3D DOOMED TOWN

New Eruption Perils Two Villages Near Volcano.

Flies Over Crater

NAPLES, March 21 (AP).—Henry Griffin, Associated Press war photographer, flew over flaming Mount Vesuvius today. "Our little plane bounced a lot over the hot part," he said. "The sky was full of haze and smoke, but we could see the stream of lava pushing buildings down and fragments flying out of the main stream like incendiary bombs."

BY JOSEPH MORTON.

ON MOUNT VESUVIUS, Italy, March 21 (AP).—Lava streams spilling from the fiery crater of historic Mount Vesuvius, multiplied by a violent new eruption, swept on one town and threatened two others at the volcano's base, after engulfing two villages today.

A violent eruption of Vesuvius at 5:30 p. m. threw jets of lava about 1,000 feet skyward and hurled additional streams of the molten mass down the slopes.

In the van of the molten, gluey mass scrambled a tearful, pitiful army of bewildered villagers, loaded with household goods.

Lava Nears Town Hall.

In its wake lay thousands of tons of fiery red coals, piling higher and higher over homes, orchards, and vineyards.

The towns engulfed by the molten rock were San Sebastiano and Massa di Somma, both about 1½ miles from the top of the volcano. Faced with a similar fate was Cercola. At midafternoon the lava field was less than 150 feet from its town hall.

Over Vesuvius, indulging in its most fearsome eruption since 1872, hung a black pall and the entire Naples area was in a strange twilight caused by a dust cloud. The stream of lava, 90 feet deep and 200 yards wide at points, sent up flames and sulphurous fumes.

7,000 Refugees Evacuated.

Rushing more than 200 big trucks to San Sebastiano and Massa di Somma before the lava reached them last night, the American and British armies, the R. A. F., and the allied military government played a major part in evacuating the 7,000 inhabitants of the two doomed towns.

Platoons of soldiers, including military police, entered the area to assist. A food dump was established at nearby Pollena where the townspeople, all homeless, were fed. Late today the evacuation of Cercola got under way.

Two Lava Streams Die Out.

When it "blew off" Saturday, the volcano spilled lava down its slopes in three streams. Two subsided, while the third intensified as it snaked down a deep valley in a northwesterly direction.

At noon today it was flowing from the crater at an estimated speed of 40 miles an hour, then slowing until by the time it fanned out on the comparatively flat lower slopes it was only creeping.

VICHY REGIME'S DESTRUCTION IS PLEDGED BY U.S.

Denies Any Move to Collaborate with It.

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—The United States government today pledged unequivocally the destruction of the Vichy regime of France and questioned the loyalty of those who suggest American intentions to collaborate with Vichy officials.

The policy toward Vichy was set forth because of reports from Algiers implying that the United States would deal with Vichy officials after the liberation of France begins.

Reassure Algiers Group.

"No loyal supporters of the allied cause would make the ridiculous charge that the United States government, while sending its military forces and vast military supplies to the most distant battle fields to prosecute the war against the axis powers, would at the same time have any dealings or relations with the Vichy regime, except for the purpose of abolishing it," the statement said.

Assurances to this effect were given to Rene Massigli, foreign minister of the French committee of national liberation at Algiers, in January, and were communicated by him to the committee, it was learned at the state department.

The department considered these assurances and its known general policies as having settled the question.

In recent days, however, news dispatches have reported apprehension in Algiers, seat of the national committee headed by Gen. Charles De Gaulle, lest America collaborate with some Vichy individuals.

Final Action Up to London.

President Roosevelt said on Friday that he had reached a decision on the French situation but could not make it public. Elsewhere, it was learned that the President's decision covers only American policy with respect to recognizing the authority of the French committee and that final action awaits response to this decision by the London government.

The Vichy question was brought up at Secretary Hull's press conference when a newsman told the secretary of the reports from Algiers. Hull said he did not think anybody was worried about that and that the department would issue a statement on the subject.

MONEY CRISIS RISES TO PLAGUE JUGO-SLAV KING

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 21.—Something of a personal financial crisis hangs over King Peter of Jugo-Slavia and his family, it was reported today.

The young king, who yesterday married Princess Alexandra of Greece, has been receiving about $8,000 a month from the Jugo-Slav government in exile; his mother Queen Marie about $6,000 a month and his uncle, Prince Paul, around $4,800. Paul, who was regent of Jugo-Slavia and arrested just prior to the German invasion in 1941 because he acceded to axis demands, is held prisoner, in British Kenya [Africa].

The government in exile also has been supplying funds from time to time to a good many officials and friends of the Jugo-Slav court.

Tito Demands Control of Funds.

So far, the money disbursed has been drawn on a United States treasury account against funds held as enemy property. Just before the Germans marched in, the Jugo-Slav bank had transferred out of the country about 32 million dollars in gold, most of which found its way to American banks.

Marshal Tito [Josip Broz], Partisan leader who now receives all the aid to Jugo-Slavia from the United States and Britain, claims the gold as the rightful possession of his government. His provisional government on March 9 informed the American, British, and soviet governments that it had asked banks to freeze funds estimated at 100 million dollars credited in America and elsewhere to the national bank of Jugo-Slavia.

Tito charged that Peter's government had been using the money "without any proper control for purposes foreign to the liberation fight in the country."

With the sources of Peter's government's funds now threatened with being cut off, the question arises how it can restock its depleted treasury. It has been suggested here that certain real estate wealth in Jugo-Slavia, particularly copper mines, be pledged for funds, but no one seems to know who will control them in the future.

BRITAIN REVEALS WHY IT CHANGED 8TH ARMY CHIEFS

Reviews Defeats, Fears Before African Victory.

Lt. Gen. Alan G. Cunningham.

LONDON, March 21 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Alan Gordon Cunningham was removed as commander of the British 8th army in Africa in November, 1941, because he felt that an order to sweep the enemy out of Cyrenaica could not be accomplished, it was officially stated tonight.

The reason for the parade of commanders until the winning team of Gen. Harold Alexander and Gen. Montgomery made history with a revitalized army in the sweep from El Alamein were given for the first time in a book "The Eighth Army," prepared for the war office by the ministry of information and to be published tomorrow.

Enemy Tanks Superior.

When Cunningham tried to attack, he found the enemy's tanks superior to the British, which were equipped only with two pounder guns.

"These serious considerations," the book said, "were very present to the mind of Gen. Cunningham. He was certainly not a man to cry halt without good reason. He had tried resolutely to carry out Gen. Claude Auchinleck's plan of campaign. But he now had reached the conclusion that it could not be done, that the operation should be abandoned and all troops withdrawn for regrouping.

"Nothing is more fatal than to intrust the conduct of a battle to a commander who does not think he can win it. In the circumstances, Gen. Auchinleck [commander in chief of British middle east forces], after a personal visit to advanced headquarters, decided to intrust command of the 8th army to his own deputy chief of staff, Maj. Gen. [Neil M.] Ritchie, who had taken part in all the original planning and was intimately acquainted with his views.

History Upholds Auchinleck.

"Events proved Gen. Auchinleck was right in thinking victory still could be won."

The book described how Ritchie decided to attack the German bulge in the British lines from several sides simultaneously and to pinch it out. The attack failed, Field Marshal Rommel held the bulge, and the British retreated.

Later when the Egyptian border had been reached "the hour was critical and Gen. Auchinleck decided to take on his own shoulders the direct responsibility for the operations. Therefore, he took over from Gen. Ritchie the conduct of the battle," the publication said.

Montgomery Wins the Campaign.

That is the way the book put the reason why Generals Alexander and Montgomery went to Egypt while the 8th was regrouped at El Alamein. Three months after the opening of Montgomery's attack Tripoli fell.

Thus, the book said, "within 3½ months of sustaining a shattering defeat, this small force had gained an even more shattering victory. In three months it advanced 1,400 miles, inflicting casualties on the enemy and destroying not only his armies, but also his empire and many reputations."

[Auchinleck now is commander of the Indian army. Cunningham is head of British troops in Northern Ireland. Montgomery is commander of British ground forces under Gen. Eisenhower, invasion chieftain. Alexander is allied commander in Italy.]

Her Nose Knows

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Anna Lesh breaks eggs in powdering plant at 2139 Pershing rd. More women are needed, but they must be able to smell age in an egg.

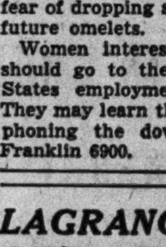
The war man power commission yesterday issued an appeal for 400 patriotic women with sensitive noses and nimble fingers to work as eggbreakers in 12 Chicago plants where eggs are dried so that service men overseas may eat omelets some months hence.

The extra eggbreakers are needed to handle the March output of 30 million more hens than the United States had last year. Housewises who have shown an aptitude for detecting bad eggs are especially urged to apply. The job is one that so far has resisted all advances of the machine age. Machines can break the eggs successfully, but they can't smell them.

Eggs that candle successfully can't pass the sniff test because they may be moldy, sour—or the hens may have been eating wild onions. The women who break the eggs must be immaculate and must not use strongly scented soaps, cosmetics, or perfumes as the fragrance prevents efficient sniffing. Neither can they wear trinkets or chew gum, for fear of dropping something into the future omelets.

Women interested in this work should go to their nearest United States employment service office. They may learn the address by telephoning the downtown office at Franklin 6900.

LAGRANGE FLYER DIES; PROVIDED MUSIC FOR F.D.R.



Sgt. Richard M. Cram.

Sgt. Richard M. Cram, 27, an army air force flight engineer who played the piano for President Roosevelt and other officials at dinners during their conferences in Cairo and Teheran, died March 3 in Italy of injuries suffered in a motor vehicle accident, the war department has informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cram, 84 N. Edgewood av., La Grange.

A talented pianist since he attended Lyons Township High school, Sgt. Cram accompanied Col. Elliott Roosevelt to Cairo and Teheran as a member of a photo squadron the President's son commanded. President Roosevelt and Gen. Eisenhower, who requested the tune "Roll Out the Barrel," both praised Sgt. Cram for his playing, and the President carried to Washington, D. C., for mailing a letter in which the soldier related to his parents his playing for the dignitaries.

Sgt. Cram, who also had been in action in North Africa as a gunner, joined the army in March, 1942, when he quit a sales position with the Palmolive company in New Jersey.

FINED FOR BITING COP'S HAND.

GERMANS FIGHT BACK INTO RUINS OF CASSINO FORT

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, March 21 (AP).—Young German parachute troops—perhaps the toughest men in the German army—have fought their way back into the ruins of the Continental hotel at Cassino's edge and continue to wage a desperate struggle for vital heights behind the stronghold, it was announced today.

Only yesterday New Zealand troops and tanks blasted their way into the extensive wreckage of the hotel fortress on the southwestern outskirts and seized 180 prisoners. Last night the Germans struck back.

New Zealand and Indian troops still held the railway station and Castle hill, but the Nazis were throwing counter-attacks against Indian Gurkhas clinging to the hill. Allied dive bombers again supplied isolated allied troops by parachute.

Continues in Fifth Day.

An allied bulletin said:

"Fierce fighting continued for the fifth day for possession of Cassino and vicinity. Within the ruins of the town the enemy succeeded in bringing up reënforcements Sunday night and mopping up has been slow."

[Tuesday's German war bulletin said that inside Cassino on Monday "all enemy [allied] attacks, supported by strong tank formations, failed as they came up against German defensive fire. Northwest of Cassino an enemy contingent has been encircled. The enemy's losses are many times higher than our own."]

Writing from the battle site, Lynn Heinzerling of the Associated Press wrote at 4:15 p. m. today that the Germans had firmly established themselves on a commanding height known as Hill 165, which they recaptured yesterday, and had planted a wide mine field in the path of any allied counter-attack.

Three Nazi Counter-Attacks.

The Germans appeared determined to gain possession of Castle hill. In their three strong counter-attacks against it yesterday they came some 400 yards down a wide gulley from northeast of the wrecked monastery. Each time they were thrown back with losses, but they were expected to come again.

Down in the smoke filled valley allied troops had little room in which to maneuver and were forced to make frontal attacks on the remaining German positions, which could not be outflanked.

The Anzio beachhead was generally quiet after British troops made two successful raids in force near the western end of the front early Sunday morning, inflicting heavy casualties on the enemy.

The allied air force flew more than 1,100 sorties yesterday, bagging six enemy planes and losing four. Medium bombers and fighters hit relentlessly at German port and rail communications over wide areas of Italy, while fighters and dive bombers made day-long attacks against Nazi troops and gun positions.

Blood Donor

Mrs. Joseph B. East, Red Cross nurse, helps Nathan Leopold prepare for blood donation in Stateville prison.

A mobile unit of the American Red Cross blood bank has received offers of blood from more than 3,000 inmates at the Stateville prison, Capt. L. A. Drolett, in charge of the unit, said yesterday. Since the unit cannot accommodate that many, only 1,200 were accepted, he said. Among them is Nathan Leopold, who is serving a life term for the "thrill" slaying of Bobby Frank, a murder which attracted wide attention in 1924.

BLINDED HERO LAUDS GIRL WHO OFFERED AN EYE

Butler, Pa., March 21 (AP).—Tech. Sgt. Forrest Vosler, 20, whose own disregard for any physical sacrifice he could make to save his buddies in a crippled Flying Fortress over the English channel won him a recommendation for the congressional medal of honor, would like to meet the California co-ed who has offered to give him one of her eyes.

"Imagine the supreme sacrifice that would be," he said tonight at the army's Deshon hospital. But he was not thinking of his own offer to go over the side of that badly crippled fortress when the crew was tossing out everything of weight in an effort to nurse the bomber back to the coast of England.

Sgt. Vosler, the sight gone from one eye and the other developing a cataract that will necessitate an operation, was more interested in meeting Mrs. Pauline Venard, 25, University of California co-ed, who had heard the Livonia, N. Y., hero had lost the sight of both eyes, and said she would give one of her eyes to restore his sight.

Italian Warships' Convoy Aid for Allies Disclosed

SALERNO, Italy, March 21 (AP).—The pro-Badoglio newspaper Il Corriere today said Italian warships have escorted 176 allied convoys totaling 2,544 ships since the armistice last Sept. 8. Summarizing the navy's six months of co-belligerency, the paper also said Italian warships also had transported 9,132 allied troops. All types of warships carried out 231 war missions, it added. All operations presumably were in the Mediterranean.

2D FRONT BEGUN BY BOMBS, SAYS BRITISH GENERAL

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

ABOARD GEN. MONTGOMERY'S TRAIN, England, March 21.—The second front "has already begun" with the bombing of northwestern Europe and Germany, Gen. Montgomery said today. The officer who will command the British invasion armies under Gen. Eisenhower said the bombing of Germany is "terrific" and added that "when the Germans have been sufficiently stunned we will move in."

The invasion of the continent is a "combined operation in which each service will play its part," he continued. Asked how the bombing of Germany will affect the troops in western Europe, he said: "Bombing affects the ability of a nation to go to war," indicating German resistance in the west will depend on the total war effort of the German nation. Drawing a comparison between the raids on Germany and those which preceded the fall of Sicily and the capitulation of Italy, he said:

"We finished Tunisia in the middle of May. Then we began bombing Sicily. When we thought they were softened, I invaded Sicily with the Americans on my left. Then we bombed Italy. When everything was ready, we invaded Italy and knocked her out of the war. Now we are bombing Germany—and how we are bombing Germany!"

Mrs. Roosevelt Reaches Balboa in Army Transport

BALBOA, Canal Zone, March 21 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived at Albrook field today in an army transport plane, continuing her 10,000 mile air trip to inspect United States military and naval bases in the Caribbean area. She was welcomed by President Ricardo Adolfo de la Guardia of Panama and Foreign Minister Octavio Fabrego and their wives. Mrs. Roosevelt flew from Barranquilla, Colombia.

3D TERM CALLED 'GREAT TRAGEDY' BY SEN. JOHNSON

Warns of 4th; 'Slaphappy Debt Idea' Hit.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Sen. Johnson [D., Colo.] said in a Chicago address last night that President Roosevelt's decision in 1940 to seek a third term was "the greatest tragedy of American political history." A fourth term, if it should come to pass, he said, would be known to history as "the term of defeat and frustration." The senator spoke in a lecture course at North Park college.

In appraising the three terms of the President, Sen. Johnson termed the first four years as "the term of daring, at the end of which the President was looked on as a great liberal leader"; the second term he described "as starting as an era of good feeling which wound up in the gutter in an era of bad feeling"; the third term, he said, must be known as "the term of appeasement."

Striking at the "palace guard," the "kitchen cabinet," and burocrats the senator, who started as a railroad laborer, later was a telegrapher, and served two terms as governor of his state, said the growth of burocratic and concentrated government has marked the decline of liberty.

Hits "Slaphappy Pretext."

"If that decline is to be halted," he said, "the people, the congress, and the states must be aroused from their lethargy and resist as they resisted King George III."

Sen. Johnson ripped into the global planners and any form of internationalism that destroys American jobs. He denounced the "fantastic theory that the huge public debt is of small concern on the slaphappy pretext that 'we owe us.'"

"The international bankers," he said, "are busy promoting an international police force to be supported by the American taxpayers to protect American investments all over the world.

"Such a scheme will promote the flight of American capital away from the United States to distant shores, exploit cheap labor, and seize the world markets and escape American taxes. If that happens, vital American jobs will be gone and the 'we owe us' theorists will discover that both 'we' and 'us' will hold the sack at the snipe hunt.

"Any policy of internationalism that destroys American jobs must be rejected with a vengeance."

Traces Growth of Powers.

The assumption of powers by President Roosevelt and the growing conflict between the executive and congress which led to the recent denunciation of a Roosevelt veto message by Sen. Barkley [D., Ky.], the President's old friend, were sketched by Sen. Johnson. He spoke of the growing change into a government under unconstitutional executive edict.

"Volumes of executive orders have been issued by this administration," he said. "Last September the count stood 3,565 executive orders having the force of law against 4,304 laws enacted by congress.

"On Sept. 7, 1942, the President delivered an ultimatum to congress demanding the authority to fix prices, salaries, wages, and profits by the first of October—or else. He said: 'In the event that the congress should fail to act, and act adequately, I shall accept the responsibility and I will act. At the same time that farm prices are stabilized, wages can and will be stabilized also. This I will do.'

Compares Words to Hitler's.

"This sounds like Hitler in his best early Sunday morning form. It should be mentioned that many congressmen had been trying for a year to stabilize wages and had been prevented from doing so by this very same administration that now was giving them a deadline upon which to act.

"This administration has disregarded consistently the specific charge of the Constitution to submit all treaties to the senate for ratification. Congress has not the slightest idea what assurances were given to foreign powers at Quebec, Casablanca, Cairo, and Teheran. The Atlantic Charter was never submitted to the senate for ratification."

What America needs, the senator said, is "an exodus out of Washington."

"We should let the world know, too," he continued, "that Santa Claus has migrated back to his old home near the north pole and is going to remain there. The United States has had 32 Presidents. One of them has spent far more than twice as much money as all the other 31 Presidents together, and may I whisper that practically all of it was borrowed money, too. This is not an enviable record."

Party Called "Fat, Lazy."

The third term and the fourth term were taken up by Sen. Johnson.

"Dulled by an overdose of political spoils," he said, "it was easy to put over the third term nomination blitzkrieg on the fat, lazy, and impotent Democratic party. Unfortunately, too, the Republican party had sunk to a low ebb. It had neither program, purpose, nor leadership. For eight years it had been wandering all over the lot, bewildered and punchdrunk, with a 'me, too' grin on its face. In its dazed dotage it was easy for the Wall street barefoot boy from Indiana, registered in New York as a Democrat and a Tammanyite, to stampede the Republican convention.

"Now a fourth term is accepted as a matter of course by the once great and powerful Democratic party. One man control has reduced it to hopeless impotency. It no longer has the inclination or the will to resist those who would rape it."

Carol Ann and Harold Ruge in the county building yesterday.

Judge Robert J. Dunne of the Circuit court, yesterday issued an injunction restraining Harold Ruge, 34, from molesting his wife, Myrtle, 28, of 3343 N. Troy st., or carrying out threats to take their three children out of the state. The youngsters are Carol, 4; Harold, 3, and Ernest, 7 months old. The injunction was issued after Mrs. Ruge had filed suit for divorce thru Atty. Samuel M. Starr. She charges cruelty. The Ruges were married May 20, 1939, and separated recently.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO BAR 1943 TAX LEVY

The Supreme court at Springfield yesterday upheld the Circuit court's refusal to grant an injunction preventing collection or distribution of 29 million dollars of the 1943 tax levy in Cook county. Such an injunction, the court held, would "hopelessly disrupt the orderly administration of the tax collection machinery." The injunction was sought by Howard Ames, 7635 East End av., who contended that levies of each of the six major taxing bodies were illegally excessive, and that the tax rate of $10.40 should be reduced by $1.54.

TAXPAYERS EYE AND O. K. SENECA NAVY SHIP JOB

A group of Putnam county taxpayers, aroused by reports that materials and man power were being wasted at the Seneca shipyards, 90 miles southwest of Chicago on the Illinois river, spent all day yesterday in the yard and left convinced, they said, that the navy and the management was doing a good job and proud that their neighbors had a hand in sending big tank landing boats to the fighting fronts.

Last week the group—the Putnam County Taxpayers association—was preparing to ask the Truman senate committee to investigate the shipyards. Last night Joel W. Hopkins, Granville farmer and president of the organization, expressed the changed views of the group.

Convinced Job Is Well Done.

"We made a thoro inspection and talked with company and navy officials, and while some of us still think there could be more efficient use of man power, in some instances, we are convinced that the overall job is being well done," he said. "We are convinced there is no waste of materials and that the boats are being built as rapidly and as economically as possible. We're all proud that these inland built ships are playing such an important role in the war."

For nearly three hours, the men tramped over the 192 acre yard that two years ago was only open prairie. They inspected the hulls on the ways and went aboard the nearly finished ships moored in the river: ships 327 feet long that are destined to carry men to new invasion beaches as their predecessors have done in the South Pacific, and Italy.

Investigators Quiz Officials.

While the investigators, who had heard many tales of wasted time and money, poked in and out of hulls, ducked under air lines and questioned workers, the roar of the day's work went on. And in the river rode the boats—equivalent of 5,500 ton commercial ships—that soon will pass down to the Mississippi river and on to the sea.

Here and there the investigators saw things that disturbed them, and when they sat down later with company officials and navy chiefs they asked about them.

Those who made the inspection with Hopkins were Charles B. Robinson, corn seed dealer of Granville; Edward E. Hawthorne, editor of the Putnam County Record, Granville; Joel H. Whitaker, manager of the Granville Coöperative Grain Elevator; J. Lyle Barton, a representative of the Taxpayers Federation of Illinois, and H. E. Hutton, Magnolia lumber dealer.

Officials Escort Visitors.

C. S. Pillsbury, executive vice president of the Chicago Bridge and Iron company, in charge of the Seneca yard; C. W. Hines, general manager; D. A. Leach, yard manager, and Comdr. Paul S. Goen, assistant superintendent of shipbuilding in the 9th naval district, escorted the group and later discussed their problems.

"There were times when we turned corners and men leaped to their feet, as if they had been resting," Hopkins said. "We found men sleeping, but I understand they had gone to sleep on their lunch hour. In most cases where we found men idle we were told they were waiting on the crews working ahead of them—waiting for one crew to finish its job so the next crew could get to work. Can't that lag be eliminated?"

System of Operation Explained.

"I think you'll understand that lag better when you realize there are 300 tasks to be performed in building each ship," Pillsbury explained. "Each task is performed by one or more small crews that normally work on one ship and then move to the next. The advantage of this system is that inexperienced workers learn to do their specific tasks skilfully with a minimum of training. Tasks can be upset by delayed material and equipment and by changes in design found necessary thru battle experience. When one task is upset it delays others."

"Well, we don't want the plant to get a bad name and we feel something should be done to inspire the workers to greater effort. If they are lax they definitely delay winning the war," said Hopkins, and Robinson suggested incentive payments to induce greater effort.

Incentive System Used.

Hines said the incentive system already was in use to some extent, but that to make it function completely would require a great deal of research and planning.

"Well, couldn't you cut down the size of some of the crews and have fewer men do more work?" asked Whitaker, and Goen said that step had been ordered by the navy two weeks ago.

"We've put each crew in the position of making it cry for more help," added Hines. "Some crews have all they can handle at all times, but we're forcing each to get along with as few men as possible. We are trying to have the men and women do today in four days what they formerly did in six."

Now Getting Supplies.

Goen explained there had been an upturn in idleness in the yard last summer when sufficient material could not be obtained.

"But now we are getting sufficient supplies in all categories and we are turning out boats faster than ever," Pillsbury interjected. "If we get the additional 2,700 more workers, we can easily turn out a boat every four days. And that's what the navy wants."

REFUSING SOLDIER RIGHT TO SEE CHILD IS RULED INHUMAN

Holding that it would be inhuman to deny a soldier the right to see his child, Judge John A. Sbarbaro of the Superior court yesterday ordered that Sgt. John Grochola, 30, an aerial gunner stationed in Utah, be allowed to see his daughter, Mary, 8, each evening the rest of his furlough. His furlough ends Saturday.

Sgt. John Grochola.

Grochola, visiting at 2235 N. Austin av., was divorced in 1941 by his wife, Stella, 27, of 2129 N. Lorel av., who has since remarried, and whose last name is now Gasiciel. The decree provided that Grochola was never again to visit the daughter, nor to have custody, in return for which he was relieved of all support.

Sgt. Grochola returned home on furlough March 9, but his ex-wife refused, under the decree, to let him see the daughter. On March 17 his lawyer, David H. Kraft, had the divorce decree modified, but Mrs. Gasiciel still held firm.

AGREE TO STUDY RAISING RANK OF WAR GENERALS

Senate Group Votes to Act on F. D. R. Requests.

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—The senate military committee voted 14 to 4 today to lift the lid it clamped last October on permanent rank promotions for army generals. While there remained doubt that any advancement would be approved for Lieutenant Generals Patton and Somervell, the committee agreed to set up six subcommittees to consider these and 12 other pending nominations.

Acting Chairman Thomas [D., Utah] said the committee tabled a resolution proposed by Senators Truman [D., Mo.], Kilgore [D., W. Va.], and Wallgren [D., Wash.] which would have banned for the duration of the war any advance in permanent ranking for officers above colonel.

May Take Action Soon.

President Roosevelt's nominations to elevate five officers, including Patton and Somervell to the permanent rank of major general, and nine others to brigadier general have been pending since last Oct. 1. Objections have been voiced to both the Patton and Somervell nominations.

If the proposed legislation is rejected, Sen. Chandler [D., Ky.] said the committee probably would act soon on these projected promotions:

Lt. Gen. Wainwright, now a Japanese prisoner of war, from the permanent rank of brigadier general to major general; Lt. Gen. Stilwell, commander of the United States armies in Burma, India, and China, from brigadier to major general; Lt. Gen. McNarney, deputy chief of staff, from colonel to major general; Lt. Gen. Kenney, commander of the allied air forces in the southwest Pacific, from lieutenant colonel to brigadier general.

Step Up for Many Others.

Lt. Gen. Spaatz, commander of the United States strategic air force in western Europe, from brigadier general assistant to the chief of the air corps to brigadier general in the army of the United States; Lt. Gen. Bradley from lieutenant colonel to brigadier general; Lt. Gen. Eaker, allied air force commander in the Mediterranean, from lieutenant colonel to brigadier general; Lt. Gen. Harmon, commander of the 6th air forces in the Caribbean, from colonel to brigadier general.

Lt. Gen. Eichelberger from colonel to brigadier general; Maj. Gen. Handy from lieutenant colonel to brigadier general; Maj. Gen. Smith from lieutenant colonel to brigadier general; Lt. Gen. Clark, commander of the 5th army, from lieutenant colonel to brigadier general.

FLYER DUFFICY DIES BOMBING JAPS IN PACIFIC

Sgt. Robert E. Dufficy of the army air forces has been killed in action in the Southwest Pacific. His death occurred Feb. 5. He had been assigned to a bombing squadron. Sgt. Dufficy was 35 years old, and entered the army 15 months ago. He is survived by his widow, Frances; two daughters, Marilyn, 13, and Dolores, 11; also by his mother, Mrs. Joseph Zeman, 7617 Damen av., and stepfather, Policeman Joseph Zeman of Englewood station.

U. S. 'LENDS' 38 PLANE CARRIERS TO BRITISH NAVY

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—Thirty-eight American built escort aircraft carriers—most successful enemy of the U-boat—have been lend-leased to Great Britain to help carry on the war, Navy Secretary Knox announced today.

The transfer was described as "reminiscent" of the days before the United States entered the war, when 50 American destroyers were turned over to the British fleet.

"The fleet of 38 carriers," Knox said, "will become a part of the anti-submarine fleet of the allied nations."

Operate 50 Others.

He added that about 50 other vessels of that type are operating with the United States fleet in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

He said the 38 were not equipped with planes when delievered to the British. Without planes, food, or fuel, but with ordnance and ammunition, it is estimated that an escort carrier represents a construction cost of about 11¼ million dollars. Thirty-eight would come to 427½ million dollars.

"May Be Returned."

Knox said that title to the ships remains in the United States and that they may be returned after the war "if we want to exercise options."

The carriers, many of which have been built from merchant ship hulls, have an average displacement of 10,000 tons, but their comparatively small size is no indication of their fighting ability. Time after time, with their destroyer escorts, they have wiped out enemy submarines.

JAPS NO LONGER FLY EAGERLY TO BATTLE, YANK PILOT ASSERTS

Japanese fighter pilots in the Southwest Pacific have felt the power of American planes and the skill of American pilots to such an extent that "they are noticeably less eager to join in combat," Capt. Harry Young, 28, of 7555 South Shore dr., a veteran of 10 months in that area, said yesterday.

Capt. Harry Young.

"In my opinion the Jap pilots are deteriorating," said Capt. Young. "The older, more experienced pilots don't seem to like combat as much as they did when I first went to the Southwest Pacific, and the young pilots are foolhardy. However, don't underestimate the Japs. They're still good, and their equipment is improving."

Capt. Young, pilot of a Liberator bomber, has received the distinguished flying cross for his exploits during the 51 missions he made over Jap installations. He is now home on leave with his wife, Frances.

NATIVE REPORTS JAPS' RESCUE OF AMELIA EARHART

MARSHALL ISLANDS, March 4 [Delayed] — (AP). — The possibility that Amelia Earhart Putnam, world famed aviatrix, ran out of gas in the Marshall Islands and was taken to Japan has been revived by a remark of a mission trained native to Lt. Eugene Bogan of New York City.

Bogan, a representative of the Marshall Island military governor, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, said Elieu, 30, a native, limited himself to these statements and stuck to them:

"A Jap trader named Ajima 3½ years ago on Rita Island told me that an American woman pilot came down between Jaluit and Ailinglapalap atolls and that she was picked up by a Japanese fishing boat and the trader Ajima heard that she was taken to Japan."

No Mention of Amelia's Aid.

Elieu insisted he heard of no man being with the "American woman pilot." Fred Noonan flew with Mrs. Putnam as navigator on her world-girdling trip.

Lt. James Toole of Washington, D. C., added: "Elieu told me the same story. He was positive in confining himself to what he was told by Ajima, the Jap trader. Ajima in telling about the 'American woman flyer' would be most impressed, of course, with the woman flyer, and the importance of the man would not amount to much—females are so inferior in Japan."

The story first was told to Lt. [j. g.] William J. Bauer of Long Pine, Cal.

How the Story Started.

"It came out of a clear sky one evening," Bauer told Lt. Bogan. "Elieu asked me: 'Have you heard of a white woman flyer who ran out of gas in the Marshall Islands?'"

One of the Marshall Islands commanders deprecated Elieu's yarn as "a third hand story based upon gossip."

When Mrs. Putnam and Noonan were last heard from before their disappearance in July, 1937, they were en route from Lae, New Guinea, to Howland Island. A straight course would have taken them over the Gilbert Islands, about 200 miles south of the Marshalls. If they took the great circle route they might have gone over the southern Marshalls, which were being secretly fortified by Japan.

Mother's Hopes Raised.

Berkeley, Cal., March 21 (AP).—New rumors that Amelia Earhart Putnam might be a prisoner of the Japanese, and not a victim of a Pacific plane crash, rekindled hope today in her mother, Mrs. Amy Otis Earhart, 75.

She said that shortly after her daughter's S O S was sent out "a Tokio broadcast said that my child had been picked up by the Japanese. When I inquired at the office of the Japanese consul in Los Angeles, I was told: 'So sorry, haven't heard, will have to check.'"

However, she received no further word from Japanese official sources.

Aussie Air Line to Open Service to U. S. Soon

SYDNEY, Australia, March 21 (AP).—The Ansett Airways, Ltd., which operates an inter-Australian air line service, is prepared to open air service immediately to the United States, R. M. Ansett, chairman of the company announced today. "Australia should not lose another day in starting Pacific service," Ansett said. "We cannot afford to be left behind in the race with America. Suitable aircraft can be obtained in the United States."

The FARM by Ben Markland

Crows Help on Farm.

March 21, 1944.

THE crow is a smart bird, but until this winter the farm workers didn't realize that crows could serve as assistant fertilizers.

One of the men was telling us the other day about the natural cycle that ended with the crows spreading concentrated calcium fertilizer over many of the farm fields. The autumn and winter drouth provided the first stage in this cycle. Two of the three connected farm ponds fell to the lowest level in the memory of farm workers. Then came cold weather, which resulted in the two shallow ponds freezing almost solidly.

Frozen Fish Salvaged.

Freezing of the ponds caused a crisis for the bullheads and other small fish that provide a little hook and line sport for the farm youngsters. The men chopped holes in the ice several times during the winter, but found the ponds were frozen so deep that the fish had no chance to survive. In the February thaws, the dead fish came to the surface and were washed ashore—and that's where the crows came into the show.

The crows fed on the thousands of small bullheads. These smart birds prefer to feed in an open place where they can get a clear view of their surroundings. Instead of eating the fish on the shores, they carried their free meals to plowed areas and small grain fields where they could feed without the danger of a hunter approaching too close.

Birds Spread Fertilizer.

The net result of this cycle is that the farm fields have been given a treatment of the old Indian type of fertilization—a fish to every corn hill.

There no longer is any shortage of water on the farm. Low pockets in the fields are covered with water, the little creek which winds thru the northeast corner of the farm has overflowed its banks, and all of the farm ponds are full.

The crows aren't the only farm residents spreading fertilizer at this time of the year. The gardener is making plans to fertilize the farm lawns, believing that this is the best time of the year to give the grass an extra boost. Even if the lawn surface is frozen, commercial fertilizer can be added now so that it will be available to the grass roots when growth starts. Such applications are beneficial especially where the stand of grass is thin.

★ The GARDEN ★

IN the last several seasons, one variety of bush peas has proved outstanding in the gardens on the experimental farm. This one is Little Marvel, which matures in 64 days, about 10 days earlier than other common pea varieties.

Quick maturity is advantageous in peas, because this crop produces the highest and best yields when planted early and harvested early. Little Marvel is a hardy type that can be planted in the final days of March. It should always be planted before April 15. With early planting, it matures in early June, before drouth and warm weather, the traditional pea enemies, have a chance to cut yields.

Other pea varieties that have proved successful in the farm gardens are Giant Stride and Dwarf Defiance. Both mature in 74 days. Giant Stride is recommended especially for gardens in which wilt has been noted.

SHORTAGES are threatening in many items, including tools, supplies, and seeds of the newer and finer varieties of vegetables.

By buying promptly, before the warm weather rush, you will insure prompt service, and a selection from undepleted stocks. Fertilizers should be ordered early to insure increased production from your Victory garden plot.

Hot Weather Head Lettuce

Lettuce Great Lakes. 75 days. Of the Iceberg type, bred to make tight heads in hot weather, this variety is actually too good. So reluctant is it to run to seed that almost no seed was produced last year, when it won top place, with a bronze medal in the All-America trials for new varieties. What little seed there is naturally is high-priced. Offered only in packets. Pkt., 40c.

LEO CARR TILTS WITH MULCAHY FOR SHERIFF JOB

Neither Has Opposition in the Primary.

This is the ninth article in a series discussing candidates seeking nomination for various offices in the April 11 primary.

BY GUY GENTRY.

Always a hot spot in Cook county politics, the office of sheriff is sought this year by Leo Carr, who was Republican nominee for the same office in 1942, and Michael F. Mulcahy, Democrat, who was appointed sheriff last December after the death of Peter B. Carey. Both are unopposed in the primary.

Running at the head of his party's ticket in his previous try for the office, the jovial Carr is regarded by friends as a still stronger candidate now. They particularly point to his improvement as a public speaker, a field of campaigning in which Carr frankly admits he was almost totally lacking at the outset of his first campaign.

Carr Wins Police Awards.

Carr was born in Chicago and educated in the city's public schools and at St. Viator's college. He entered the Chicago police department in 1914 and remained there, with a two year break during World War I. when he served 13 months overseas, until he was appointed head of the state police force in 1941. Carr won 11 citations for meritorious work while rising from patrolman to acting captain. He established many modern police practices while heading the state police force for two years.

Just past the half century mark in age, Carr is the father of two children, John, 12, and Patricia, 10, and resides at 7430 Crandon av.

Mulcahy is in the rare position of holding the office of sheriff while seeking it. The state constitution prohibits a sheriff from succeeding himself, but Mulcahy's appointment by the county board does not constitute an elective term.

The antithesis of the public conception of a politician, Mulcahy is soft spoken and businesslike in action and appearance. He says he is proud of the increased efficiency in the sheriff's office during his brief tenure.

Mulchay Born in Chicago.

Mulcahy was born in Chicago in 1898, attended De LaSalle High school, St. Louis university, and Loyola university school of law, was graduated in 1925, and was admitted to the bar the same year. He served successively as assistant corporation counsel, assistant attorney general, alderman from the 8th ward, and president of the board of local improvements, a post he still holds at a salary of $1 a year.

He was named Illinois director at the outset of the rationing program and in May, 1942, when the office of price administration was set up, was appointed director of the Chicago metropolitan area.

WILLKIE BLASTS ANY CANDIDATE AIDED BY TRIBUNE

Appleton, Wis., March 21 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie declared today that any Republican Presidential candidate who is indorsed by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE cannot be elected.

He declared at a luncheon that "in my judgment any candidate for the Republican nomination who finds himself indorsed by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE would be overwhelmingly defeated in the fall election."

This assertion followed a statement by Willkie calling on Lt. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, to withdraw formally from the Presidential primary contest.

Willkie is conducting a 12 day Wisconsin campaign, seeking election of 24 delegates pledged to him who are competing against slates supporting Stassen, Gen. MacArthur, and Gov. Dewey of New York. Stassen notified Secretary of the Navy Knox today that he was not seeking the nomination but would accept if nominated.

Willkie asserted that, in his opinion, the Wisconsin primary "is going to decide the course of the Republican party" and said that "if my hand is not upheld then the Republican party is going to take a route down the road to defeat." His motivation, he said, was to "make my party deserving of leadership" and that he had "fought and fought to liberalize the party so it will be entitled to take over leadership."

Enters Maryland Primary.

Annapolis, Md., March 21 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie tonight entered Maryland's Republican Presidential preference primary May 1.

The Indianian's petition to have his name on the ballot was delivered to Secretary of State T. E. Jones just 15 minutes before the midnight filing deadline. Maryland thus became the fifth state in which Willkie formally has bid for nominating votes at the Republican national convention next June in Chicago. The other four are Wisconsin, Nebraska, Oregon, and New Hampshire.

nating votes.

Under Maryland law, the electorate may vote in a preferential primary for any name on the ballot or for an uninstructed delegation to the state convention. A candidate obtaining a majority automatically is pledged the state's eight nominating votes.

BENSON BLASTS PLOT TO BALK SOLDIER VOTES

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Soldier voting legislation was the subject of a verbal broadside fired last night by Arnold P. Benson, regular Republican organization candidate for secretary of state, at Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.], who is continuing his fulminations against the G. O. P. on this issue.

Benson has a particular interest in the matter because as majority leader in the Illinois senate he steered to passage a state soldier vote bill opposed to Lucas' federal ballot measure in congress.

Speaking at meetings in the 13th, 15th, and 24th wards, Benson accused Lucas of attempting to deceive relatives of those in service regarding the state soldier vote bill.

Hints at New Deal Plot.

"When Lucas says that only 3 per cent of our Illinois fighters will vote, he is questioning their interest in their homeland," Benson said. "He must have in mind the only reason why 97 per cent would not vote: Failure of federal officials to provide adequate transportation facilities for the state ballots.

"Is this the plot of the New Dealers to keep our fighters from voting them out of office?"

Tells G. O. P. Post-War Plans.

In his first Chicago radio address of the campaign, Benson said that state, county, and municipal governments in Illinois were projecting a long-range construction program calling for expenditure of more than one billion dollars.

Earlier in the day Sen. Benson had sent a letter to the state public works priorities committtee recommending post-war construction of a new Illinois statehouse and other buildings in the capital group to "save the taxpayers millions of dollars" and provide modern facilities for all departments. The committee was appointed by Gov. Green for post-war developement.

Tonight an old fashioned political meeting will be held by John Leonard East, 5th ward committeeman, in the Midway Masonic temple, 6115 Cottage Grove av. Gov. Green, Richard J. Lyons for United States senator, and others will appear.

Organized labor forces in the Republican party will place a Republican worker in every precinct of Cook county, James S. Quinlan, secretary-treasurer of the Union Labor League of Illinois, said.

MICHIGAN G. O. P. MEETINGS HAILED AS WILLKIE BLOW

Loss of Delegation Seen Result of Conventions.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—Republican leaders here acclaimed the selection of anti-Willkie delegates to the Michigan state convention April 20 at key county conventions in that state yesterday as a major defeat in Wendell Willkie's 1944 campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination.

The action of conventions in Wayne, Kent, and Oakland counties, the state's most populous areas, was seen not only as spelling certain loss of the Willkieite drive for the Michigan delegation at the Republican national convention in Chicago next June but also as a blow to the Willkie cause in other states.

While Republicans generally expressed pleasure over the trend in Michigan, New Deal Democrats were gloomy over the prospect of another special election defeat in Oklahoma next Tuesday.

Barkley's Aid Solicited.

The Democratic candidate for the house vacancy in Oklahoma caused by the resignation of Jack Nichols is W. G. Stigler, who is in the midst of an uphill campaign against E. O. Clark, Republican candidate, who has support of anti-administration Democrats.

Formal acknowledgement that the situation in the Oklahoma district is desperate came today when the Democratic national committee called upon Senate Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.] to stump the district. Barkley, who broke with President Roosevelt over the tax bill, but who has been seeking White House forgiveness, will make two speeches for Stigler Monday.

Sen. Moore [R., Okla.], an anti-New Deal Democrat, who won election to the senate as a Republican, is campaigning for Clark. Clark also has the support of Sen. O'Daniel [D., Tex.], another administration critic.

McKay Reëlection Likely.

The action of the three Michigan counties insured continuance of Frank D. McKay as Michigan's Republican committeeman, it was said here. McKay had been under fire of Willkieites, who reportedly were spending large sums to effect his defeat because of his firm stand against their candidate.

The attempt to purge McKay had the indorsement of Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.], who vigorously denied reports his support of the effort constituted an indorsement of Willkie's candidacy.

"The people back of the move started it before Willkie was in the picture," he said. "I have taken no stand for any candidate. I am against McKay no matter who the candidate may be and any intimations about Willkie are just a smoke screen. We just need a new committeeman."

May Defeat Mrs. Hay.

Members of the Michigan congressional delegation said that whether he liked it or not, Ferguson had lost political stature in Michigan as a result of the county conventions, because the people of Michigan believe that he was seeking to purge McKay in behalf of Willkie.

The results of the state conventions mean the selection of a new Republican committeewoman for Michigan, observers here said. Mrs. Dudley C. Hay, who supported Willkie's unsuccessful effort to steal the control of the Republican national committee in 1942, will not be reëlected now that McKay has control of the state convention, they said.

Mrs. Hay, who was pledged to vote for Werner Schroeder, anti-Willkie committeeman from Illinois, switched her vote to Ferdinand C. Baker, Willkie candidate. Despite the switch, Willkie forces lost their carefully prepared and heavily financed campaign.

130,000 'Suspect' Voters Begin Clearing Up Status

As the result of the mailing of suspect notices to an estimated 130,000 persons, voters yesterday began appearing at the board of election commissioners' office in the city hall to qualify for voting at the April 11 primaries. The 130,000 persons received suspect notices after precinct canvassers covered 4,016 precincts under the jurisdiction of the board, 221 of them in rural towns of Cook county.

THE QUESTION.

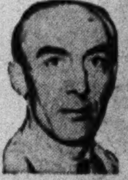
What did your son do that convinced you he was a chip off the old block?

WHERE ASKED.

The Madison-Crawford bank building, 4010 Madison st.

THE ANSWERS.

Michael Banzuly, millinery manager, 3405 Roosevelt rd.—Many things my son does convince me he's a chip right off this old block. He's a real leader and organizer among the boys in the neighborhood. He recently organized a flying club and then had himself elected president of it.



Neil Hilton, pharmacist, 1444 N. Laramie av.—My son's first report card convinced me. His grades were tops; his studies were no effort for him at all. What's more, he has a good sense of humor and catches on to the weakest jokes in a hurry.

Peter McDermott, floor manager, 4230 Washington blvd.—As soon as my son started bringing home trophies in various sports I knew he was following in my footsteps. He organized his own baseball team and carried on family tradition by becoming a captain in the army.

Thomas Devito, dentist, 4211 Washington blvd.—My 6 year old son has a very constructive mind—just like his old man, I like to think. One day he said he had an idea for utilizing an extra roller skate he had. Pretty soon he was riding around on a new scooter.

John O'Connell, janitor, 4237 Maypole av.—Just a natural born mechanic: that's my son. He's always been good at fixing things, and can do complicated jobs almost as well as I can. One time he figured out, all by himself, how to install and repair some plumbing, and did an expert job at it.

Edward C. Connor, banker, 5005 Adams st.—It was quite a surprise to me the first time I discovered my son could sing almost as well as I could. He takes after me, alright, when it comes to musical talent. He has a pleasant disposition, which I'm sure he inherits from me.

DEATH PLUNGE TERMED A SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Edith Thomas, 56, of 1500 Juneway terr., who plunged four stories from a room at 7606 Bosworth av.

50 MILLION FUND TO BACK SCHOOL LUNCHES KILLED

House Finance Group Rejects Measure.

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—The house appropriations committee today refused to recommend the inclusion of 50 million dollars for the operation of the school lunch program in the $567,995,779 agriculture department supply bill for the fiscal year starting next July 1. The fund, it said, was "not authorized by law."

Elimination of the school lunch item, which the house recently declined to sanction, and refusal to provide funds for the farm security administration and for revival of the crop insurance program highlighted action on the bill, which the committee cut $93,520,737 below budget estimates.

FSA Legislation Pending.

In rejecting the FSA item, the committee pointed out that legislation for reorganization of the agency's functions is pending in the house, and until it is disposed of it would not be appropriate to include funds for it in the bill. The budget included 28½ million dollars for administration of FSA and an authorization of 97½ million dollars of Reconstruction Finance corporation funds for loans, grants, and rural rehabilitation.

The committee also turned down proposals for expansion and continuance of the government's 47 million dollar emergency guayule rubber project and for revival of the crop insurance program.

See No War Benefit.

The rubber project, which centered around development of guayule as a source of supply, "will not achieve results in time to be of material advantage to the war effort," the committee said, and should be dropped until after the war. In order to cover the cost of progressive and final liquidation of the project during the next fiscal year, the committee reappropriated $3,952,585 of available balances.

The committee said it failed to find any reason for revival of the crop insurance program, which congress ordered liquidated last year. Disapproving a budget estimate of $5,997,433 for administration of the insurance program, the committee recommended a reappropriation of $100,000 for its final liquidation next year.

STATE FUNDS TO LAPSE.

The Illinois state appropriation for a share of the school lunch program cost will lapse June 30 when federal funds run out in accordance with congressional action, state sources said last night.

The state legislature appropriated 1½ million dollars for the biennium from July 1, 1943, to June 30, 1945, to be expended at the rate of 1 cent and 2½ cents each for different types of lunches sponsored by school boards and welfare centers in conjunction with the federal program. Most of this amount will revert to the state treasury.

Legislative opponents of the state measure said that the current employment boom and high wage rates made it a "socialistic fantasy."

2,473 Motorists Caught 1st Day of License Drive

Police opened their drive on motorists without state or city license tags or safety stickers yesterday by giving summonses to 2,473 drivers. Capt. David T. Flynn, head of the traffic division, said the drive would continue indefinitely.

CHARGES M'KAY STABS MICHIGAN G.O.P. IN BACK

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 21 [Special].—Action of the Kent county Republican convention yesterday in voting down a resolution commending the administration of Gov. Kelly brought a formal statement today from Oscar E. Waer, Kent county Republican chairman, denouncing National Committeeman Frank D. McKay.

Waer accused McKay of using his control of party machinery to give the Republican party "a vicious stab in the back." McKay is the center of a bitter Republican struggle in which Gov. Kelly, Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] and others have recently urged his ouster as national committeeman in the interests of party unity. McKay has termed the attack on him a plot to turn the state's national convention delegation over to Wendell Willkie.

Waer is a member of a "home front" group in Kent county which is opposed to McKay and which sought unsuccessfully to push the Kelly resolution thru yesterday's convention.

4 ADMIT PLURAL MARRIAGES; CITE TENETS OF CULT

Refuse to Fight Charges of Polygamy.

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 21 (AP).—Evidence in the government's investigation of alleged polygamous practices in western states went to a federal judge today without its presentation by witnesses.

Charges of plural marriages, of the maintenance of separate homes for the various wives, and of a promise that the infant daughter of one of the defendants might become the polygamous wife of another defendant when the child became 14 were contained in a statement prepared by the government and which the defense declined to contest.

Four defendants charged with entering into polygamous marriages waived jury trials, declined to contest the government's accusation, and agreed to place with Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy the determination of their guilt or innocence.

Cult Principles Told.

Attorneys said their only defense was the contention that the plural marriages were entered into as a principle of the Fundamentalist cult to which they belonged and the assertion there are no federal laws prohibiting such marriages. Judge Kennedy ordered defense counsel to present arguments tomorrow.

The statement, signed by government and defense attorneys and filed as a court document, contained these assertions:

Heber Kimball Cleveland, Salt Lake City—Husband of two polygamous wives in addition to his legal mate; at one time maintained two of the women at a single home in Grand Junction, Colo., and "would alternate sleeping with these two women"; twice made trips from Grand Junction to Salt Lake City to return one of the women from his Utah home "so that she might become pregnant"; persuaded a 17 year old girl to be his polygamous wife after they "had spent some time drinking wine."

Two Homes Maintained.

Follis Gardner Petty, Pocatello, Idaho—Married legally in Kentucky in 1913; acquired a second wife July 7, 1934, in a ceremony performed by a member of the Fundamentalist cult; maintained home for the first wife at Pocatello and for the second at Providence, Utah; became involved in "domestic difficulties" with the second wife.

Later he told her that "he had no obligation further to support the children."

David Brigham Darger, Salt Lake City—Once discussed plural marriage with Cleveland while both were residents of Grand Junction; "Cleveland promised the defendant that he should have the 6 day old female baby of Cleveland as his plural wife when said baby reached 14 years of age; in a letter to Cleveland when the baby still was less than a year old wrote, "She is a very great joy to look forward to having some day."

10 Children by 2 Mates.

Vergel Y. Jessop, Short Creek, Ariz.—Had nine children by his legal wife, whom he married Dec. 10, 1926; one by his plural wife, whom he married in January, 1941; his first wife was 16 at the time of her marriage and the second, 15.

Three other defendants agreed to similar procedure in an indictment charging them jointly with kidnaping. They are William Chatwin of Provo, Utah, and Charles Zitting and Edna Christensen, both of Salt Lake City.

The three are accused of "decoying a 14 year old girl and unlawfully holding her for the practice of polygamy and transporting her from Provo to Short Creek."

COURTNEY ASKS VOTES WITH PLEA OF OFFICE SAVING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Decatur, Ill., March 21 [Special].—Three hundred and fifty Democrats gathered from eight counties in the 19th congressional district tonight heard State's Atty. Courtney, candidate for governor, call the present Republican state administration a spendthrift regime. He asked the voters to compare the state expenditures with his economy record in Cook county.

He told a mass meeting in the Orlando hotel that he had saved $853,045 in annual appropriations for the state's attorney since 1933. Each year, Courtney said, he has turned back an average of $77,000.

It was Sveinbjorn Johnson night as the University of Illinois law professor candidate for attorney general made his first appearance during the campaign. Johnson, who has reported that his university duties kept him from campaigning, stood mute and contented himself with a bow.

Sen. Lucas, who has rediscovered President Roosevelt as a campaign issue and indorsed him, expressed a belief that aviation is here to stay and has a great future.

Wins Divorce

MRS. EVELYN PETERSEN.

Mrs. Evelyn Petersen, 25, of 3845 N. Paulina st., was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Robert J. Dunne, of the Circuit court, from Gilbert Petersen, 40, 4420 N. California av., an accountant, on charges of drunkenness. Her lawyer, Sol. R. Friedman, said that Petersen kept the icebox so full of beer there was little room for food.

YOUTH DROWNS IN Y.M.C.A. POOL; QUIZ CUSTODIAN

South Bend, Ind., March 21 [Special].—Cleo F. Davis, 36, custodian of the Y. M. C. A. building in Elkhart, was subjected to a lie detector test here today by police investigating the drowning of the 15 year old son of a minister in the Y. M. C. A. pool Sunday afternoon.

Davis was arrested by Elkhart police yesterday on a warrant charging him with having unnatural relations with a 17 year old Elkhart youth. Police said he confessed acts of perversion with two persons.

Father Pastor in Elkhart.

The boy drowned was Harlan V. Elliott, a sophomore at the Elkhart High school and son of the Rev. and Mrs. Wilson B. Elliott. The father is pastor of the Elkhart Free Methodist church.

Davis, who has been custodian of the "Y" for 11 years, told Elkhart police the following story of the drowning:

He was in the building Sunday when young Elliott, a part time employe at the "Y," came in. They talked for a time in the basement, and the boy went upstairs to telephone a friend.

A few minutes later Davis heard a splash in the pool. Recalling that swimming is prohibited on Sunday, Davis went to investigate. He found Elliott's nude body in six feet of water.

Removes Own Clothing.

Davis said he removed his own clothing before jumping into the pool to get the body. Elliott had left his clothing in the locker room. The boy did not know how to swim, police said.

The custodian was brought here to be questioned with the aid of the South Bend police department's lie detector after he agreed to submit to the test.

Upon conclusion of the test, Elkhart police, who had conducted the examination, made no comment of its result. They took Davis back to Elkhart, where he is to be arraigned in court tomorrow on a charge of sodomy.

UNIFORMITY OF ASSESSMENTS.

The recent change of the assessment base in Cook county has made tax officials thruout the state painfully aware that the need for statewide uniformity in the assessment of property for taxation was by no means ended by the abolition of the state property tax. Assessor Clark's action in raising the Cook county assessment base from 37 per cent to 100 per cent of so-called full value has had repercussions thruout the state, particularly in connection with the railroad taxes.

Currently Mr. Clark and Mr. Collins of the state revenue department are in public controversy over who is responsible for the transfer of 2½ million dollars a year in taxes from railroads to other taxpayers in Cook county. Mr. Collins says that it is because Mr. Clark raised the county assessment base. Mr. Clark says that it is because Mr. Collins did not raise the assessment base on the railroads high enough.

This whole question is to be investigated by the Illinois legislative council. This move should be welcomed by every one in the state. The council was established for the purpose of conducting investigations for the legislature that are too complex to be handled in the short space of time available to a legislative committee. It has not been particularly effective, principally because it has been given little work to do. The assessment question is one ideally suited to this type of handling, since it obviously is not going to be settled except upon legislative mandate to local assessors to do things they otherwise would not do because doing them would increase taxes in their local communities.

It is a simple thing to say that all assessments in the state should be placed on the basis of full value dictated by statutes, but when it comes to saying what full value is, new complications arise. The so-called full value assessments now in force in Cook county obviously are not what they are represented to be. Few home owners would think of selling at the "full fair cash value" placed on their properties by the assessor.

Mr. Foley of the assessor's staff asserted the other day in a speech in Oak Park that only full value assessments are fair and legal. This again is a questionable assertion. Assessor Clark gave the county the most workable system of personal property assessment that it ever has had, by the simple method of debasing assessments on intangibles. This he justified on the ground of "custom and usage." There was a good deal of custom and usage to justify the old 37 per cent equalization factor on real estate also, and nothing to be gained by going to 100 per cent except that the change gave the taxing bodies of Cook county a fresh opportunity to gouge the taxpayers.

AMERICA'S BRITANNICA.

Ever since the University of Chicago acquired the Encyclopaedia Britannica there have been rumors that the title of the work may be changed. That isn't likely to happen if only because the name has more than a century of good-will behind it. Presumably, then, even tho the editorship will be American the name will continue to reflect the British origin of the work.

Nobody need get very much excited about the misnomer provided the editors in the course of their revisions eliminate from the book many evidences of insular bias. To a very considerable extent, the work as it stands reflects its British origins. Too much in the historical sections bears this stamp. Even in the articles dealing with the natural sciences the contributions of English research are sometimes unduly emphasized at the expense of workers in other countries.

As the years go by such insularities, it is to be expected, will be removed. When the impartial scholarship of the University of Chicago has had time to make its influence fully felt the Britannica should be an even better work than it has been in the past, a work that can be consulted by men of all nations in confidence that so far as scholars can free their minds of bias and prejudice, the Britannica is factual and objective.

THE CIO'S COMMUNISTS.

Seven powerful CIO union leaders in New York, including Michael J. Quill, the city councilman and head of the transport workers union, have been named as Communists in an affidavit obtained by the New York World-Telegram from Tim Holmes, one of the leading Negro Communists in America and an employe of the Communist party for 15 years.

Included in the list are Abram Flaxer, president of the CIO State, County, and Municipal Workers of America; Frederick N. [Blackie] Myers, vice president of the National Maritime union; Ferdinand Smith, secretary of the NMU; Ben Gold, international president of the CIO Fur Workers; Max Perlow, vice president of the CIO Furniture Workers, and Arthur Osman, president of the Warehousemen's local 65. How Holy Joe Curran, president of the NMU, came to be omitted has not been explained.

The list includes four international CIO presidents and a majority of the leaders of the greater New York industrial union council which is the backbone of Sidney Hillman's political action committee in New York. The council is also the spearhead of Hillman's drive to overthrow the right wing of the American Labor party and seize control of this bloc of votes for the Communists. Quill is the Communists' leader in the fight within the A. L. P. Holmes says that all of these men are members of the Communist party and he should know what he is talking about. He is a former student of the Lenin school in Moscow and taught for seven years in the official Workers school in New York.

The leadership of the CIO unions was turned over to the Communists thru the connivance of Mr. Roosevelt and the New Dealers because they counted on Communist domination to deliver the CIO labor vote for them at the elections. So far the Communists have fulfilled their end of the bargain. The A. L. P. delivered New York state to Mr. Roosevelt in 1940, and the Hillman CIO political action committee has the single objective of electing Mr. Roosevelt again this November.

It did not matter to Mr. Roosevelt how much the labor movement or the individual workers suffered because of the domination of these foreign agents as long as he got the votes. Mr. Roosevelt's own attorney general has branded the Communist party in America as a group organized to overthrow the government of the United States "by force and violence," yet he trusted the leadership and the livelihood of American working men to Communist hands.

The effectiveness of a Communist in organized labor depends on keeping his connections hidden. The American is not Communistic and does not like to be controled and dominated by Communists. The Communist labor leader cannot live in the light of day. That was proved when THE TRIBUNE exposed the Communist leadership of the CIO union at the Chicago Studebaker plant. When the next union election was held most of the Communists lost their jobs.

The exposure of these foreign agents in control of international CIO unions may have the same effect, and it will be a healthy one for unionism in America.

BRITISH NEWS FOR AMERICAN SOLDIERS.

An army private at an air depot in England sent THE TRIBUNE a letter recently protesting against a move to draft all childless women between the ages of 21 and 28 in the United States. He inclosed a clipping from the Stars and Stripes, the daily newspaper of the American forces in Europe, which gave him the idea that this drastic measure was being given serious consideration. The first line of that clipping read: "Washington, March 2 [Reuter]—." The significance of this line should be apparent to any one who reads American newspapers and who is familiar with the propaganda campaign being carried on by the British among American soldiers in Europe.

Reuter, or Reuters, is the great British news-propaganda agency which has done much to weld the British empire together and to present the official British point of view powerfully and continuously thruout the world. American soldiers in England are reading in their own newspapers news from their own national capital filtered thru Reuters, a foreign news agency. It is no wonder that the letters from American soldiers in Europe display so much confusion about what is going on in the United States. Most of what they know is what the British propagandists in Washington and New York and elsewhere in America choose to tell them. The only other sources of news available to the soldier overseas are the sketchy and biased reports of the OWI, the propaganda programs of the British Broadcasting corporation, and letters from home. No American newspapers are allowed to print in England for distribution among American soldiers there.

Seymour Korman, THE TRIBUNE's correspondent in Algiers, has pointed out that the Stars and Stripes, which has the circulation of a great metropolitan daily and should have correspondingly good news sources and coverage, is dependent on OWI handouts, primarily intended for publication in underground newspapers, and American news reports received by the British press. The high propaganda content of both these news sources is readily apparent. The British press is not a free press any more than the OWI, loaded with Communists who are busy preparing for Mr. Roosevelt's fourth term campaign, is an unbiased news agency.

The editorial bias of the Stars and Stripes for the fourth term has been exposed. With Reuters reporting the news out of Washington for the Stars and Stripes, an internationalist, fourth term bias in its news columns is to be expected. There is no intention on the part of Mr. Roosevelt's wealthy and aristocratic friends in England to lose their particular precinct, heavily populated with American soldiers, to the Republicans in the November election.

American soldiers must be allowed to read and to listen to American news wherever they are stationed. Nobody has any objections to them reading the native press if they want to, but it must not be forced upon them by withholding American publications from their hands. There is no reason why pocket sized editions of American newspapers cannot be printed and circulated among American soldiers in England and the rest of Europe and congress should see that it is done. The London Daily Mail prints a miniature edition in this country. A forceful hint from congress to the army and navy general staffs would remove all obstacles in a hurry.

The army newspaper, and along with it the overseas branch of OWI, should be overhauled in a hurry. The great American news services—AP, UP, and INS—no doubt would be happy to furnish a daily report to Stars and Stripes as a patriotic service, and the army and OWI between them have plenty of facilities for getting the dispatches to the point of publication promptly. The growing indignation among American soldiers overseas at the diet of propaganda and half-truth being dished out by the New Dealers and their British friends is spreading to the soldiers' relatives at home. Congress cannot afford to ignore it.

It would seem reasonably clear that not one of the numerous medals on Goering's chest was awarded for accurate prophecy.—Washington, D. C., Evening Star.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

THE END OF A SAGA.

Today's column presents the last chapter of a famous series, "The History of the Gold Coast," by Captain John, which has been running, in 62 numbers, since April 11, 1942. It has been a chronicle of Chicago's most romantic neighborhood, from Indian times to the night club era, and has contained much material not otherwise available except in rare source books and obscure documents. This has been a work of scholarship in civic history by a native of the region, for Captain John was born and reared in the neighborhood of his study, whose other name is the near north side, and still pitches his tent there.

* * *

Other contributors have often insisted that Captain John was a pseudonym for the editor of this column, invented for the purpose of gobbling more space than he deserves. To their surprise, however, Captain John turned up at the last Line o' Type contributors' dinner, looking younger than many of them and not at all like the Linemaster's astral body. He is a distinguished citizen of Chicago, and his other name is Col. H. A. Musham. His pseudonym was borrowed from Capt. John Whistler, commandant of Fort Dearborn.

* * *

Col. Musham is a retired army officer, veteran of World War I., who now follows the profession of naval architect. His father was Fire Chief Wm. H. Musham, who served with an engine company in the holocaust of 1871 and rose to the top of the ladder. He has been a leader in civic movements of historical purpose, and is chairman of the Fort Dearborn Memorial commission. He is a contributor to the journal of the Illinois State Historical society, and has written extensively on the Chicago fire, after exhaustive study of its confused records. Interviewing survivors is among his hobbies.

RONDEAU D'AMOUR.

Love is a word to be set in a sonnet,
An ornament fit for a poem to wear,
Like a pearl in the ear or a rose in the hair,
Like a gem in a ring or a plume in a bonnet—
A neat little word, and you may depend on it.
O, it has many uses, but little I care.
Love is a word.
It is only a word; you don't live it, you don it,
And those who think otherwise come to despair.
So use it for riming, but nevermore dare
Take additional risks with the thing, for—doggone it—
Love is a word.

Commodore.

History of the Gold Coast—LXII.

The post-war years marked the end of an era. A more gracious way of life in a more spacious world had passed away. In this neighborhood the older element had given up their old homes and retired to apartments and hotels, and most of the third generation had rolled up their sleeves and gone to work.

Chicagoans were now conscious of the worth of the early days. Some of the older element, with many of the newcomers, "went high hat." Some who had been entertained by Lord and Lady Plushbottom at their place in Hants, Acorns-on-Souse, hastily dusted off Pa and Grandpa and promoted them to the right side of the counter. One triple-chinned dowager tried to crush an estimable lady whose father had been a pioneer, flat-footed harness bull by asking her, "And what line was Mr. Zee in," only to be floored by her reply, "Fawther had been in copper."

There was also much talk about city builders, to which we reply with the words of Long John Wentworth, who long, long ago remarked: "We often hear of different men who have done much for Chicago by their writings, their speeches, or their enterprise. But I have never heard of a man who has done more for Chicago than Chicago has done for him. God made Lake Michigan and the country to the west of it, and when we come to estimate who have done the most for Chicago, the glory belongs first to the enterprising farmers who raised a surplus of produce and sent it here for shipment, and second to the hardy sailors who braved the storms of our harborless lakes to carry it to market. All other classes were incidental, and not the necessities of our embryo city." To all of which we say "Amen."

With these words we close our story—the history of a great neighborhood, the heart of a great city. To its people we say, "You have been told what it was—you know what it is today—its future is largely in your hands. Take care, don't let the pioneers down; you'll cotch it if you do."

And now, farewell. Captain John.

THE SENSIBLE SMELT.

(A Brookfield Ballad.)

Year after year we thought it nice
To dig a hole right thru the ice,
And when they'd swim in near the shore
We'd catch a smelt, then thousands more.
This year, surprise has swept the land
And fishermen can't understand
Why they've not seen a single smelt
Altho the ice begins to melt.
To me the reason seems quite clear:
They all went somewhere else this year—
And based on all the evidence,
I think the smelt showed rare good sense!

REDUCING FATALITIES FROM RUPTURED APPENDIX.

DESPITE a generous amount of preaching and numerous warnings, many individuals will continue to take purgatives in the presence of abdominal pain. Half of our cases of ruptured appendix would be prevented if we could defeat this vicious practice.

While mortality from this relatively common disorder has dropped in certain sections of the country the figure has remained stationary for the nation as a whole. Nevertheless, with the judicious use of the sulfonamide drugs we may confidently expect to overcome the foolhardiness of wilful people—at least, in part.

During the last 30 years more than half a million American citizens have lost their lives from appendicitis and its complications. Nearly 50,000 perforations occur each year. As we know, if the skillful surgeon can remove the inflamed organ before it has scattered pus and corruption thruout the abdomen, the possibility of a fatal outcome is extremely small—less than 1 per cent. But allow germ laden fecal matter to reach the peritoneal cavity and the outlook is ominous.

In 20 per cent of all these cases the organ had burst before the doctor was called. This means that a grievous error was committed. If there is one disease with which we dare not play tag it is trouble within this region of the body. Pain, nausea, vomiting, and tenderness in the lower right side means stop, look, and listen.

Not every one will present the cardinal signs and, more often than not, the seat of the distress may seem to be in the pit of the stomach. We must realize that whenever the vermiform appendage becomes distended and swollen [because of inflammation] only a portion of the structure may be affected. In other words, discomfort may be ignored just because it is not prostrating.

The only safe procedure is to enter a good hospital, where constant observation can be exercised and a trip to the operating room made promptly if indications justify. It is not the appendix proper that kills people—it is the fact that bacteria are sown widely over the surface of the peritoneum. The absorption of toxins thereupon takes life.

Once the structure has been shattered, 10 out of every 100 cases end fatally, even under ideal conditions. If more are to be saved it will probably be thru the employment of sulfathiazole crystals. Some surgeons sprinkle this powder within the abdomen and about the incision. Later the drug is injected beneath the skin or directly into a vein. While this procedure is drastic it carries considerable hope. At any rate, from a mortality of 10 per cent the level has dropped to 4 per cent or less.

Much will depend, of course, upon how long the patient has been allowed to linger without attention. If much activity has been permitted, the chances are that a larger area has become involved. Just because the sulfa drugs have been helpful we dare not wait and see what will happen.

Pain due to gas does not linger long in the same locality. On the other hand, signs of appendicitis never let up altho the relief of tension [rupture] is accompanied by the disappearance of distress. The very comfort which follows is false. It is the calm which precedes a storm.

X-RAYING ULCER.

O. S. writes: Will X-rays always show peptic ulcers if they are present?

REPLY.

This powerful force is our best diagnostic aid, when coupled with the taking of barium. Not only are films made but the behavior of the gastric pouch is studied by means of the fluoroscope. The batting average is high.

VITAMIN D.

A. S. writes: Vitamin D is supposed to have the same effect as sunshine. Sunshine is supposed to be effective in bursitis and arthritis. Ergo—vitamin D should be of value in these diseases.

REPLY.

Indirectly, yes, as a normal quota of D will influence reserve and hence well being.

PENICILLIN.

Mrs. A. C. writes: In what diseases will penicillin be helpful?

REPLY.

Chiefly infections with cocci—strep, staph, etc. Many other bacteria will surrender, such as the organisms which cause gas gangrene. Studies are going forward rapidly and the field is widening.

BRONCHIAL IRRITATION.

Mrs. W. writes: Must a child with chronic bronchitis be kept out of the night air?

REPLY.

Yes, if chilling is a factor. Otherwise, no. During the warmer season, little difference will be observed.

NOSE DISORDER.

Mrs. L. writes: Is there any successful treatment of ozena?

REPLY.

Hormones have been reported upon favorably. Scrupulous cleanliness and the use of a deodorant may be successful in time.

It's Nothing Serious.

I've had a quarrel with the Muse—
O, nothing but some slight contusions—
She tartly spoke of Shakespeare's shoes
And wondered if I had delusions.

She said her kingdom was divine
And comics could not hope to share it,
Then asked if Milton's cloak were mine
And if I thought that I could wear it.

I told her that it wasn't that;
My clothing came from Mannheim's basement,
And if she found my verses flat
She just might go and fly the casement.

So off she went and here I am,
The victim of her latest scorning,
But frankly I don't give a damn,
For she'll be back tomorrow morning.

Secret Weapon.

Almost every one has seen a mouse which precipitated a roomful of inert humans into sudden action, but who has seen one which immobilized a church congregation? Prompted by this department's recent dissertation on the current invisibility of church mice, Mary E. Bascom writes:

"Your article on church mice brought vividly to mind a scene of more than 30 years ago in the All Souls church which held services in Abraham Lincoln center with the late Jenkyn Lloyd Jones as pastor. Mr. Jones was in the midst of a fiery denunciation of something when a row of young women, of whom I was one, was electrified by the sight of a wee mouse scampering down the aisle.

"Before we could stuff our hankies in our mouths to suppress our screams, the little creature had crept up under the fold of a long blue silk skirt just ahead of us. [We wore them long in those days.] Believe it or not, the heroic woman who wore it calmly reached down, grasped the mouse in the skirt, and held it firmly until the sermon ended, never relaxing her attention to the sermon. So quiet and sensible was she in suppressing the mouse that she also suppressed my row, and not a squeak or a wriggle betrayed the tension.

"The preacher, aware that something was happening in that row of girls, glared at us, stumbled a bit in his oration, then went stanchly on, never guessing why we were all holding our mouths tight shut with handkerchiefs.

"The sermon ended, the noble woman arose and walked out while the congregation rose to sing, the mouse still clutched in her hand under the skirt. This, of course, was a slightly unorthodox church, more or less Unitarian in outline, so maybe that is the reason there was a mouse there. But it certainly was a church mouse."

Apostle of Peace.

Lt. Comdr. Jack MacFall, U. S. N. R., came home to Gary on leave after a long spell at an African port where, in the absence of American consular officials, he operated as liaison officer, international soother, and official arbitrator against the various inimical factions that gathered there. He was there when the Italian fleet joined that of the allies, and three Italian warships, complete with admiral, steamed hurriedly in there to get away from their former pals, the Nazis. It caused a good deal of hubbub, as neither the British nor the French in the port felt any too kindly toward the Italians at that point. At Comdr. MacFall's suggestion they lay out in the harbor three weeks until inland tempers cooled. Then the men came ashore in groups of 40 or 50 a day. Finally the admiral came ashore with his staff to meet the British and French officers. The British and French still were unhappy and markedly cool, and the situation was momentously tense until a flag officer, spotting MacFall, who then wore a fierce black beard, introduced him to the Italian admiral. The admiral took one look at him, rushed forward, and embraced him vigorously. "Balbo!" he shrieked happily. From then on all was fine.

THE SMEARERS GO TO WORK.

Benton, Ill., March 18.—Personally I doubt the advisability of nominating Gen. Douglas MacArthur on the Republican ticket for President. I think he would make a great President, but that he would not want the nomination.

Nevertheless, the smear campaign against him has reached my community, and I can scent it coming from certain New Dealers and federal pay rollers. It appears as having come from a common source and there is but one conclusion, that is, that it originates in Washington. Every time a great American gets in the limelight, immediately a smear campaign is started against him. There is a smear bureau at Washington and I hope that the Dies committee finds out all about it.

S. M. WARD.

STATEHOOD FOR BRITAIN.

Columbus, O., March 13.—Regarding Ada C. L. Gummersall's letter I, too, think it would be a good idea if Britain became one of the United States, only in a different sense. Since it seems we have to come to Britain's rescue every 20 years, it would be a good idea to have her under us to keep her from getting into wars she is unable to finish. I would appreciate it if Miss Gummersall could tell me how Britain would be conferring an unmerited honor on us by becoming one of these United States.

It is true we took the baby from Britain's arms in the last war, but we failed to learn our lesson. In this war it wasn't the economic pressure that drew us in, but rather the collaboration between the President of this country and the prime minister of Britain. If Miss Gummersall will recall the speech Prime Minister Churchill made after this country entered the war, she will agree. Churchill stated, "I have been working for this day ever since we entered this war."

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE ELECTION.

Portsmouth, N. H., March 17.—The fact that the majority of the delegates elected from New Hampshire are pledged to Willkie does not mean that he is a satisfactory candidate to the rank and file of the Republican party; especially to the older voters who complained bitterly about him when he ran four years ago. No opportunity of knowing who was pledged to who appeared in the press before election day; consequently the voters rushed off to work and voted before they went home, for the most widely known names that appeared on the ticket in the blind hope that their interests and wishes would be looked after. The writer had no information on the subject until the afternoon papers appeared. Had election day been one day later, or had the press published the list of names pledged to the various Presidential candidates one day earlier, it would have represented the choice of the rank and file.

FAMILY ALLOTMENTS FOR GOING TO COLLEGE.

East Lansing, Mich., March 13.—Family allowances were instituted under the allotment plan by the government to alleviate in some manner the financial stress caused by the soldier going off to war. Yet in numerous institutions in the United States many men inducted into the army are enrolled in pre-medical, pre-dental, and veterinary courses, the same courses that they had prior to induction. In many instances these men are attending the same colleges that they were in prior to induction, only now they do not pay tuition or maintenance. Yet the wives or dependents of these men are receiving under the family allotment plan the same benefits as the dependent whose husband and main support may even now be lying in a foxhole in Italy or the South Pacific. One does not attend a college unless he has the financial means. Why then should these men not only receive a free education, but also have their families compensated for the privilege of their attending school?

THE WIFE OF A SERVICE MAN.

FOUR FREEDOMS, REVISED.

Gary, Ind., March 17.—Just what are the Four Freedoms and the Atlantic Charter? So many events, present and future, are referred to them and nothing verbal makes sense. The Four Freedoms as I understand them from events that have occurred thus far are:

1. The privilege to exploit our natural resources for foreign enterprise.
2. The access to our treasury to all foreign powers.
3. The privilege of foreign diplomats to meddle in our affairs.
4. The right of our boys to take a leading role in fighting everybody's war anywhere in the world.

And the Atlantic Charter seems to be a document binding us to the Four Freedoms.

CHAS. YARVIS.

SPACE FOR SOLDIER BALLOTS.

Cleveland, O., March 17.—If we can deliver all of this lend-lease material, namely, 27,800 planes, $1,600,000,000 worth of extra engine parts, 2½ billion dollars in bombs and ordnance, and 670 million dollars worth of aviation gasoline, as disclosed by Crowley, then surely there should not be much trouble in sending a few ballots to our lend-leased boys.

A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

PARENTS' DEBTS.

Chicago, March 21.—1. Can I, as an only child of parents deceased two years ago, be held legally responsible for a debt incurred by them 18 years ago? 2. The estate was settled more than a year ago, at which time I was given a clear title to all property.

G. F. R.

1. No, but their estate might be held if there are sufficient facts to extend the statutory period.

2. In general, claims not filed within nine months are barred from the probate estate. We see no basis for holding you.

CHAPLIN BEGINS NERVOUS ROLE AT BAR OF LAW

Actor Placed on Trial in Mann Act Case.

in which Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor questioned prospective jurors. Judge O'Connor is soft spoken, too. So is Carr. You get the impression that soon every one will be whispering.

Tomorrow, when the prosecution and the defense begin to challenge the 12 jurors tentatively qualified today, Giesler may go into action, and Carr certainly will. Two prospective jurors readily admitted today that they would view the trial with bias because Chaplin is a British subject and were excused from service, but 12 remain, to three of whom Carr may object.

One, Louis J. Odets, admitted that both his son and daughter are writers for the movie industry. [His son, is Clifford Odets, author of "The Golden Boy" and now a movie script writer.] Another, a sad eyed woman who insisted she hadn't read a word about the Chaplin case, sews in the wardrobe department of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. A third, a pale young woman with a river of black hair, said nothing could prejudice her, but she is an actress employed by a small motion picture company.

Crowds Line Corridor.

Crowds of persons, most of them middle aged women, lined the corridor leading to the courtroom when the doors were opened at 9:30 a. m.

"Where's the girl?" they kept asking. "Isn't she coming?" So certain were they that Miss Berry would be in court that they stopped every young woman with or without claim to beauty or auburn hair to ask, "Are you the girl?"

During the day Miss Berry did make a brief appearance at the courthouse, but not in the courtroom. With a drove of FBI men to run interference, she appeared in Carr's office to pose for camera men. She appeared nervous and on the verge of tears and would comment only on her baby, Carol Ann, the child whom she charges Chaplin fathered.

Chaplin and Giesler threaded their way into the courtroom at 9:40 a. m., Chaplin slumping down at the defense table for a glum and nervous contemplation of the scene.

Judge Reads Indictment.

The clerk of the court called the case, and the trial was under way. Names of 60 prospective jurors were called, and the judge began to read the indictment:

"The grand jury for the United States of America . . . sitting thru the January, 1944, term . . . charges that Charles Spencer Chaplin, hereinafter called the defendant . . . on or about Oct. 4, 1942, did knowingly, willfully . . . cause to be transported . . . a certain woman by name Joan Berry . . . to the city of New York . . . over certain railway lines . . . common carriers engaged in interstate commerce . . . for the purpose of having her engage in sex relations with him and live with him as his mistress . . . nor were they then and there nor at any time mentioned in this indictment married to one another. . . ."

The judge then read the second count, charging that Chaplin paid for or arranged for the transportation of Miss Berry back to Los Angeles from New York on Oct. 26, 1942.

". . . Against the dignity and peace of the United States of America," he concluded.

Veniremen Questioned.

He then began questioning prospective jurors.

"Is there any distinction in your mind about enforcing the laws of this country—or are all laws the same?" he asked the first prospect, a woman who played hide and seek behind smoked glasses.

"Well, I think we should have justice in all laws . . ." she began.

"I'll illustrate," the judge said. "In the days of prohibition some could not qualify as jurors because they didn't even like the smell of liquor, but embezzlement was another thing . . ."

"O, I'm not like that!" the lady shrieked triumphantly.

She, and each subsequent prospect, were asked whether they had any prejudice against the motion picture industry or against any actor and whether they had read the many details of Chaplin's private life cluttering the papers in recent years.

OPA Secretary Dismissed.

Any juror who worked for the government was dismissed—one girl, an OPA secretary, was excused on this ground. All were asked whether they knew various personages mixed up in the various Chaplin-Berry feudings, from both sets of attorneys in a paternity suit in which Miss Berry names Chaplin as the father of her child to Hedda Hopper, columnist who first printed Miss Berry's story of her "desertion" by Chaplin.

At one point Chaplin, whose only prior lapse from stolidity had been the execution of a tap dance under the table with his tiny, black-shod feet, began sketching, pursing his mouth into a whistle while doing so.

Deft detective work by the gentlemen of the press, who were convinced he was sketching prospective juror No. 2, the girl with the droopy mouth and long black hair, revealed the sketch to be an arched bridge over a river, across which a steam locomotive was chugging its way.

[ADVERTISMENT]

ENDS 5-YEAR SIEGE OF CONSTIPATION!

"Now as Regular as Anyone!" Says H. C. Durand

Here's a sincere, unsolicited letter every disappointed "doser" will want to read:

"I'm 32 years old, and have been constipated over 5 years, going as much as 5 days without a movement. Pills and laxatives would relieve me only for the day I took them. Next day I'd be as bad as ever. Then I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Am now on my second box, and as regular as anyone could want, thanks to regular use of your wonderful product!" Mr. H. C. Durand, 221 N. Columbus Ave., Freeport, Long Island, N. Y.

Sounds like "magic," doesn't it? Yet, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN really can, and does, get at a common cause of constipation—lack of certain dietary "cellulosic" elements! That's because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements—which help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't work by "sweeping out"! It is simply a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If your constipation is of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins daily. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't find welcome relief! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

ALL MALE JURY PICKED TO HEAR LONERGAN CASE

Opening Statements on Today's Slate.

New York, March 21 (AP).—An all-male jury was completed late today in the first degree murder trial of Wayne Lonergan, 26, charged with slaying his wife, Patricia, 22, heiress to a 6 million dollar fortune.

Two alternates also were selected, clearing the way for the opening addresses of Assistant District Atty. Jacob Grumet and Defense Counsel Edward V. Broderick tomorrow.

A prosecution source said the first witness probably would be Dr. Milton Helpern, medical examiner.

Confession Unsigned.

Completion of the jury was preceded by the official disclosure that the defendant's purported confession was unsigned.

Broderick told General Sessions Judge James Garrett Wallace that in order to determine whether he should call handwriting experts he would like to know whether the statement bore a signature.

Wallace asked Grumet whether it was signed. The prosecutor said "the usual procedure" was followed.

"It wasn't signed?" persisted Wallace.

Grumet said it was not.

Ten Jurors Married.

Ten of the jurors are married men, one is a widower, and the other man is unmarried.

They are: William J. Byrne, claim examiner, foreman; Peter F. Reilly, banker; Lowell H. Wilson, vice president of a milk company; Maurice J. Saperstone, a lumber company official; Caryl Harris, retired; Herbert W. Schilling, salesman; Louis S. Dorsey, manufacturer; Hugh U. Doran, salesman; Charles Kaiser, real estate dealer; Mortimer Cobb, salesman; Bennett J. Swinyard, bookkeeper, and John M. Woodburn, editor.

REPORT 5 LOST IN BOMB BLAST AT ARMS DEPOT

Pendleton, Ore., March 22 [Wednesday]—(AP).—An igloo containing bombs exploded at the army's Umatilla ammunition storage depot at 9:30 last night and five or six persons are missing, Col. A. S. Buyers, commanding officer, announced at midnight.

He said names of the casualties would be announced as soon as determined. Cause of the explosion is unknown, he said, but "there is no knowledge of any sabotage."

The blast shook Pendleton homes. The depot is 30 miles east of here.

WLB CONFIRMS 5C BOOST TO 6,000; LABOR DISSENTS

The regional war labor board yesterday approved an average wage increase of 5 cents an hour for 6,000 employes of the Amertop Corporation of Forest Park.

The board divided on the decision, labor members dissenting on the ground that the raise, only a fraction of that demanded by the company and the workers, "failed to offer a satisfactory solution to this [a wage differential] problem."

The board voted the 5 cent increase last Wednesday. On Thursday morning 3,500 day shift employes stopped work for an hour in protest, and demanded a rehearing.

The case was filed last summer as a voluntary petition for wage increases of 5 to 20 cents an hour.

The Amertorp plant's petition to the WLB, members of the latter said, voiced the complaints of many long established plants here that the "Big Five"—the Dodge, Douglas, Electro-Motive, Studebaker, and Buick plants—paid wages that make it impossible for all others to compete in the tight labor market.

The dissenting opinion was signed by Samuel C. Evett for the CIO and George S. Nordstrom of the AFL.

INSANITY RULED IN SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned at an inquest yesterday in the death of Paul Preissler, 42, of 1217 E. 44th pl., a locomotive fireman who was killed in a four story plunge from his apartment.

HELD IN WIFE SLASHING CASE.

Max Russ, 38, of 3730 Kenmore av., seized on a charge of slashing his estranged wife, Ann, with a penknife, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Cecil Smith in bond of $5,000.

WARSAW POPULATION DROPS.

LONDON, March 21 [AP].—The Polish population of Warsaw has fallen to 750,000 from a 1939 total of 1,300,000, the Polish telegraph agency said today, and more than 500 persons are dying monthly there of tuberculosis.

NEW TRAVELERS ON THE SANTA FE TRAIL

Once your fellow passengers on a Santa Fe Trailways bus sweeping westward to California were tourists, teachers, vacationists—now men in olive drab and navy blue ride with you! Soldiers, sailors, marines on leave, and on duty, use America's most scenic highway, east and west. They must save time and money and must travel in comfort—so help them and yourself by traveling "light" and "go midweek". Ask the Santa Fe Trailways agent for up-to-the-minute information.

People are talking about the INSIDE War Stories in the new Post

The Great Scharnhorst Blasted from the Seas!
"It was like the bugles blowing for the death at a bullfight"

SKULKING through the dark gray arctic night—the Scharnhorst made her way to the great Russia-bound convoy. With power to destroy in one hour as much shipping as the whole U-boat navy could blast in six months.

This is the historic story of her last hours ::: of the greatest duel of naval wits in this war ::: told from official Admiralty records, exclusively for Post readers.

It is a story that will lift you cheering to your feet ::: a revealing insight into the marvels of modern naval warfare ::: of tons of screaming shells reaching a six-mile target in the arctic gloom ::: of nerve-tingling, hair-raising drama that ended with the sinking of Germany's great sea-killer and sent a thousand men to death.

In Today's Post by C. S. Forester

HOW THE BRITISH SANK THE SCHARNHORST

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

War's History in the Making!

THE story of the trapping and sinking by the British Navy of the German pocket battleship Scharnhorst, presents to Post readers one of those rare reading privileges that come seldom—even in war.

Probably no man could have written it with the authority of its author. C. S. Forester is perhaps the greatest living writer of sea stories.

This breath-taking true account of the last hours of the Scharnhorst—reconstructed by Mr. Forester from official Admiralty records—is the thrilling history of this war in the making. It is further evidence of the fact known to millions—that great things naturally come first to the new Post.

MILLIONS HERE EXPECTED ATTACK

It happens every year. There is always a time when it seems like everybody has a cold attack. At this time be prepared and remember Penetro, a salve with modern medication in a base containing same kind of old fashioned mutton suet grandma used. Works 2 ways (1) Warming vapors comfort cold-congested nose and throat; (2) Stimulates circulation right at spot where rubbed on. 25c. Double supply for 35c. Always demand Penetro.

THEATER OF AIR TO INCLUDE TOP TALENT OF ARMY

The United States army will present a series of three nonbroadcast stage shows, following forthcoming productions of W-G-N's Chicago Theater of the Air Saturday evenings in Medinah temple, Wabash av. and Ohio st. This announcement was made yesterday by Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding general of the 6th service command. The Theater of the Air broadcasts run from 8 to 9 p. m. over W-G-N, WGNB, and the Mutual network. The post-broadcast presentations will start at 9 p. m.

On Saturday, April 1, after the broadcast of "The New Moon," the army will salute war department civil service employes with a show.

A post-broadcast army show for April 15 will be a salute to the reserve officers' training corps with more than 2,500 R. O. T. C. men as studio guests. A third army entertainment to be presented later in the operetta season will be dedicated to army general hospitals in the 6th service command.

Next Saturday evening W-G-N will present a grand opera, Gounod's "Faust," starring Marion Claire and Joseph Laderoute, Canadian-American tenor.

EFFORT BY F. D. R. TO FIRE ADMIRAL TOLD IN FCC QUIZ

Report Action Followed Bungling Expose.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—Rep. Miller [R., Mo.], a member of the house committee investigating the federal communications commission, today charged that President Roosevelt sought the retirement of Rear Adm. Joseph R. Redman for disclosing to the committee an instance of FCC bungling that caused a naval mishap in Alaskan waters.

Miller offered to produce witnesses, one of them a navy man disabled in the naval operation, who would describe the danger incurred by an American task fleet as a result of improper information furnished by the FCC.

The Missourian said FCC Chairman James L. Fly obtained a copy of a Presidential letter or memorandum to the navy department asking Redman's removal, and that Fly showed the communication to FCC Commissioner T. A. M. Craven as a warning of what might happen to those who coöperated in the committee investigation.

Purge Attempt Charged.

"This is a terrible charge and I categorically deny it," said Charles R. Denny, chief counsel for the FCC. "We have repeatedly asked for further information on this supposed naval incident and haven't received it."

"You need beg no longer," said Miller. "The same information was possessed by Rear Adm. Stanford C. Hooper, Redman's predecessor, who was prevented from testifying by the President's gag order. After Adm. Redman gave our committee investigators details of the affair, the administration tried to purge him. A copy of his testimony was demanded by the White House, after which efforts were made to have him demoted or retired.

"I can produce one or two boys on the task force, one of whom was disabled, to give details of this FCC error."

Denny said there was no Presidential letter or memorandum, such as Miller referred to, in existence, so far as he knew.

Promises to Produce It.

"I'll produce it if the navy will relax its rules," promised Miller. He was referring to the Presidential gag order placed on army and navy officers, at the beginning of the inquiry last July, which prevented them from testifying or furnishing any records referring to FCC operations.

Details of the naval accident in Alaskan waters never have been made public, altho frequent reference has been made to it in the testimony.

Fly in a formal statement issued today denounced Miller's charge as irresponsible and said the congressman was "throwing a sneak punch" at the FCC in hopes of grabbing a headline with his "daily booby trap."

At the opening of the hearings last year, Counsel Eugene L. Garey, who has since resigned, announced that he had asked the navy for reports received by the navy with reference to certain information improperly evaluated and edited by the FCC with reference to the war in Alaskan waters. . . ."

Navy Refuses Request.

Acting under Mr. Roosevelt's order, the navy refused to furnish these records.

Testimony has also been given indicating that Rear Adm. Hooper was forced to retire as a result of his opposition to Fly.

Commissioner Craven of the FCC testified that on July 7, 1943, he was called into an ante-room by Fly and warned that he appeared to be "coöperating" with the investigating committee.

Labor Statistics Bureau Centers Regional Work

Activities of the bureau of labor statistics, in eight midwest states, including the gathering of both wages and hours data have been combined in a regional office in the war agencies building, 226 W. Jackson blvd., John B. Parrish, new regional director, said yesterday. John W. Lehman and Everett B. Harris, regional price and wage analysts, respectively, are new division heads in charge of field staffs. There are 90 employes in the region, Parrish said, of whom all but 25 are field workers.

Demonstrations of artificial respiration and rescue methods in water were presented yesterday by Red Cross junior and senior life saving members in the pool in the Medinah club. The class is one of 10 being conducted in Chicago to train swimmers in water safety.

Edward J. Slezak, director of first aid, water safety, and accident prevention for the Red Cross, is supervising the classes. As compared with 1,500 trained volunteers last year, he said, there are only about 150 this year. Others have gone into service or war jobs.

NEW DEAL PACTS BRANDED RUIN OF MINT INDUSTRY

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—The administration was charged by Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.] today with stifling the mint growing industry in Michigan and Indiana while permitting duty free importation from South America of large quantities of mint oil for candy and chewing gum.

"This is one more example of the New Deal's flagrant abuse of the good neighbor policy," Shafer said in inserting protests from mint producers in the Congressional Record. "While the administration is ruining established markets here at home, its free traders are arranging to buy the same things abroad."

Shafer explained that the office of price administration arbitrarily has placed "ridiculously low" ceilings on spearmint and peppermint produced in Michigan and Indiana, which normally provide 80 per cent of these products for domestic use and exports.

Ceilings Called Below Cost.

He charged that the ceilings, $3.50 a pound for spearmint oil and $5.50 for peppermint oil, are below the cost of production and threaten to destroy the mint industry in this country.

Meanwhile, he said, hundreds of pounds of peppermint and similar oils are being imported, duty free, from Brazil under executive trade agreements negotiated by the administration.

This discrimination against American industry is particularly needless, Shafer continued, because large manufacturers of candy and gum using mint oils have agreed to pay $7 a pound for peppermint oil, without increasing prices of the manufactured products. He said this price would permit domestic producers to stay in business, but added that the OPA has refused to raise the ceiling.

Jap Deal Suggested.

Shafer placed in the record a letter from N. P. Beebe, president of the Essential Oil Growers of Michigan, quoting estimates from the Drug Reporter, a New York trade paper, that Brazil can export a million pounds of peppermint oil yearly. Beebe said this is equal to total annual production in this country.

Beebe contended it was impossible for Brazil to produce that much oil at present and said he believed "a large portion of said oil was produced in Japan and brought into Brazil thru certain South American countries and then sold duty free to importers in the United States."

Magic in Hats Shown at Party for Lighthouse

BY JUDITH CASS.

CHINESE orange, tickle pink, and ginger were three colors advocated in a showing of spring magic in hats yesterday during a luncheon benefit for the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind, held in the Wedgwood room of Marshall Field & Co. Called "Millinery Magic," the show attracted a capacity audience, which enjoyed not only the showing of hats but also a supply of magic by Bert Allerton, which ended in the traditional appearance of a rabbit.

This time the rabbit—a snow white one with a cerise bow—popped out from under a covered dish which the entertainer "served" to Mrs. Marshall Keig, president of the Lighthouse board, and young Judy Keig carried the rabbit home for a pet. Judy and two other youngsters, Marianne McDonald and Barbara Clark, appeared on the green and white striped hat box stage to show subdeb hats that had a brief moment of glory in the parade of half-hats, side-winders, cloches, and sweeping brimmed headgear that made up the fashion show.

Other new bonnets were worn by the half dozen or so post-debs who assisted at the party, among them a striking black and white checked half-hat with a huge bunch of flaming red poppies dangling at one side that was worn by Miss Jane McKenna. Miss Jane Leonard, chairman of these young ushers, assisted in awarding the door prizes, including a new hat won by Mrs. Hugo Vogel, who, to the satisfaction of the curious audience, opened her prize right on the spot and put it on. It was of pale pink straw, the scoop brim filled with pink lillies of the valley, and most becoming. To Mrs. Thomas A. Connors, a member of the Lighthouse board, went a bottle of perfume, and Mrs. Frank H. Woods Jr. carried away a box of nylon hose.

There'll be some changes made in hair styles before the women in yesterday's audience go forth in such hats as a fisherman's sou'wester, or "centerpiece," or small brimmed side-swept cloche, as were shown on models with neat head-hugging or chignon hairdos. Closest resemblance to the hats modeled was the side-swept brim on Mrs. Robert A. Carr's neat head.

A visitor from Louisville, Ky., Mrs. Elbert Gary Sutcliffe, whose navy son is ill at the Wesley hospital, watched the fashions with Mrs. Howard Emig and Mrs. Proehl Jaklon. Among others in the crowded room were Mrs. Stanley M. Wiley, Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell, Mrs. George W. Dixon, Mrs. Paul G. Ware, Mrs. John C. Cushing, Mrs. Charles S. Connell, Mrs. Wallace D. Mackenzie, Mrs. William A. Little, Mrs. James R. Getz, and Mrs. Robert G. Anderson.

Engagement News.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Omara of River Forest announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to Lt. Edmund Branand Jr. of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Branand of Kansas City. The wedding date is tentatively set for Easter Monday, altho it will depend on Lt. Branand's leave. He now is stationed in Alaska, having served in New Zealand and Australia.

Miss Omara is a graduate of Rosary college and received her master of science degree from the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C. She now is working at the Child Care center in Berwyn. Lt. Branand was graduated from De Paul university and received his commission from the army statistical school at Harvard university.

At a dinner party last night in their home in Aldine st., Mr. and Mrs. Max J. Alper announced the engagement of their daughter, Leonore, to Stanley Strasberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Strasberg of the Flamingo hotel. Miss Alper was graduated from the College Preparatory school, and Mr. Strasberg attended the University of Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnett C. Lines of Barrington have announced the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis, to Albert W. Ascani, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ascani of Beloit, Wis. Miss Lines was graduated from Beloit college and now is teaching in the Beloit High school. Mr. Ascani, a graduate of the business administration school of Marquette university, attended law school there

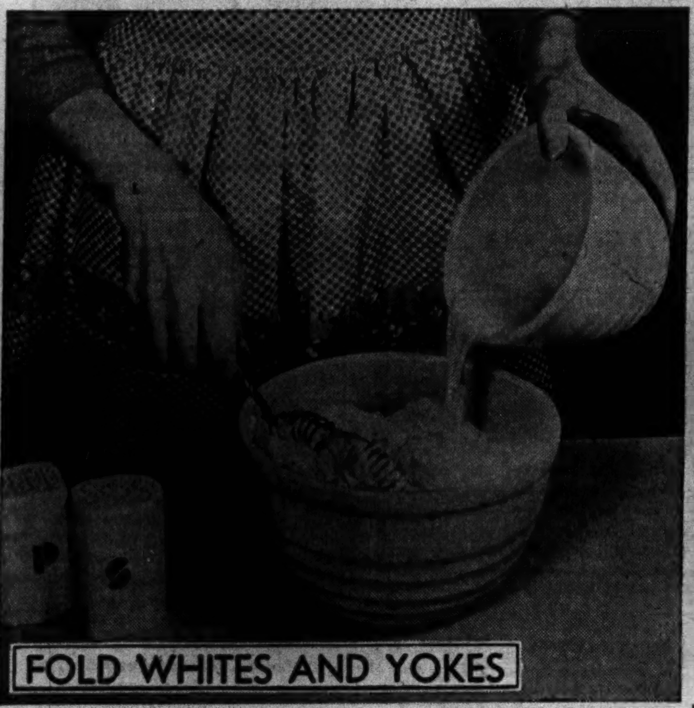
Mary Meade Demonstrates, Step by Step, How to Prepare Fluffy Golden Omelet

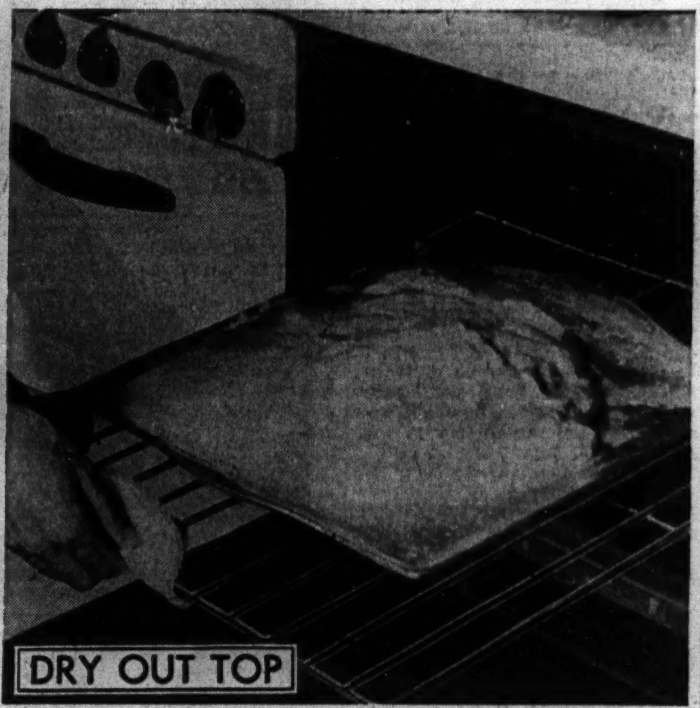


FOLD WHITES AND YOKES

1. Beat 6 egg whites until stiff but not dry. Beat yolks with ¾ teaspoon salt and 6 tablespoons milk or water. Fold whites and yolks together with egg whisk.

BROWN UNDER SIDE

2. Pour into greased skillet or onto griddle. Cook slowly over low heat until well risen and slightly brown on bottom. Lift edge with spatula to determine brownness.



DRY OUT TOP

3. Place in moderate oven or under low broiler flame a few minutes to dry out top. Omelet may be folded or not, but should be served at once, while puffy.

SERVE WITH PEAS

[TRIBUNE Studio Photos.]

4. This unfolded omelet to serve six was topped with creamed peas. A few of the cooked peas were saved from the sauce and scattered over the omelet for garnish.

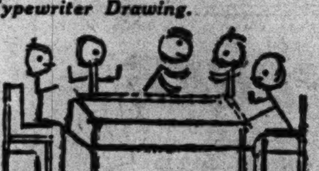
White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Typewriter Drawing.



Here you see a directors' meeting
And should you stroll past the door
You might be awed by the serious tone
Of the voices that rumble and roar:
"Say, you can get scotch at $4 a fifth
If you'll just go over to Joe's." . . .
And then from the other end of the board,
"I put 50 on Alsab's nose!"

MILDRED D. KRUEGER.

It's Up to the Girls.

"Our chief problem is personnel," a Chicago bank president told a group of commercial graduates while warning them that, in their first jobs, they'd be surprised at some of the bizarre sights in offices, "about which," he added frankly, "we can do very little." After the war, he predicted, it would be a different story.

"What do you say to your employes about saddle shoes, socks, and sloppy sweaters?" I asked a business man recently.

"Nothing," he answered. "We need help; we take what we can get and try to like it!"

Fortunately there are wholesome contrasts. In one office the more experienced girls make a tactful but definite effort to set an example for the new, green help. The results are good: Pretty soon the youngster who appears untidily dressed in unsuitable clothes for business catches on. Her second—or third—pay check goes [part of it] toward more business-like outfits. She wants to seem career-wise; she wants to conform with the others who are more experienced than she.

Company magazines, business girls' clubs, a friendly, helpful attitude on the part of co-workers, and a conscientious, relentless emphasis by business school instructors on the importance to any white collar girl of good taste in personality and appearance—these are the saving graces in the midst of a labor shortage which forces unwilling silence upon many an employer.

Right now it's up to the girls. And all of them! For, ultimately, all of them may suffer if the general standard sags too low during these times.

Open Letter.

This is an open letter to "Two Secs" who want Nosey Parker to find out what kind of jobs we girls hold who do typewriter drawings: My boss is no crabby old gent! She's a honey! But stay where you are—I don't want to trade. However, I do my typewriter drawing at night at home on my trusty old portable. Please get Nosey off my trail before I start hiding from my shadow.

Paper Salvage Prizes Go to Schools Today

Prizes totaling $1,000 will be presented to representatives of Chicago public and parochial schools this afternoon by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, marking the close of the first monthly contest among the schools in the national waste paper salvage campaign.

During the campaign, which began Feb. 14 and ended March 18, Chicago public and parochial school pupils collected 8,670,000 pounds of waste paper. To this may be added the 1,014,000 pounds collected by the public high schools for a total of 9,684,000 pounds, nearly 2 million more than the quota set by the Chicago Waste Paper Salvage committee.

Yesterday, Kelly High school students, who gathered more paper than those of any school of 39 participating in the day-long high school campaign, were presented a citation by the war production board for meritorious work.

Nine stands of American colors, one for each winning school in the nine public school districts, will be presented to Don C. Rogers, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of elementary schools, at 2 p. m. at the offices of the board of education at 228 N. La Salle st. At 4 p. m., in the Catholic school board offices, Msgr. Daniel F. Cunningham, superintendent of Catholic schools, will accept a check for $500 in behalf of six winning schools. The parochial schools elected to accept the prize in cash. Presentations will be made by John R. Robinson of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association.

The winning schools will be announced today.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Shrimp Rolls.

[Serves four to six.]

Biscuit Wrap-Around:
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
4 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup milk [approximately]

Filling:
1 cup boiled shrimp, chopped
¼ cup medium white sauce
Few drops worcestershire sauce
Salt, pepper
⅛ cup chopped parsley

Sift flour, salt, and baking powder together, work in shortening; add milk to make soft dough. Turn onto floured board and roll to rectangular shape about ¼ inch thick. Blend shrimp, white sauce, seasonings, and parsley. Spread mixture on dough. Roll up like jelly roll; cut into slices. Set slices in greased muffin pans, cut side up. Bake at 450 degrees 15 to 20 minutes. Serve with additional white sauce or tomato sauce.

Friends of Writers' Award to Be Given at Luncheon Today

The Friends of American Writers' annual literary prize will be presented today at an award luncheon attended by members of the group, literary editors and critics of Chicago newspapers, other writers, and guests.

The meeting will be held at noon in the Louis XVI. room of the Hotel Sherman, with Mrs. Colin M. Higgins presiding. The award of $500 in cash and a $250 war bond will be presented by Mrs. George A. Harriman, chairman of the award committee. The name of the winner will not be revealed until Mrs. Harriman announces it at the luncheon.

Paul Engle, poet, head of the English department at the University of Iowa and a book reviewer for THE TRIBUNE, whose "West of Midnight" was the prize work selected by the society two years ago, is to be present to give the principal talk.

Educator Says High Schools' Teaching Fails

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

"The product of our high schools is not on a high cultural level, and more than 40 per cent of students entering college have no intelligent idea of what they want to do," Dr. Herman James, former president of Ohio university, Athens, O., told the conference of university administrators at its closing session yesterday. It was one of several educational conferences being held this week in the Palmer House.

Discussing high school graduation requirements, Dr. James asserted that anybody who wanted a high school diploma could get it, consequently students came to college extremely unprepared.

"We find," he said, "that students can graduate without any mathematics, no foreign language, and hardly any achievement in English after four years' study."

Dean Joseph P. Blickensderfer of the university college of the University of Oklahoma was elected president of the newly organized conference of university administrators at the final session. E. A. Hansen of Ohio university was elected secretary-treasurer. Seventy-four universities were represented at the conference.

The forty-ninth annual meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools opened yesterday. Reports of the commissions on colleges and universities, secondary schools, and research and service will be submitted today. General sessions will be held tomorrow and Friday.

Judge Harrington of the Circuit court, addressing the seventh annual meeting of the central regional unit of the National Catholic Educational association yesterday, blamed parental laxity for most juvenile delinquency.

"I regard religion as the most powerful deterrent to crime," he said, pointing out that Catholic high schools have been only slightly affected by the increase in juvenile delinquency. In closing his speech on this problem, he cited the recommendations made by 33 Catholic agencies for case work in connection with the parochial schools.

The Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, archbishop of the Catholic archdiocese of Chicago, opened the ninth annual meeting of the midwest college and university department of the National Catholic Educational association yesterday with an invocation. The Most Rev. John T. McNicholas, archbishop of Cincinnati, O., scheduled to speak on "The School Reorganization Program," was unable to attend and his paper was read by Msgr. Julius W. Haun of St. Mary's college, Winona, Minn.

Under the auspices of the Private Schools Association of the Central States, a dinner will be held tomorrow evening. William E. McVey, recently elected president of the North Central association, will speak on "The Origin and Development of Criteria for the Accreditation of Secondary Schools."

Yanks' Healing Hurried by New Army Methods

BY EDWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Clinton, Ia., March 21.—High ranking medical officers from all parts of the country today saw hospital patients skipping rope, exercising on parallel bars, playing volley ball, running thru an obstacle course, practicing precision drill, and executing the manual of arms. They saw other patients, not so far along toward recovery, weaving and working in wood.

The demonstrations were a feature of the army's first general reconditioning conference, which is being held at Schick General hospital today and tomorrow. Their purpose was to show graphically what an army hospital can do to improve the physical and psychological condition of sick, injured, or wounded soldiers, and to get them ready for a return to duty as quickly as possible.

It was emphasized during the conference's first day sessions that a reconditioning program which safely can cut days or weeks from a soldier's period of convalescence contributes importantly to the solution of the man power problem.

"We have in our army today only 7,700,000 men and women," said Maj. Gen. Ray E. Porter, assistant chief of staff on the war department general staff. "We can't expect ever to get any more. Every man who has left his duty has left behind a vacant place which there is no man to fill."

He explained that the demands of industry made it impossible to draw many more men from civilian life and that it behooved the army, therefore, to keep its personnel as nearly as possible on a 100 per cent duty status.

The expanded reconditioning program which the army is now launching was described by Col. Augustus Thorndike, director of the reconditioning division of the army medical department.

"The program is coördinated," he said, "so that physical and educational reconditioning, occupational therapy, and recreational and diversional activities are all integrated into a composite schedule."

Figures were presented by Lt. Col. Howard A. Rusk of the army air force showing that patients who undergo a reconditioning program which mixes work, play, and study are, on the average, discharged from the hospital sooner than others and are compelled to come back for additional treatments less frequently. Also, their morale is strengthened by the fact that they have not dropped hopelessly behind the other men of their outfits during the period of their convalescence.

The fact that a soldier might deteriorate in various ways or suffer a diminution of his morale during a long hospitalization was touched upon by other speakers and used as an additional argument for a strong rehabilitation program.

"Over the years physicians have realized that while their patients were recovering from the primary cause of their illness or confinement in a hospital, they might deteriorate physically and mentally so that when they had recovered from the primary cause they were still far from well," said Brig. Gen. Charles C. Hillman, chief of professional service in the office of the surgeon general.

INSTALMENT XV.

"THE FORTUNE HUNTER."

At Vancouver, 12 days after the San Francisco fire, "The Dictator" company, minus scenery, wardrobe, trunks, and promptbooks, sailed for Australia.

Aboard ship Collier began to rewrite the play from memory. Willie had Jack draw designs for new sets to be built when they reached Melbourne.

Neither Barrymore nor Collier enjoyed themselves in Australia. They found the nights all too quiet. In fact they were arrested one evening at 9 o'clock for laughing too loudly on the streets of Melbourne.

"That's what ails our audiences," Collier whispered to Jack at the police station. "They're afraid to laugh after 9 o'clock."

"Now look," Collier said to Jack one day after Barrymore had reported late for rehearsal, "I've been crying 'wolf' long enough. The next time you are late or miss a performance, or do any of the terrible things that seem so dear to your nature, I'm going to abandon you in Australia."

From then on until the close of the Australian tour Barrymore appeared on time at the theater. One morning he overslept, but hastily drew on a topcoat over his pajamas and ran down the principal street of Melbourne to attend rehearsal.

Barrymore was rehearsing the part of Nat Duncan in Winchell Smith's play, "The Fortune Hunter," in 1909. Lionel returned from the studios of Paris to witness Jack's debut as a star. Lionel went with Kid McCoy to the Gaiety theater on the night of Sept. 4. He had sent a red apple, to be placed together with similar tokens from Ethel and Uncle Jack on Barrymore's make-up table.

Lionel and McCoy could get no seats for "The Fortune Hunter" premiere. They stood during the performance. They saw Jack suddenly become a comedian of first rank. He gave a faultless and vital portrayal of his part. The theatre from now on would be enriched by his electric presence, and his fame would grow and endure for as long a time as his own volatile desires permitted.

Lionel and the pugilist went backstage to find a swarm of victory-inspired first nighters crowding Jack's dressing room. Kid McCoy was all for charging among them, but Lionel said, "No. Wait until they go. Even the catnip of hero worship loses its effect eventually."

Lionel and Kid McCoy eventually entered the now cleared room. "Well, Jake," Lionel said, "it looks like you are hooked for good."

"What in hell has happened?" Jack asked. "Who am I?"

"It usually takes me two nights," Lionel replied, "to find out what occurred on the first. You'll live."

"But I'm scared stiff," Jack said. "Why didn't I give a stinking performance?"

"Because," said Lionel, "you couldn't."

"For God's sake!" said Jack, his face wet with what he called a Gethsemanic sweat. "Let's find some hole-in-the-wall that serves liquid dynamite."

The companions went to a small cafe on the east side to stay up all night.

There was a rain effect in the fourth act of "The Fortune Hunter." This stage rain exercised a sublime influence on Jack Barrymore, notwithstanding its commonplace origin in a perforated tin cloud, and its brief journey to the tarpaulins of the Gaiety theater.

The stage shower, artificial tho it was and arriving as it did on cue each night, became in Barrymore's fancy a symbol of his own loneliness of heart. His storybook mind ignored the fact that a Mr. John Thompson, and not St. Swithin, was the instigator of this stage rain. And while it was falling at each performance, Jack would think of a fireside. Then he began to associate the fireside with a dressing gown and slippers, he said, and finally, in that connection, to think of taking a wife. Perhaps, had there been no iterative rain dreams, he might have postponed his introduction to wedlock in 1910.

One night after the tin cloud had run dry, Barrymore changed to evening clothes and left the theater. He found a genuine rain driving down upon New York. This storm accentuated his desire for carpet slippers. He wondered if it would not be better for him to go home and shut himself in than to attend a debutante's ball to which he had been invited.

The ball was being given for Katherine Corri Harris, a taffy-haired beauty with blue mirrors for eyes, and a charming little hesitancy, not quite a stammer, in her speech. Her parents occupied a comfortable place among those listed in "The Social Register," the Koran of Newport and Fifth avenue. The father and mother of this lovely person certainly didn't anticipate that a theatrical weasel would spring the golden trap they had baited for ermine.

It was prescribed that Katherine leave for Europe, a treatment frequently adopted by socialites to cool the love fevers of their marriageable daughters. The Harris family might as well have saved themselves this expense. The girl soon returned to America. And in September, at the Church of St. Francis Xavier, the 19 year old beauty married the 28 year old victim of the rain.

"This event," Jack said, "was the first of my three and one-half marriages—all of them bus acidents."

After the wedding breakfast, the bridegroom announced that he had to "go on the road" with "The Fortune Hunter." "It will only be for a year," he told his wife. "We'll be seeing each other at propitious moments."

The bride retired to Mamaroneck, to stay temporarily at the home of a relative, one of the few family members who cared to receive her as Mrs. Barrymore. Upon Jack's return to New York, the couple occupied quarters on the 10th floor of an apartment house on the east side of Gramercy park.

The inexperienced girl tried hard not to quarrel with Barrymore. But quarrel they did, frequently. It seems that it never was an easy matter for any of his wives to exist happily with him for long in wedlock. Perhaps the bottle may have been the chief cause of each domestic furor; yet in this respect we cannot wholly disregard the implications of Jack's own statement: "Unhappiness increased the drink, and drink increased the unhappiness."

Child Demands Attention Thru Food Fussing

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Sit up, Junior, and eat your dinner."

"You like apple pie, you know, dear, but you can't have even one piece unless you finish what's on your plate."

These and similar requests and admonitions formed the back-drop of every meal, altho Junior was 6 years old. He thoroly enjoyed all the attention, alternately pouting and beaming as suited his purpose. Yet when his father or mother are absent or he visits a young friend, he eats very well.

Adult friends and relatives, after a while, were ready with excuses when asked to dinner at this home. The constant interruptions and concentration on the child spoiled the easy flow and enjoyment of conversation and even relish of the meal.

Junior is a perfect example of the child who is an eating problem solely because of psychological reasons. His parents are intelligent persons who have been told by the doctor to let the child alone. But somehow they can't seem to do it.

Part of the reason is temperament, part is habit. Both parents are to blame. At first they were simply anxious and watched the child like a hawk at each meal. Now the thing has become a habit not only with them but with the boy also. He early proved to be well and strong, but soon learned that fussing over everything that was put before him, or not eating unless urged or helped, concentrated the attention of his grownups, and adequately put a stop to adult conversation on other subjects.

It is obvious that had the parents' own mealtime behavior been different, the child never would have caused the difficulties.

I do not mean to imply that parents need not be conscientious about what and how much a child eats, but I do say that such conscientiousness must be tempered with firm tactfulness, a sense of humor, and a take-it-for-granted attitude.

If parents possess these four attributes they will treat their children to a course of loving, intelligent, and wholesome neglect at meal times.

Mrs. Lydia Zwack, 611 E. 22d st., Dubuque, Ia.—When a bar of soap becomes too small for convenient use I soak it and a new bar in water for a moment, then "paste" them together.

Mrs. E. W., Chicago—I was told by a soap expert that I could make soap last longer and avoid waste when washing face or taking bath if I would wet the wash cloth before rubbing soap on it. Have tried this and find it more economical than rubbing moistened soap on a dry cloth.

Pianist Petri Finds Chicago Hard to Please

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

One of the major enigmas of the music world is Egon Petri, the renowned Dutch pianist, who came to Orchestra hall last night to end the Musical Arts Piano series, replacing Guiomar Novaës, the Brazilian favorite kept at home by the exigencies of war time travel. No pianist before the public has greater potentialities, as almost any one will agree who heard Mr. Petri play the gigantic Busoni Concerto with the Chicago Symphony orchestra a few years ago. Long a Busoni pupil, he has the formidable technique, the comprehensive sense of style, and the prodigious repertory of the true virtuoso. But in Chicago Mr. Petri has program trouble, and it shuts him off from his deserved audience.

A good deal of it is Chicago's fault. Playing on this same series some years ago Mr. Petri carved the "Hammerklavier" sonata out of Beethoven granite, and it was superb, but not popular. The next season, I think it was, he played the Diabelli Variations, and even an audience specializing in piano got too much of that. So last night Mr. Petri played no Beethoven, and who can blame him? He played lots of short pieces, and if we yearned for a monumental work worthy of his gifts, was it his fault, or ours? His only, I should think, in that he was trying to please us.

So Mr. Petri played eight of Scarlatti's sonatas, the four ballades of Brahms' Opus 10, some Ravel, Debussy, Medtner, and Liszt. He played them with a curiously intellectual approach, so that his mind was sober even when his fingers were sensuous, and this, to my ear, gave the Ravel Sonatine and Debussy's "Reflects dans l'eau" and "Minstrels" the clarity of fresh water unrippled by emotions beyond those of their creators.

The Scarlatti was beautifully played in a detached sort of way, but eight sonatas carry an invitation to somnolence. Nor did the thickness of the Brahms stir much more lively reaction, for all the flowing warmth of tone that now and then poured into the music. Medtner's "Danza festiva" was just a shiny showpiece, but the Liszt was something more than that, being three of the Transcendental Studies, followed by the 12th Hungarian Rhapsody and the Liszt transcription of the spinning song from "The Flying Dutchman." Here was the bravura sweep of the romantic school, stirred with the first breath of "Harmonies du soir." It left you wondering what will happen some of these nights when and if Mr. Petri gets excited about music. My guess is that the audience would go up like tinder at the first spark.

Next season's series will open Nov. 21 with Josef Lhevinne, to be followed by Witold Malcuzynski, Beatrice Eppinelle, Alexander Uninsky, Wanda Landowska, who will play both piano and harpsichord, and Rudolf Serkin.

Wisconsin Alumnae Club to Hold Benefit Dinner

A dinner for the benefit of its scholarship fund will be given by the University of Wisconsin Alumnae Club of Chicago at 6 o'clock tonight at the Food Research corporation in the Lytton building, 14 E. Jackson blvd. The program will include a demonstration in the preparation of foods for war time menus.

Players should be sparing with their slam bids if their skill in play extends no farther than finessing.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

West, a shrewd player, steered clear of the temptation to lay down the club ace [which would have made the slam "cold"]. He opened the spade ten. South won with the ace, drew trumps, tried for a 3-3 break in spades, and when that failed, led a club from dummy and tremblingly put in the jack. West lost no time in cashing the queen and ace.

The fact that West had refused to open the only unbid suit, clubs, was pretty good evidence that he had the ace, but there was no reason to think that the club queen must be on side. Declarer remained blind to implications that were clearly revealed in the early course of play. West showed that he had started with only one spade and only two hearts; thus, he was marked with 10 cards in the minor suits. What was more likely than that he had considerable length in diamonds? The right line of play, on this sound analysis, was as follows:

After learning about the spade break, South should ruff dummy's last card in that suit and lead out every trump. West must hold three diamonds to guard dummy's suit, hence can keep only the ace of clubs. When he throws off the club queen it certainly is easy for South to read the situation, and now he simply leads the club king or jack. When West holds his diamonds, declarer keeps two clubs in dummy, and now he is on solid ground.

Women in War Work

Miss Ruth D. Aushman (left) and Miss Gladys E. Post inspecting service flag to be dedicated at graduation exercises for Northwestern university class in physical therapy.

Twelve women who have spent the last nine months learning ways and means of rehabilitating war wounded soldiers and other disabled will be graduated today from Northwestern university's course in physical therapy.

Ceremonies will be held on the Chicago campus at 6:30 p. m., when Col. Donald Hilldrup, surgeon of the 6th service command, will speak. At the same time, a service flag, honoring the 47 alumnae of this course now serving with the military forces will be dedicated. Fifteen of these women are overseas, and three of them are with the Northwestern university general hospital unit in Italy.

Today's graduates have varied backgrounds. They are either nurses, have college degrees in physical education, or have had two years of college work, with emphasis on the biological sciences. Their certificates are the results of nine months of intensive work in human anatomy, physiology, pathology, therapeutic exercise, psychology of the handicapped, electrotherapy, and principles of physical therapy. They are among the 201 persons who have completed the course since 1927.

Since the first World war, physical therapy has been on the increase and its use now is expanding rapidly. Many previous graduates of the course have been commissioned in the army or are serving in the navy, utilizing their knowledge, which includes massage, exercise, and treatment with the use of heat, water, and electricity to return war wounded soldiers to duty or civilian life.

One of today's graduates, Mrs. Marjorie Bullock of South Bend, has twin sons in the army. Three of the 12 to be graduated are Chicago women. They are Mrs. Ruth Dunham, 1238 Roosevelt rd.; Mrs. Helen Miller, 5414 Hyde Park blvd., and Miss Anita Matthews, 4748 N. Ashland av.

A group of 16 will be graduated June 30, and another class will begin July 10. Applications are now being accepted, according to Dr. John S. Coulter, chairman of the physical therapy department, and Miss Gertrude Beard, technical director.

Delegates from the 26 foreign groups working with the women's division of the treasury to sell war bonds have been invited to tea at the Arts club at 4:30 p. m. today by Mrs. Thomas A. Connors, co-chairman with Mrs. Donald McPherson of these groups. Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, head of the women's division, will speak briefly. Members of the foreign groups have sold over $4,000,000 worth of bonds.

Members of the 9th ward Republican women's organization will distribute 300 packages of cigarets to veterans at the Marine hospital today, according to Mrs. William Hansen, president, and Mrs. Peter Miedema, secretary. The distribution of cigarets to service hospitals has been a regular war activity of the group. Earlier this month 1,750 packages were presented to service men at Hines hospital. The money for the purchases was raised thru benefits.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

Has Romance Flown? Tell the G. I. Boy

BY MAUREEN DALY.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Too many girls think it is part of their patriotic duty, like buying war stamps, to pretend to be faithful, ever-lovin' dolls just because their boys are in service. It isn't fair play to give a chap the brush-off just because he's turned G. I. Joe and you think that a boy in the hand is worth two in the service, but if that old feeling is really gone, or if there is no glow at all, tell the truth. Don't let that guy go on dreaming.

Here's a typical letter from a honeychile whose boy is leaving soon and she's hand-holding even tho her heart isn't in it:

"I've been going steady with a boy for about a month and really don't like him very much. I've been trying to break up with him but now he's going in the navy and if I do I know every one will think I'm awful. I, myself, don't know how to tell him as he seems to like me a lot. If I really cared for him I'd wait forever but as it is I don't think this arrangement is fair to either of us. . . ."

No need to give the boy a rough send-off. Let him know that you still value his friendship, wish him luck, and would like to hear from him when he's gone but don't let him leave thinking that you are just going to sit home knitting socks and waiting for his letters for the duration! Tell him it's time to find another paper doll to call his own and he'll like you better for giving it to him straight. If he comes back and expects to find you in the moonlight-and-roses department, ready to become a permanent twosome, that mellow conning of yours will be hard to explain away. Just tell him it's no glow—and he'll find himself another gal to come home to.

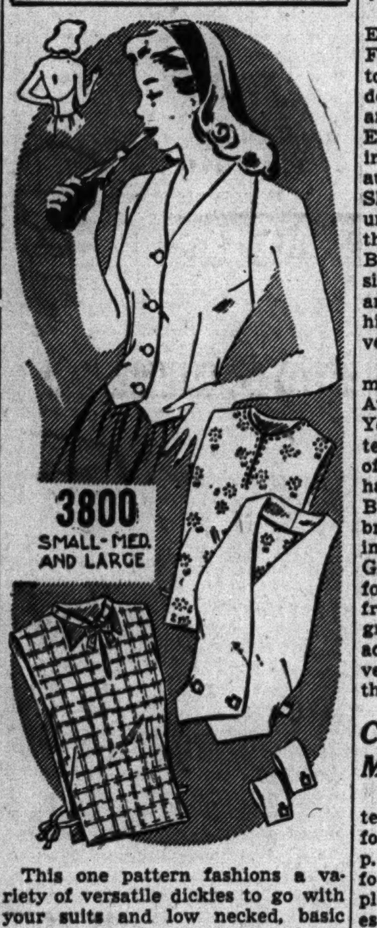
Quaker Official to Speak on World Reconstruction

Clarence E. Pickett, executive secretary of the American Friends service committee, will give a public lecture on "America's Responsibility in World Reconstruction: A Quaker Point of View" at 8 o'clock tonight in Fullerton hall of the Art institute. Mr. Pickett, who is here on a brief visit from headquarters in Philadelphia, is being presented by the midwest branch of the Friends service committee. The service committee was founded in 1917 to carry on relief and post-war reconstruction in Europe. It represents the Religious Society of Friends [Quakers] in national and international social action.

Stage Note

New York to Chicago: Gilbert Miller will be in Chicago in a few days to check on the qualifications of a young actress said to be suitable for the leading role in F. Hugh Herbert's new play, which Mr. Miller will produce. Chicago to New York: That would be Patricia Kirkland, who plays the adolescent heroin of Mr. Herbert's "Kiss and Tell," at the Harris. Mr. Herbert has wanted her for the part right along.

Dickey Modes



This one pattern fashions a variety of versatile dickies to go with your suits and low necked, basic frocks. A minimum of fabric is required for each version, making the remnant counters a positive blessing. Style No. 3800 is designed for sizes small, medium, and large. Medium size requires 1 yard of 35 inch fabric for weskits and ¾ yard of 35 inch material for dickies.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, New York City. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The pattern book is 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with pattern.

College Club Luncheon to Honor Mrs. Farwell

The Chicago College club will give a luncheon at noon today for Mrs. Albert Day Farwell. Mrs. Farwell, who is president of the Lake Forest Garden club, will talk on "The Uses of Herbs in War Time," illustrating her lecture with color slides which she has made. Serving as a hostess committee will be Mrs. J. Paul Clayton and Mrs. Elmer J. Dick.

Today's Events.

Dr. Conrad Bergendoff, president of Augustana college and a trustee of the American-Scandinavian Foundation, will speak on "The Faith of the Foundation" following a luncheon which the Chicago chapter is giving for him at 12:15 p. m. today at the Arts club. At the speaker's table with Dr. Bergendoff will be Hugo A. Anderson, president of the chapter, and Mrs. Anderson; Consul General and Mrs. Costa Oldenburg, Consul General and Mrs. Reimund Baumann, Consul and Mrs. Sigurd Maseng, Consul and Mrs. Arni Helgason, Miss Florence Dibell Bartlett, Mrs. Laban J. Brady, Mrs. Charles Walgreen, and Mr. and Mrs. Bror Dahlberg.

Members of Le Cenacle will give scenes from French plays at today's causerie of the Alliance Francaise. The Alliance speaker Saturday morning will be Waldamar Curian, professor of history at the University of Notre Dame.

The Evanston-North Shore Smith college club is giving a tea for prospective students today in the Evanston home of Mrs. Carol Alton. Junior and senior girls in north shore schools have been invited. Mrs. Armin Elmendorf, president of the club, will give a report of the recent Alumnae council at the college.

Here and There.

From Santa Barbara, Cal., comes news of a party the Joseph T. Ryersons gave last week at the Montecito Country club for about 60 service men patients of the Hoff General hospital, most of them back from service overseas. The party was one in a weekly series arranged by the Red Cross Motor corps, and the Ryersons were assisted by their daughter, Mrs. Donald A. K. Brown, who is a member of the motor corps in Chicago. The service men were from all parts of the country, including one from Chicago, Pvt. Clarence Wayewski.

At a meeting yesterday in the Evanston home of Mrs. Thomas Eddy, the Evanston board of the Northwestern university settlement heard that the combined boards had realized approximately $6,000 from their recent Ice-Capades benefit. The benefit was the second given recently for the settlement, as the Oak Park-River Forest and North Shore junior boards netted $1,700 from their fashion show and cocktail party in the 28 shop at Marshall Field's.

Wedding News.

Some time late in April Miss Elizabeth Harris Llewellyn and Frank Prescott Breckinridge plan to be married in Chicago. Since the death of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Llewellyn of Evanston, Miss Llewellyn has lived in Evanston with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Frost. She is a graduate of Northwestern university. Mr. Breckinridge, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis Breckinridge, attended the University of Chicago, Harvard law school, and Columbia university. He and his bride plan to live near the University of Chicago campus.

Announcement is made of the marriage March 12 in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church in New York of Miss Carol M. Hill, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Miner C. Hill of New York, to Lt. Stephen Burnham Lamb of the army, son of Mrs. Burnham Lamb of Chicago. The bride, who was presented to society in 1939 in New York, attended the Green Vale and Nightingale-Bamford schools and was graduated from Smith college. Lt. Lamb was graduated from Western Reserve academy and from Princeton university, where he was a member of the Quadrangle club.

Committee Seeks to Bring More Women Into Industry

The Women's Executive committee board of directors will gather for a luncheon meeting at 12:15 p. m. tomorrow to discuss means for routing unemployed but employable women into jobs. It is estimated that there are more than a sufficient number of employable women to meet full production requirements of both war and regular industry in the Chicago area, and the group will study means to reach each home where a potential worker can be induced to enter full or part time employment. The committee is headed by Mrs. Anne V. Zinser.

George B. Dorsey, book talk on Myrdal's "An American Dilemma," 8 p. m., Hall branch library, free.

[ADVERTISMENT]

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Wonderful

No Cooking. Very Easy. Saves Big Dollars.

To get the most surprising relief from cough due to colds, you can easily prepare a medicine, right in your own kitchen. It's very easy—a child could do it—needs no cooking, and tastes so good that children take it willingly. But you'll say it beats them all for quick results.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a pint bottle. Then add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of really splendid cough syrup—about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and lasts a long time.

And it gives quick relief. It acts in three ways—loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Had a few short stories published, but this is his first book. It's a honey! . . . Sid Skolsky and Harry Cohn want Gene Kelly for life of Al Jolson, but no soap. Uncle Sam's put the finger on him. . . . The $64 question: "Will Lt. Bruce Cabot be able to communicate with his friends from Washington, D. C.?" Time alone will tell. . . . Jack Votion, producer of the Lum 'n' Abner pictures, is now a lieutenant colonel, still stationed somewhere in England. . . . Bob Hope collapsed in Puerto Rico and the old ear infection is back.

Facts—Not Fancy.

Merle Oberon was all ready to return to London with Alex. Korda when he got a message to leave the next day. Her passage couldn't be worked out so quickly. So he advised her to return here and play opposite Edward G. Robinson in "Once Off Guard," which she'd already signed for. Alex comes back in eight or ten weeks to take her home. . . . Bill Bendix does a tap dance in "Abroad with Two Yanks." It's Helen Walker's toes that are taking the punishment. Helen, who sang on Broadway, may get a chance to warble in this one. Incidentally, Dennis O'Keefe, in same picture, is 1-A. . . . Stanton Griffis of the war department, who is chairman of the board of Madison Square Garden, New York, aims to build another garden on the west coast after the war. He wants to call it "Mannix Square Garden" for our friend, Eddie. . . . Ginger Rogers and Dore Schary moan and groan for a leading man in "Double Furlough," while Metro boasts about its three youngsters—Van Johnson, Bob Walker, and Gene Kelly. Metro won't lend.

The Girl Has Plans.

Joan Fontaine, who couldn't wait to rest on the desert, tired quickly. She's back in town tripping the light fantastic with Harry Crocker. Her retirement after one more picture gave us all a good laugh. I think she'd like to do another picture, then a Broadway play a la Margeret Sullavan. While Joan is excellent on the screen, her ability as a stage actress is unknown. I'm wondering if her boss, David Selznick, would let her take the chance. It might be very expensive to both if it didn't pan out. . . . The David Selznicks whipped up a pre-war party for Mrs. Bill Paley. It was a humdinger. David's stable full of stars, including Ingrid Bergman, Claudette Colbert, Dorothy McGuire, etc., were present—except his little academy award winner, Jennifer Jones, who became important by her absence. The Zanucks, Warners, Leland Hayward, George Cukor, and Merle Oberon were all there. I'm wondering if it taxed the strength of Mrs. Selznick, who's due for a serious operation soon.

Around Our Town.

Sylvia Sidney has arrived with her young son. . . . John Royal and Leonora Corbett are being wined and dined, George Cukor being the first host. . . . Patsy Kelly starts her own radio show from New York, April 1. . . . Monty Woolley is off to Saratoga for a well earned rest. "Rest" did he say? Swears he won't work until September. . . . Among Gail Patrick's antiques is a vegetable dish from which Andrew Jackson once ate his spinach. Shouldn't that belong to Herbert Hoover? He loves spinach. . . . Guy Kibbee quipped on March 16, "Why don't we call it 'eternal' revenue?"

Waste Not—Want Not.

Eddie Sherman's Abbott and Costello picture, called "A WAVE, a WAC, and a Marine" still bears that title, but the picture has nothing to do with it. When the original story came back from Washington only the title was left, but heck, they'd paid $5,000 for it, and by golly they weren't going to waste that. When the boys did a guest spot with Kate Smith, they had half a page of dialog. They came on, showed it to the audience, then tore it up and ad libbed for 10 minutes. . . . Hal Walker, director of "Road to Utopia" wants to do a montage shot of all the hilarious sequences in other road pictures and stick them into this. It's a swell idea because, believe it or not, this will be the last road picture with Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, and Dottie Lamour. This comes from the head man.

Green Among Spring's Best Basic Colors

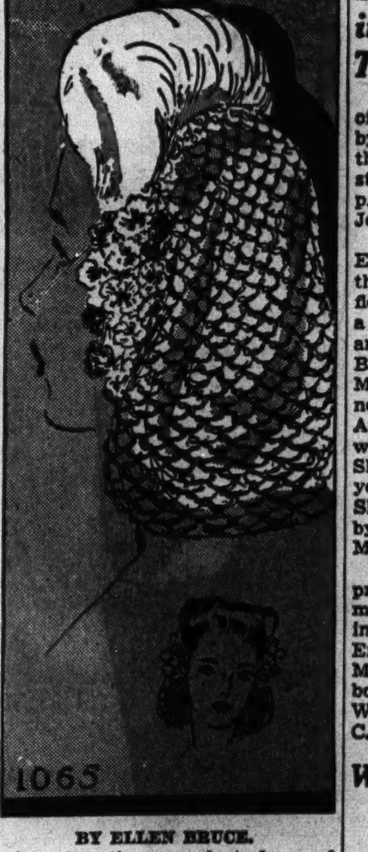
BY REA SEEGER.

Consider green as a basic color for your spring wardrobe, if you're fed up with navy blue or weary of gray or brown of former years. This is the spring when all green shades serve as smart neutral background colors around which to assemble costume accessories of dramatic importance. You will see casual coats in stunning sage-green tones that rival anything you've ever used in gray or blue. It's a green shade that combines most effectively with the new high fashion tangerine or melon shades, with white for summer, pale beige for spring, as a strong contrast, with very dark brown. And it's a green that is a natural for certain vivid shades of red.

Dark green wool suits, slim two-piece models with either short length or long torso jackets, are ideal buys as a backlog for any wardrobe. Such classic combinations are separable, to wear with other contrasting skirts or jackets. Ensembles of long coat and print dress featuring green with pastel or white printed designs in the dress are particularly timely buys for the Easter parade, running in close competition for popular favor with the short jacketed suits with printed blouses.

Among the smartest blouses for spring are green and white prints, green and white small checkerboard gingham prints, and sheer white blouses piped with narrow green edges. All shades of green are available, from the soft neutrals to the vivid dublin greens or the dark black-green shades called cypress. This appreciation of green as a basic color promises not only fresh crisp spring fashions, but cool, flattering green clothes for summer.

Colorful Snood



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

An attractive crocheted snood with flowers at each side over the ears is a springlike and becoming bit of head gear which may be crocheted quickly, easily, and at small cost. The flowers may be multicolored, or created in the same shade as the snood.

For instructions in crocheting the flowered snood No. 1065, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th av., New York City.

Film 'Lifeboat' Tells Grim Tale of Sea and War

"LIFEBOAT."

A Twentieth Century-Fox picture, story by John Steinbeck, directed by Alfred Hitchcock, featuring Tallulah Bankhead, William Bendix, John Hodiak, Walter Slezak, and Mary Anderson, and presented at the Apollo.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Another long drawn out period of vicarious suffering is proffered audiences in "Lifeboat."

Under the astute direction of Alfred Hitchcock—super harpist on the taut strings of human emotions—grim, nauseating drama is enacted against a background of sullen seas and sodden skies on this movie's one set—a lifeboat.

The torpedoing of their ship by a Nazi submarine has cast adrift in mid-Atlantic six men and three women. There's a hard boiled newspaper correspondent in a fur coat and diamond bracelet [Tallulah Bankhead], a distraught young mother with a dead baby in her arms [Heather Angel], a pretty nurse [Mary Anderson], a business tycoon [Henry Hull], a sailor from Brooklyn [William Bendix]. There's Kovac [John Hodiak], the he-man who gets under the hide of the lady with the bracelet—and when I say hide I mean hide. . . . There's the Negro [Canada Lee]. And there's the German surgeon [Walter Slezak] who had commanded the preying submarine and who, because he alone is competent, is given command of the boat—steering it by a hidden compass toward a Nazi supply ship, tho his shipmates believe he is heading for a port of safety.

Hunger, thirst, varied passions, great pain cause the psychological reactions to the emergency with which the story is chiefly concerned.

Blazing sun and raging seas play their part in the torture. . . . A man's leg is amputated practically under your eyes. Agony succeeds agony and so adroit is the acting, that, if you can bear to watch, you, too, are in a welter of misery that conspires for many hours to make your own skies leaden.

Perhaps there is a reason for films like "Lifeboat" and "The Purple Heart." Maybe they make us more war conscious. But I don't believe it. To me they are refined, deliberate cruelty which I deplore should be inflicted on those who go to war and loved ones who are left behind.

I can't do anything about their production, but, by golly, I can tell you what they let you in for!

See you soon.

Story of Making Rugs in Colonial Era to Be Told to Coverlet Guild

The story of the homemade rugs of the early colonists will be told by Mrs. Sarah Hall Bonsteele to the Colonial Coverlet guild at a study department meeting at 2 p. m. today in the home of Mrs. John L. Sharpe, 6114 Woodlawn av.

In her talk, "Footsteps from the East," Mrs. Bonsteele will trace the oriental origin of the colonial floor coverings. She will exhibit a collection of miniature rugs and an authentic Guatemala loom. Mrs. Bonsteele was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and studied weaving at the Art institute of Chicago and also with an American Indian weaver. She has been working for nine years in her craft at Hull House. She will be presented to the guild by the study department chairman, Mrs. L. L. Bomberger.

Mrs. Alexander C. Dallach will preside at the meeting. The committee assisting Mrs. Sharpe will include Mrs. R. J. Barney, Mrs. Ernest Charlton, Mrs. D. L. Elder, Mrs. John Irwin, Mrs. F. H. Kilbourn, Mrs. Dale O. Newland, Mrs. William A. Roberts, and Mrs. Henry C. Walter.

WAC Recruiting School Opens at Fort Sheridan

A special school to train personnel for WAC recruiting opened yesterday at Fort Sheridan. The class consists of five air force officers, five air force enlisted men, 20 WACs from army service forces, and 10 air WACs. They will be given lectures on the plans and purposes of WAC recruiting and will be shown motion pictures, literature, and lectures they will use. The class ends on Saturday. A woman who enlists in the WAC now may chose her army station, position, and whether she wants foreign or domestic service.

Thru the Looking Glass

If you count beautiful fragrances and fine bath oils among your luxury loves, you'll be intrigued by a preparation which in our estimation combines the two perfectly. And we really don't believe bath oils should be classified as luxury items, for anything that contributes so much to the soothing effects of a relaxing tub bath is practically a necessity these days. Besides, the bath oil we speak of is so lovely it hardly needs justification.

It's a light amberish oil that bears the perfume of a mixed flower bouquet. The fragrance is delightfully heady and a trifle sophisticated. It's the kind of scent that lingers in the air and wafts dreamily about to induce the most brusque bather to loll a little longer in the tub and let the warm, fragrant water comfort tired muscles and jittery nerves. Shower addicts can rub the oil directly on the skin and enjoy its perfume as they scrub. After the ablutions are finished, the delicate perfume clings to the body in satisfying degree.

Only a few drops of the oil are required to scent a tubful of water completely, and if you'd like to have them do double duty, hang your undies in the bathroom while the tub is being filled. They'll absorb the fragrance and be nicely scented when you're ready to don them.

At first consideration the oil may not seem to be priced exactly low, but it really is quite moderately tagged for it's a generous sized bottle and goes a long way. It's a nice investment if you want to pamper yourself or be extra good to someone you like.

BOCK BEER KEPT OFF MARKET; A WAR CASUALTY

Alcohol Content Uncut, Is Chicago View.

Bartender artists will have no excuse to draw pictures of goats on saloon windows this spring. Bock beer, symbolized by the goat, is a war casualty. Beer industry spokesmen reported yesterday that there will be no bock this year because its production, from a special carmelized malt, would necessitate a change in operations, a slower, longer process.

Bock is matured during the winter months and emerges usually about April 1. Brewers are sorry to lose it, because it always provided publicity. But handling it requires extra deliveries, additional help, and trucking facilities, which are limited by war time restrictions.

Puzzled by N. Y. Reports.

Reports from New York yesterday that the alcoholic content of civilian beer is down to 3.31 per cent by weight, as compared with 3.56 in 1940, were discounted in Chicago yesterday. Russell H. Hopkins, executive secretary of the National Beer wholesalers, said he was at a loss to understand the reports.

"Brewers have 7 per cent less malt than they had in 1942," he said, "but they make up the loss in civilian beer by what they save in making 3.2 per cent beer for the army.

"Some May Be Chiseling."

"Some brewers may have been chiseling, but the majority are trying to retain good will by making the beer as close to 4 per cent as possible."

Frank Wetzel, secretary of the Illinois Association of Brewers, denied there was any truth to the New York report. And beer drinkers, interviewed at bars, were undecided. Some, who identified themselves as experts, said they thought they had noticed a change in beer. Others said no.

'SUGARING OFF' IS HECTIC TIME AT HOLLENBACKS

The Hollenbacks were "sugaring off" yesterday. They have done it each spring for 100 years and expect to be doing it for the next century.

In a tiny and ancient slab sided shack, Jerry Hollenback, 33, stirred long pans of steaming maple sirup heating on top of a 12 foot brick oven. Inside the oven was a roaring fire of oak, hickory and apple logs.

Outside George, 29, was gathering the clear maple sap from hundreds of buckets hanging to the maple trees in the 50 acre grove which his great-grandfather had planted more than 100 years ago, near Millington, in Kendall county.

The two brothers have tapped 700 trees out of the 900 in the grove this year. They expect to harvest from 75 to 100 gallons of sirup. Fifty gallons of sap make one of sirup, George explained. From sap to sirup takes about 12 hours, Jerry said. One good tree will give a bucket of sap a day.

Bandit Who Robbed Own Father Gets 10 Year Term

Salvadore Cruz, 24, of 913 Blue Island av., charged with stealing $291 and a watch from his father, Jose, and accused of committing an armed robbery, was sentenced to 10 years in prison as a habitual criminal yesterday by Chief Justice Benjamin P. Epstein in Criminal court. Cruz was waiting to testify when his lawyer withdrew a plea of not guilty and admitted his client was a thief. Unmoved, Jose Cruz stood silent as the sentence was imposed.

AGRICULTURAL DEFERMENTS.

As indicated in recent news stories, agriculture, like industry and the government, "will have to yield its share of men for the services, particularly young men under 26 years of age." The pertinent sections of the regulations were amended on Feb. 14, 1944, and these sections have been supplemented by various state memorandums of that date and later.

The first important change in the regulations [Sec. 622.25] instructs local boards "to immediately reopen the classifications of all registrants now in Class II-C in sequence of order numbers" to determine if such registrants are still eligible for that classification. If they are, "they shall be retained in that class." The question immediately arises, "What are the conditions set out for retention in Class II-C?" A registrant shall be entitled to remain in Class II-C if [1] "He is, or but for seasonal or temporary interruption would be" employed full time in essential agricultural production or agricultural endeavor; [2] "his removal would cause a serious loss of effectiveness therein; [3] he cannot be replaced, and [4] he is producing a minimum of 16 war units of essential production by his own personal and direct efforts." Also there must be in his file "a current Agricultural Questionnaire [State Form AQ-44] based on 1944 farm plans if the registrant claims to be an experienced farm worker" entitled to a II-C classification. As yet, however, nothing appears in the regulations or memorandums restricting agricultural deferment to men over 26 years of age.

The second important change is found in Sec. 622.25-1 [b]. "Class II-C deferments shall be for a period of six months or less. At the expiration of the period of the registrant's deferment, his classification shall be reopened. But "so long as the registrant is necessary to and regularly engaged in an agricultural occupation or endeavor essential to the war effort and until a satisfactory replacement of such registrant can be obtained, the registrant shall be retained in Class II-C at the end of each successive period for which he has been deferred in such class."

The third important change occurs in Section 622.31-2 which states: [a] No registrant shall hereafter be placed in Class III-C; [b] as soon as the local board has completed the reopening and reconsideration of all registrants in Class II-C, it shall reopen in sequence of order numbers the classification of all registrants who at that time are in Class III-C and they shall then be classified anew. But, in classifying such registrants anew, it shall first be determined whether such registrants shall be classified in Class II-C before classifying such registrants in Class I-A, I-AO, etc.

Note: A schedule of war unit production values is now available from this department on request if a large self-addressed envelope is sent.

GUNMAN ENACTS ROAD SLAYING OF INSURANCEMAN

Oliver Wendell Martin, 21, a Negro, of 3915 South Park way, who confessed the slaying of Karl Braband, an insurance agent, last Tuesday, reënacted the crime for police yesterday as preparations were made to resume the coroner's inquest this afternoon. Martin was booked on charges of murder, armed robbery, and larceny of an automobile, and will appear in Felony court today.

As demonstrated by Martin, Braband was robbed of $51, forced to drive outside the city limits on 104th st., and shot when he lunged for Martin's gun. Braband's body rolled into a ditch, where Martin said he fired another shot into the dead man's back.

INCREASED COST OF POSTAL ORDER BOON TO BANKS

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—One hundred million new green 8 cent airmail stamps have been delivered to the postoffices to go on sale Sunday when the increased postal rates become effective, a spokesman for Postmaster Gen. Walker said today.

The new stamps are identical in design, size, and arrangement with the rose colored 6 cent airmail stamps which they replace.

Department Problem Solved.

The increase in mail rates and charges for other postal services ordered by congress in the new tax bill have proved a boon to banks and appears to have saved the postoffice department from an embarrassing situation, it was said. Because of the paper shortage the department has been unable to meet demands of local postmasters for postal money order blanks.

But the tax bill has saved the day for the postoffice department, the official said. It increases postal money order rates approximately 66⅔ per cent, practically tossing the money order business into the laps of the bankers, whose rates remain unchanged.

Business Runs Into Billions.

The postoffice department spokesman said the bankers quickly discovered this opportunity in the lucrative multi-billion dollar money order business. A Washington bank offers a $10 to $60 money order for 10 cents while the postoffices must charge 22 to 30 cents. A $60 money order at the bank would cost 15 cents and 34 cents at the postoffice. More than 346 million postal money orders were sold last year.

Mail rates that go up Sunday include: Airmail, from 6 to 8 cents; Intercity mail, from 2 to 3 cents; parcel post rates, up at least 1 cent on every parcel, the law requiring the rates be increased 1 cent or 3 per cent, whichever is the greater, and registered mail rates up 33⅓ per cent. Insured and collect on delivery fees will be doubled.

FINED IN RAPE ATTEMPT CASE.

Steve Ardelian, 60, of 1635 Clybourn av. was fined $5 and $5 costs by Judge Cecil Smith in Felony court yesterday on a charge of assault and battery signed by a 43 year old woman who said he attempted to rape her in his home.

A Sophistry.

"It matters not at all what you believe Provided that you live a life of truth."
This is a fallacy that may deceive
The unreflecting grownup and the youth;
If you believe that arsenic is good,
That it will make your body hard and strong,
Will you not eat it as a wholesome food
And die because what you believed was wrong?

And so if you believe a thing to be
A virtue that is patently a vice,
Will you not live in immorality
Until your sin exacts its awful price?
The way you live depends on your belief

Jazbo's Journal.

Home Sweet Home note: "Workers in army ordnance explosive plants are 4.2 per cent safer than they are in their own homes, according to recent safety statistics"—news item. The little woman of the house isn't going to care for that sort of publicity, at all.

An "able bodied woman defense worker" has been ordered in Los Angeles to pay her ailing husband $16 a month until he recovers or dies. Well, men, at long last we're beginning to get a few of those equal rights women are always yammering about.

Such Is Life.

Why is it when the weather's good
And I would be outside,
Then I must work within four walls
My patience sorely tried.
But when the sunshine disappears
There's rain . . . or ice . . . or snow . . .
I haven't then a thing to do,
I'm ALWAYS free to go.
Why is it when the house is straight
And not a job undone,
And I am well prepared for guests . . .
No friends arrive . . . not one,
But . . . let there be some dust around
And I'm a sorry sight,
The door bell rings . . . and there they are . . .
They come from noon till night.
But there's no use to throw a fit,
We have to make the best of it.

RESUME FIGHT TOMORROW FOR ASSIGNMENTS

Team Berths Still Are Undecided.

Sports Preview

ARCH WARD'S Sports Preview, weekly feature on the Mutual network, will originate tonight for the second straight week in the studios of WOR, New York. The program will be aired over W-G-N from 9:15 to 9:30 p. m. Ken Powell, WOR staff announcer, will work with Ward on tonight's show.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago's intercity Golden Gloves squad, a confident, withal forewarned and forearmed batch of youngsters, this afternoon will head for the biggest assignment of their lives—the 17th annual battle against New York's best boxers in Madison Square Garden next Monday evening.

It's a busy departure day Coaches Issy Kline and Freddy Casserio have mapped out for these ambitious fellows who will carry into the Garden ring a remarkable record of nine Chicago victories and three ties in the preceding 16 years of the struggle between Chicago and New York.

They Must Be Up Early.

There'll be no boxing exercises today. The squad had a finishing fill of punching yesterday afternoon in the Illinois Athletic club gymnasium, where each was sent thru three furious rounds, maximum chore for the local training sessions.

The boys retired early last night, knowing that at 6 o'clock this morning they would be routed out of their beds by Kline and Caserio. They'll be given a half hour to dress and assemble in the library of the I. A. C. Then they'll hop across Michigan blvd. for their stiffest road workout of the year, a full hour of running thru Grant park.

Battle for Assignments.

At 2:30 p. m. the boys will board the New York Central's Commodore in the La Salle st. station, and are due to arrive in New York tomorrow morning. After checking into their hotel, they'll rest until the afternoon, when they will repair to Stillman's Eighth av. gymnasium for their first workout on the invasion grounds.

Beginning with last Wednesday's inaugural workout in the I. A. C. gym, the daily drills have increased in pace in the fight for those 16 Garden roles, but yesterday the action reached a new high, with runners-up and alternates, chosen off their performances in the recent Tournament of Champions and the March 10 finals, pounding each other thru three rounds.

Kinney, Baylark Battle Again.

The heavyweights started it, with Pvt. Ragon Kinney of Camp Callan, Cal., trading punches with Luke Baylark, giant Negro from Chicago's Savoy Athletic club. The intercity assignment is not a new one to Pvt. Kinney, who was a winning member of the Chicago team in 1939. Ray Standifer, 175 pound champion from Cleveland, divided his final three rounds, going two against Pvt. Vince Di Venti of Camp Ellis, Ill., and another round against Lawrence Watson of Omaha.

Two of the Chicago team's champions, Welterweight Levi Southall, Camp Ellis corporal, and Middleweight Collins Brown of the Catholic Youth organization, had at each other for three rounds. Major Jones, the 16 year old Kansas City Negro who won the featherweight Golden Glove, wound up with three fast rounds against Sgt. Gene Joyce, veteran lightweight from Camp Ellis. Joyce's rivals, Sgt. Manny Ortega of Fort Worth, Tex., and Del Cockayne of Cedar Rapids, then hopped into the ring. They were followed by Clayton Johnson of Sioux City, bantamweight champion, and Henry Sumi, the American born Japanese from the C. Y. O. Tommy Nate of the Gary Post-Tribune team, victor in the flyweight class in the Tournament of Champions, boxed with Frank O'Hern of Minneapolis and Pvt. Matt Hammond of Camp Ellis.

HAWKS MAKE GOAL LINE STAND

PLAN INTERCITY SHOW TELECAST

Radio Fans May Watch New York Bouts.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The intercity Golden Gloves bouts between Chicago and New York teams in Madison Square Garden, New York, Monday night, will be telecast as well as broadcast. The televising of the bouts will be done thru the National Broadcasting company's station WNBT. Cameras will pick up the fighters battling in the brilliantly lighted ring at 7:45 p. m. eastern time and continue until 11 or the conclusion of the show.

W-G-N-Mutual will broadcast the bouts, starting at 10 p. m., with Jack Brickhouse at the microphone.

Prelude to Post-War Expansion.

The eastern Tournament of Champions was televised in its entirety last week. Bob Stanton was at the mike providing the explanatory remarks as the pictures came thru.

"This was just a prelude to the telecasting of sports events after the war," the New York Daily News commented. "What only a few hundred pioneer television fans saw was a mere overture to what millions will see a few years from now."

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the New York Daily News are looking forward to the post-war era of television.

Boxing Easy to Televise.

In all likelihood boxing bouts, especially world championships, will become television features attracting the largest audiences after the war. Experiments conducted to date indicate that the action of the boxing ring readily can be captured by television cameras. Cameras can be so located that almost everything in the field of action can be picked up if the control men are deft enough in switching from one lens position to another.

Sgt. Savior Canadeo Is Married in Madison

Madison, Wis., March 21 [Special].—Sgt. Savior Canadeo, 1940 Chicagoland Golden Gloves welterweight champion, and Miss Audrey Town of 715 Dickenson st. in this city were married Saturday in St. Paul's chapel at the University of Wisconsin, it was announced today by the public relations office at nearby Truax field, where Canadeo is stationed.

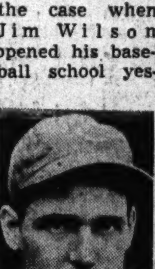
Cubs Get Brief Outdoor Drill; Nicholson, Pafko End Holdout

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., March 21.—Snow remnants continued to decorate the Cubs' training premises today, but as was the case when Jim Wilson opened his baseball school yesterday, the enrolled pupils gave freely to another demonstration of their hardiness. They worked out again both before and after lunch, their various exercises on the sheltered horse track being strenuous enough to induce a sweat despite an atmosphere that ranged between the 32 and 45 degree marks.

Andy Pafko.



Bill Nicholson.

A few uniforms draped upon a few athletes isn't quite sufficient to make up a baseball setting around a horse barn, but, nevertheless, Prof. Wilson refuses to be disturbed by the fact that what the natives term unseasonable weather has denied the boys access to their regular place of business, the diamond laid out on the golf course. Even if they were toiling on their own field the work would be no different. The field probably will be available in a couple of days, barring additional flurries.

Nicholson, Pafko Sign.

The holdout situation in which four of the boys were sparring with Vice President James Gallagher was reduced by half this afternoon. The Cub official phoned that Bill Nicholson, the regular right fielder, and Andy Pafko, the slugging, fly chasing rookie from Los Angeles, had come to terms and would endeavor to get themselves into camp by the week-end. This leaves Pitcher Jodie Phipps, also from Los Angeles, and Dominic Dallessandro the lone recalcitrants.

Just what Nicholson or Pafko, who led the Pacific Coast league in hitting, agreed was a wage in keeping with their artistic skill isn't known beyond the grapevine reports that the former had set a $17,500 price on his services. Nick is said to have laughed at an original $15,000 bid and then another to which a few hundred had been added. Presumably he decided to accept the latter before attracting too much attention.

Don Johnson Reports.

Only one missing member, Don Johnson, prospective second sacker, showed up today and of those who have signed but not appeared, Wilson is chiefly concerned with the whereabouts of Peanuts Lowrey, who probably is trying to find a spot aboard a train from the west coast. The manager's interest in this case is in Lowrey's reported third base ability as being proclaimed by Coach Roy Johnson.

Paul Derringer, who was hobbling on crutches as the result of an ankle sprain suffered yesterday on the horse track, was graduated to a cane this afternoon.

The first case of sniffles appeared today, the victim being Mickey Kreitner, up from Nashville to help the catching department. Mickey was running a temperature, so was confined to quarters and given sulpha treatment. As a matter of precaution he was removed to the Paoli hospital tonight.

SPUD CHANDLER MAY GAIN DELAY IN INDUCTION

Royston, Ga., March 21 (AP).—Spurgeon [Spud] Chandler of the New York Yankees, leading pitcher and most valuable player of the American league last season, has been ordered to report for induction April 14, his draft board disclosed today, but postponement appeared likely pending transfer proceedings.

Hoke Sewell, clerk of Royston board No. 1, said Chandler was summoned for limited service.

MIOLAND BREAKS DOWN; WILL BE RETIRED TO FARM

Miami, Fla., March 21 (AP).—Mioland, one of the top handicap horses in the country, has broken down and will be retired to his owner's California farm, it was announced at Tropical Park today.

Mioland, now 7 years old, won 18 of his 50 starts and earned $244,270 for Charles S. Howard before breaking down at Columbus, S. C., while preparing for the recent Widener handicap at Hialeah.

WHIMSICAL SUN SMILES ON SOX

Weather May Permit Game with Tigers.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., March 21.—The sun busted out this afternoon just as Manager Jim Dykes was about to call the Detroit Tigers in Evansville, Ind., and tell them that the White Sox would not be on hand to play the game scheduled for next Saturday afternoon. There still is no assurance the Sox exhibition season will open on that date, but thermometer readings as high as 39 degrees prompted Dykes to delay his cancellation chat.

The monotony of the convention hall calisthenics gave Dykes a chance to settle down to his favorite recreation—talking.

For instance, Jimmy says, he will use Johnny Dickshot regularly in left field. The Waukegan Apollo was obtained from Hollywood on what is known as a "look" basis—that is, so much down and so much more if he is retained.

Moses Seeks New Mark.

Ed Carnett, one time Cub lefty pitcher, probably will start the season in center field, tho he may be supplanted in that spot by Wally Moses, who will be eager to start another battle for base stealing supremacy. Wally swiped 56 bases last season and wants to play a full schedule in an effort to top that fine mark.

Ralph Hodgin is slated for right field. Of the players remaining on the active list in the American letgue, Ralph is the top slugger.

Myril Hoag, who was in the army last season, arrived today and must be given consideration.

Hal Trosky, former Cleveland first baseman, recently classified 4-F, is due tomorrow or next day, but will not be taken to Evansville.

Dykes now thinks Leroy Schalk, another army dischargee, will be his second baseman. Nevertheless he has the veteran Tony Cuccinello bearing down if the skipper changes his mind on Schalk.

Skeeter Webb is scheduled to be the regular shortstop. Today Dykes warned Webb not to lose more than two or three ounces during the training season. Today Skeeter weighed 148 pounds with his snowshoes on.

Grey Clarke at Third.

Grey Clarke, who batted .346 for Milwaukee last season, is a cinch to play third, Dykes indicated. Clarke is 31, but right sprightly. Cass Kwietniewski, another candidate for the third base job, said today he planned to shorten his name to Kwiet. Seems like a good idea.

There is to be no change in the catcher rankings. Mike Tresh will be the first string receiver and Vince Castino his alternate. Tom Turner is here to battle it out with P. R. Thaxton Jr. for fourth string honors.

Thornton Lee, Bill Dietrich, Johnny Humphries, Buck Ross, and Orval Grove, pitching veterans, have been working earnestly. Others counted upon for the newcomer detachment are Ed Lopat, Bob Mistele, and Tony Annoreno. Annoreno is fresh from 12 months on Guadalcanal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 21.—The Chicago Blackhawks waited four years to score a victory on Olympia ice and they couldn't have picked a better spot than tonight in this opening game of the first round of the Stanley cup play-offs of the National Hockey league. They waited so long that 10,897 fans thought it was to be the same old story. Behind, 1 to 0, with less than 13 minutes remaining, the Hawks struck twice in 44 seconds, then successfully protected their lead for a 2 to 1 triumph over the Detroit Red Wings.

They had last been victorious in Detroit on March 15, 1940. In the interim the Red Wings had won 19 games while magnanimously allowing the Hawks to skate off with a couple of ties. Tonight they did it without Art Wiebe, star defense man who was left in Chicago for hurry-up treatment on a bruised shoulder.

Howe Scores for Wings.

Before the game, Manager Paul Thompson had said the Hawks had to win either tonight or Thursday in the second game, to take this four-of-seven series from the Wings. That one victory, he declared, would be enough for the Hawks to wrap up the series in at least six games, then challenge the winner of the Montreal-Toronto series for the battered Stanley cup.

The Wings scored their one goal on Mike Karakas while the Hawks were shorthanded. At 11 minutes of the second period, little Bill Mosienko was sent off the ice for cross-checking. For more than a minute the Hawks repulsed a savage four man attack on their bastion. Then, at 12:18, Joe Carveth shot from about 45 feet out, straight at the goal. Syd Howe, a teammate, was there, and he nudged in the puck.

Bentley Breaks Tie.

Coming out for the third period, the Red Wings tried to do little more than protect their slim lead and were doing it successfully until the sudden Chicago outburst. Big Joe Cooper wound up and clubbed the puck toward the net. Clint Smith took aim and Goalie Connie Dion sprawled to make the save. The rubber bounced into the clear and Mosienko was there to push it in with Dion completely out of the play. The time was 7:12.

The tie breaker developed when Doug Bentley took a pass at mid-ice from Smith and skated in a weaving pattern right up to the net, where Dion was waiting for him in a sitting posture. Bentley gently poked the puck under Dion's outstretched arms just 44 seconds after the tying goal.

Now it was the Hawks' turn to stop the furious Detroit attacks. Most of them were broken up before the Red Wing forwards could aim at the Chicago goal. At one juncture, Cooper threw himself in front of a shot out in front of the nets and three minutes before the finish Karakas survived two successive shots as he was sprawled on the rink.

Few Penalties Called.

Karakas had 19 saves to Dion's 17. Until the Hawks' lightning like double strike, most of the play had been in Chicago territory. The Wings had bottled up the league leading scoring Chicago line of Bentley, Smith, and Mosienko.

With Wiebe sidelined, Johnny Gottselig was returned to active

TIGERS MAY OPEN SEASON WITH 3 EX-ATHLETICS

Swift, Hefner, and Mayo Appear Certain Starters.

Evansville, Ind., March 21 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers have reached the point where they are getting talent from Connie Mack, whose teams have occupied the American league cellar since 1939.

At least three members of the 1943 Philadelphia Athletics are likely to be in Detroit's opening day lineup next month—Bob Swift behind the plate, Don Hefner at second base, and Eddie Mayo at shortstop. For the other six positions Manager Steve O'Neill has holdovers from the Detroit club that finished fifth.

Unless there are further military calls before April 18 the Tigers probably will start with Paul [Dizzy] Trout, a 20-game winner, on the mound; Rudy York at first base and Pinky Higgins at third base, and Jimmy Outlaw, Rogers Cramer, and Don Ross, reading from left to right, in the outfield. Swift, Trout, and Outlaw are 4-F, and Cramer is over age. Besides Trout, O'Neill has Hal Newhouser, Frank Overmire, and Ruffus Gentry, who are 4-F in the draft and slated for starting assignments. If he's available, Johnny Gorsica may be the fifth member of the staff.

The Tigers plan to play an intrasquad game tomorrow.

JAYS TRAIN ON STAIRS.

Wilmington, Del., March 21 (AP).—Manager Fred Fitzsimmons had the Philadelphia Blue Jays flying—up the stairs at the state armory—when cold weather kept his squad indoors again today.

Fitzsimmons claims that running up and down stairs is one of the best conditioners, tho he didn't participate himself.

MACK PRAISES KELL.

Frederick, Md., March 21 (AP).—Georgie Kell, assigned to the third base spot with the Philadelphia Athletics, led all professional baseball in hitting when he batted .396 for Lancaster of the Interstate league last season, but Connie Mack is impressed most by his fielding.

WHO'LL MANAGE GIANTS?

Lakewood, N. J., March 21 (AP).—The big question in the New York Giants' training camp is who will succeed Mel Ott if he goes to the army. There have been as many answers as questions, ranging all the way from Coaches Dolf Luque and Clarence Jonnard as co-pilots to Billy Jurges, Gabby Hartnett, Carl Hubbell, and Gus Mancuso.

Co-managers may be as good an answer as any because President Horace Stoneham has stipulated that the job will belong to Ott after the war and Mel will name his successor if the draft board passes him next week.

CHIPMAN IN DODGER FOLD.

Bear Mountain, N. Y., March 21 (AP).—Bob Chipman, whose left handed shoots brought him 15 victories with Montreal of the International league last season, signed his Brooklyn Dodger contract today and reduced the club's list of unsigned players to six. Chipman is 4-F in the draft.

REDS GAIN AND LOSE.

Bloomington, Ind., March 21 (AP).—Military developments held the center of the stage today as the Cincinnati Reds, kept inside by the weather, worked indoors.

Two discharged service men showed up: Mike Kosman of Detroit, an ex-marine and infielder, and Kermit Wahl, 21, third baseman recently released from the army.

On the debit side of the ledger: Max Marshall, veteran outfielder, left for Sidney, Ia., for his army test; Pitcher Clyde Shoun took his test in Tennessee, and Pitcher Elmer Riddle, the team's only 20 game winner last year, is due to appear before an army doctor tomorrow in Columbus, Ga.

SENATORS LOSE OFFICIAL.

College Park, Md., March 21 (AP).—The Washington Senators have lost their vice president to the army. Calvin Griffith, nephew of the club president, passed the physical examination yesterday.

STEPHENS HOLDS OUT.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., March 21 (AP).—Don Gutteridge, the Pittsburg, Kas., school teacher, arrived in the Browns' training camp today and Manager Luke Sewell's squad rose to 13 players. Shortstop Junior Stephens was in St. Louis talking to General Manager Bill De Witt, but did not sign his contract today.

MAY ENLARGES FIELD IN WORLD TITLE GOLF MEET

George S. May, president of the Tam o' Shanter Country club, yesterday announced he will hold a world's championship golf event at the northwest side course on Sept. 3, 4, and 5. The tourney will consist of 54 holes of medal play, 18 a day, and will be an enlargement of the title play-off he held last October between Jug McSpaden, winner of the 1943 Tam o' Shanter Open, and Sammy Byrd, victor in the Chicago Victory National Open.

PURDUE RELAYS DRAW ALL BIG 10 TRACK WINNERS

Lafayette, Ind., March 21 [Special].—A field of 186 athletes from 19 schools, including newly crowned champions in all events in the Big Ten indoor meet, comprises the entry list of the second annual Purdue relays to be held here Saturday, it was announced today by Hermon Phillips, Boilermaker coach and relays director.

Purdue Enters 27.

With the exception of the host school, Purdue, which has entered 27 men, Michigan, favorite to unseat Notre Dame as the champion in the university division, heads the entry list with 26 men.

Next in line comes a strong Iowa Pre-Flight squad of 23 men which includes Bob Steuber, former Missouri football and track star; Leonard Alkon, 1943 Big Ten sprint champion, and Tom Judge, former Indiana middle distance and distance star. Other entries in the university division are: Notre Dame, 16; Illinois, 14; Indiana, 9; Northwestern, 7; Wisconsin, 6; Chicago, 6; Marquette, 3; Minnesota, 2.

List 14 Events.

Eight schools are entered in the college division, where Miami, the defending champion, and Western Michigan are expected to fight it out for the team trophy. The defending champions head the entry list with 16 athletes, closely followed by Western Michigan with 14. Other entries in the college division are: Indiana State, six; Oberlin, five; Central Normal, two; Lawrence, two, and Illinois Tech and Rose Poly, one each.

GIRLS TO SHARE IN PREP BASKET DOUBLE HEADER

Plans for the selection of four senior high school girls to participate in ceremonies of the second annual Mayor Kelly all-city champion basketball double header in Chicago Stadium on April 8 were discussed yesterday at a luncheon which preceded the formation of the Prep Writers' Association of Chicago.

The Rev. James McDonnell, C. M., president of the Catholic league; the Rev. Terence Fitzgerald, athletic director of Mount Carmel High school; August Pritzlaff, athletic director of the board of education, and Jack Anderson were among the officials of the benefit in attendance.

Two girls will be selected from the senior classes at South Shore and Parker High schools. The representatives of Mount Carmel and Weber High schools of the Catholic league will be selected thru a contest held in the 25 Catholic girl high schools of the city. A south side girl will represent Mount Carmel and a senior from a north side girls' school will represent Weber.

ELKHORN PLAYS BASEBALL.

Harlem, Stars, Cleveland Win in Pro Tourney

Pro Tourney

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.
Cleveland Chase Brass, 55; Indianapolis Pure Oils, 52.
Oshkosh All-Stars, 51; Rochester Wings, 40.
Harlem Globe Trotters, 41; Pittsburgh Corbetts, 40.

Cleveland Chase Brass, Oshkosh All-Stars, and the Harlem Globetrotters advanced to the quarter-finals of the sixth annual professional basketball tournament last night in Chicago Stadium. Cleveland beat the Indianapolis Pure Oils, 55 to 52; Oshkosh defeated Rochester Wings, 51 to 40, and Harlem Globetrotters beat the Pittsburgh Corbetts, 41 to 40, before a crowd of 8,200 fans.

Mel Riebe, Cleveland forward, scored 27 points to set a new tournament record. In the 1940 meet, Wibs Kautz of the Chicago Bruins twice totalled 24 for the previous record. Cleveland trailed at the half, 27 to 26, but took a third period lead of 36 to 33 and maintained the advantage in the last quarter.

Le Roy [Cowboy] Edwards, veteran Oshkosh center, paced the All-Stars with 20 points. The Wisconsin team led thru the last two periods after gaining a half time advantage of 28 to 21. Tommy Reich got eight points for the Rochester team.

The Globe Trotters led at halftime, 28 to 21, and were in front by from three to seven points during most of the second half, but the Corbetts rallied late in the game, and with four minutes to go took a 39 to 38 lead. With two minutes to play the score was tied at 39 to 39. A basket by Bernie Price clinched the game for the Globe Trotters. Price led the scoring with 17 points.

DE PAUL'S MIKAN OPPOSES 7 FOOT CENTER TONIGHT

New York, March 21 (AP).—Madison Square Garden couldn't move to the mountains, so they are moving in a pair of mountains—7 foot Bob Kurland and 6 foot 9 inch George Mikan—to play center for two college basketball teams in the semi-final round of the National Invitational tournament tomorrow night.

Kurland is the top man, from a size standpoint, for the Oklahoma A. & M. five that defeated Canisius last night, 43 to 29, while Mikan is the star of the De Paul quintet which ousted Muhlenberg, 68 to 45, last Thursday.

Their meeting completely overshadows the equally important clash between St. John's of Brooklyn, defending champion, and Kentucky in the program's opening game.

Hawks Beat Wings, 2-1, in Cup Opener

status and this gave the Hawks two players who had participated in the team's Stanley cup championship victory over the Wings in 1934. The other one was Mush March, who had his usual busy evening.

It was a roughly played contest, but the penalties were few. The Hawks had a chance in the second period when first Flash Hollett, then Adam Brown, were sent to the penalty box for two minutes. In the last 20 seconds of this period the Hawks had their best scoring opportunity when Bentley fired at close range, with Dion spearing the puck as he fell.

LEAFS, 3; CANADIENS, 1

MONTREAL, Que., March 21 (AP).—The Toronto Maple Leafs, who finished third in the National Hockey league's regular season, tonight upset the first place Montreal Canadiens, 3 to 1, in the first game of their best four of seven semi-final Stanley cup play-off series. It was the first defeat for the Canadiens at home this season.

A near sellout crowd of 10,800 saw the Canadiens, victorious over the Leafs seven times during the regular season, pin the Toronto team inside its own blue line for much of the game, only to be turned back time and again by the staunch defensive play of Toronto's goalie, Paul Bibeault.

Elwin Morris paced the Toronto attack that brought two goals in the first period and another in the second before the Canadiens made their only score in the third. He collected the first goal on a solo effort, grabbing the puck from a face-off near the Canadien net and whipping it past Goalie Bill Durnan. Morris set up the second goal on a close-in pass to George Boothman in front of the net.

Canadiens Get Awards.

Toronto went three up in the second, on the only goal of the night scored while both teams were at full strength, Jackie Hamilton taking a pass from Babe Pratt and firing the goal.

The Canadiens connected for their only goal early in the third, when Elmer Lach speared a loose puck near the Canadien net and rifled a pass to toe Blake who out-distanced all pursuit to skate in for a shot past Bibeault.

Between periods, the Canadiens were presented the Prince of Wales cup for leading the league in the regular season and Durnan was awarded the Vezina trophy as the top in goalkeeper. Lineups:

Buck Newsom Rejected After Draft Physical

FORT JACKSON, S. C., March 21 (AP).—The post public relations office said today that Louis Norman [Buck] Newsom, pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, had been rejected for army service.

HARRISON'S 275 WINS CHARLOTTE OPEN GOLF MEET

Charlotte, N. C., March 21 (AP).—Dutch Harrison, sergeant in the army air forces, today won the Charlotte Open golf tournament beating Jug McSpaden by a stroke with a 72 hole total of 275.

McSpaden made a great bid with a closing 70, two under par, but Harrison had enough left to get home in 73, despite slicing out of bounds on the 71st hole.

Drives Out of Bounds.

On the par five 17th, with Dutch one stroke ahead, two holes to go, and thousands of fans lining the fairway, Harrison hit his tee shot into the road parallel, out of bounds. After this he played the second ball for a fine four on the 500 yard hole. McSpaden, just off the green in two shots, chipped short and needed two putts.

On the 18th Harrison hit the back of the green for a sure 3 and McSpaden chipped close for no better than a possible half. Harrison's rounds of 66—70—66—73 gave him top money, a $2,000 war bond.

McSpaden, leading winner of the winter tour, never was over par, with rounds of 67—71—68—70—276, but he never was ahead of Harrison. McSpaden's second prize was $1,500. Byron Nelson, back on his game, equaled Harrison's course record 66s and slid into third place at 279.

Wood Is Fourth.

Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., had 70 on the closing stretch for a 281 and fourth place, and Sam Byrd, the navy bound former Yankee outfielder, finished with a 73 for 283. The leaders:

E. J. Harrison, Greensboro, N. C.	202	73	275
Jug McSpaden, Philadelphia, Pa.	206	70	276
Byron Nelson, Toledo, O.	213	66	279

MEISTER BRAUS RISK BOWLING LEAD TONIGHT

Bill Hargadon's Meister Braus, city and Victory team champions, who won the first half rolling in the Classic Bowling league, tonight will attempt to add to their one game lead in the season's second phase. The Meisters will meet Stan Rudcki's United States Brewery team, which may afford considerable opposition. The league tonight will gather at the Marigold Arcade, 838 W. Grace st.

In the other two matches tonight, the second place Washington Shirts will battle the Monarch Beers, while Thompson's Restaurants, deadlocked with the Monarchs for third place, will engage the National Bowling Equipment team.

JOINS EASTERN CLUB.

Binghamton, N. Y., March 21 [AP].—Thomas J. Grace, 19, a left handed pitcher from Philadelphia, has been signed by the Triple Cities Eastern league baseball club. He was recommended by Paul Krichell, chief scout for the New York Yankees.

COURT DECISION HITS PLAN FOR CITY AIRPORTS

25 Illinois Projects Are Affected by Ruling.

Springfield, Ill., March 21 (AP).—Airport plans of at least 25 Illinois cities sustained a sharp setback today when the state Supreme court ruled unconstitutional a new law under which they could have collaborated with neighboring governmental units in establishing airport authorities.

The tribunal declared proposed airports under the law known as the 1943 airport authorities act would be private rather than public in purpose, and that therefore the entire act is invalid.

Decision Is Surprise.

The airport decision surprised advocates of the plan chiefly because it was so sweeping. Attorneys for the Springfield airport authority, which was preparing to build a $3,000,000 airport on 1,000 acres north of the capital city, announced immediately they would ask a rehearing.

Rockford and Freeport also had voted to build landing fields under the law. Among cities listed as having taken preliminary steps in similar moves were Danville, Kankakee, Centralia, East St. Louis, Collinsville, Granite City, Alton, Wood River, Joliet, Galesburg, Jacksonville, Moline, Rock Island, Cairo, and Waukegan.

"Serve No Public Purpose."

"Such facilities will serve no public purpose whatever," the court asserted.

"The public would have no more right to use the airport facilities belonging to the authority than it would to use those constructed and operated by a private corporation as a private enterprise."

The authority's powers, the court, re "in no sense governmental. They are purely private."

Attorneys for the Springfield authority suggested the reasoning in the opinion cast doubt upon validity of similar legislation—such as that permitting county airports to be established thru county taxation, and the 1941 aviation district act which has not been used to date.

SOCIALIZATION OF DOCTORS HIT BY ATTY. WHAM

The pending senate bill which would socialize medical practice in the United States was assailed last night as the first step in the regimentation of all private enterprise by Benjamin Wham, Chicago attorney and past president of the Illinois State Bar association.

Atty. Wham spoke before the Lake County Medical society in Waukegan. He asserted that the bill concerns all liberty loving citizens, because if we can socialize medicine it will be only at matter of time before we socialize law and all other private enterprise."

He said that no other nation plans anything like the measure, known as the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill, except Russia, "which exercises complete control of medicine, as well as everything else."

He said it would deprive doctors, patients, and hospitals of any choice in any matter pertaining to medical treatment or practice, and would transform physicians into "either unambitious federal employes or politically ambitious doctors."

FIND 14TH BODY, HUNT 7 MORE IN PLUNGE OF BUS

Passaic, N. J., March 21 (AP).—A fourteenth body was recovered and a tentative list of seven missing persons was established today as police and Red Cross workers sought to learn the death toll in the plunge of a bus into the Passaic river.

Six passengers, the only survivors of the bus, and two rescue workers were reported in good condition in hospitals today.

Bodies of nine of the dead were recovered shortly before 10 p. m. last night when the bus was hoisted from the river bottom to the deck of a barge by a 40 ton construction crane. Bodies of two women passengers were recovered from the river earlier, and a third died shortly after being taken to a near-by war plant for treatment.

Divers who looked over the vehicle at the river bottom late yesterday had estimated there were about 25 bodies inside.

COUNCIL PAYS A TRIBUTE TO W. H. THOMPSON

The city council in a resolution yesterday expressed a "deep sense of loss" in the death of William Hale Thompson, former mayor of Chicago, who died Sunday night in the Blackstone hotel.

The resolution, introduced by Ald. Bowler [25th], sketched Mr. Thompson's long political career and extended sympathy to his family. Bowler also eulogized him in a speech, as did four men who served as aldermen in Mr. Thompson's administration. They were Sheriff Mulcahy, Bailiff Horan, John Toman of the board of tax appeals, and Thomas J. Bowler, clerk of Criminal court.

Services for Mr. Thompson will be held at 2 p. m. today in Thoburn Methodist church, 1708 W. 64th st. Interment will be in Oak Woods cemetery. Mayor Kelly said yesterday he planned to attend.

OPA RULES SHUT CO-OP CREAMERY AFTER 33 YEARS

Unfair Ceilings Are Blamed in Closing.

Caledonia, Mich., March 21 [Special].—A coöperative creamery which has been making butter since 1911 with cream supplied by about 200 farmer stockholders closed its doors here today. Arthur W. Schantz, president, said the creamery was a victim of office of price administration ceiling prices and that it could no longer buy the cream with which to stay in business.

Directors of the coöperative met Saturday and voted to dissolve their organization and liquidate the plant, Schantz said. At the end only 30 farmers remained as patrons of the creamery, it was said, others having been lured away by higher prices paid by condensories.

Ceilings Are Blamed.

Fred W. Ruehs, 89, first president of the coöperative, who managed its business during the first World war and is still a director, said disproportionate ceiling prices between what creameries are allowed to pay for butterfat and condensories may pay for whole milk are stripping creameries of their source of supply and threatening their existence thruout the state.

"The ceiling price on butter is 45.13 cents per pound in cartons, and the price we are allowed to pay farmers for butterfat is 54 cents a pound," Ruehs said. "We figure that four pounds of butterfat makes five pounds of butter, and the difference is our operating margin.

"The condensories, however, are paying $2.70 per 100 pounds for whole milk and it figures out that a farmer can get about 91 cents per 100 pounds more for his milk by selling it to condensories than by separating his cream for sale to a creamery. This is such a big margin that farmers can no longer afford to use their skimmed milk as feed for hogs and other live stock."

Expects Other Closings.

Ruehs said the OPA price scale indicated a New Deal plan to discourage farmers from feeding milk to stock and to induce them to use cheaper feeds.

"In the other war," he said, "creameries kept their business by keeping up with condensory prices. Butter was 70 cents a pound, and the farmers were paid enough so they kept us supplied."

He predicted that several other small creameries in the vicinity will be going out of business soon unless prices are readjusted.

MRS. MARY KING DIES ON VISIT TO DAUGHTERS

Mrs. Mary McMahon King, mother of Mrs. Joseph Medill Patterson, whose husband is publisher of the New York Daily News, died yesterday in the Riverdale [N. Y.] home of two of her daughters, Lulu and Loretta King, where she was visiting.

Mrs. King, widow of Dr. William King, Chicago physician who died in 1912, was a resident of Chicago from early childhood. The couple had seven children, and their four sons all served in World War I. William was in the air force, and John, Francis, and Kyran served in the 149th field artillery of the Rainbow division. John and Kyran died several years ago. In that war Mrs. King was active in various church and home front organizations.

Besides her three daughters and two living sons, Mrs. King is survived by six grandchildren. A seventh grandchild, Pvt. Richard King of the army, died last summer at Camp Wallace, Tex.

Services will be held Friday from her home at 1327 Pratt blvd. to St. Ignatius church, where a requiem mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a. m. Interment will be in Mount Carmel cemetery.

MAYTAG CO.

Kindly send an analysis of the Maytag company. M. P.

Answer: The company, incorporated in 1921 as successor to a business started in 1893, is one of the largest producers of electric and gasoline powered washing machines. Electric ironers also are manufactured. Annual capacity of the Maytag plants at Newton, Ia., is about 600,000 machines.

Manufacture of washers and ironers was suspended in April, 1942, on government orders, and the company is now engaged in war work.

Maytag's sales and earnings since 1929 have never approached that year's figures of $25,625,557 and $6,838,884, respectively. After a slump in 1942, however, sales recovered last year to $15,686,417, and net income, subject to renegotiation, amounted to $1,237,766, equal to 15 cents a share on the common stock. Net earnings for 1942 totaled $703,459, and were not sufficient to cover dividend requirements on the preference stock.

Maytag has no funded debt, the capitalization consisting solely of 32,210 shares of $6 dividend no par first preferred stock, 265,686 shares of $3 no par preference, and 1,617,921 shares of no par common. Dividends of $2 a share were paid in 1942 and 1943 on the $3 stock, leaving arrears of $2 a share. Common stockholders have received dividends in three out of the last 13 years. The last payment was 15 cents a share in 1940.

A strong financial position has been maintained.

GRAINS ADVANCE AS MAY WHEAT NEARS MAXIMUM

Increasing scarcity of cash grain was reflected yesterday in advancing prices for futures on the Chicago Board of Trade. Short covering and closing of spreads at one time advanced May wheat ⅜ cent a bushel to $1.73⅛, or ¼ cent from the ceiling. Net gains were ¼ cent on May and ¾ to 1 cent on deferred deliveries.

In Kansas City and Minneapolis May wheat sold at the maximum permitted and closed at the top.

Rye rallied after an easy start and closed ½ to ⅝ cent higher. Oats gained ⅛ to ½ cent, with December selling at 75 cents. Barley was ¾ to 1 cent higher.

Tariff Waiver Plan Advanced.

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—The senate finance committee today ignored advice of government agencies and approved a bill to waive the duty on imports of grain from Canada for 90 days.

PRICE AVERAGE IN HOG MARKET FALLS 20 CENTS

Hog prices in the Chicago stock yards yesterday experienced the largest decline in more than four months as the market received for the first time since Feb. 11 more hogs than packers could handle. An estimated 8,000 were held over. The market average slumped 20 cents a hundred pounds.

Man power shortages at some of the smaller packing centers, coupled with the fact that packing plants in some parts of the country are endeavoring to return to an eight hour day, were factors in the new congestion.

Trading in cattle was slow at steady to weak prices. Sheep and lambs were steady.

SEC Postpones Hearing on Disciplining Dealers

Philadelphia, Pa., March 21 (AP).—The securities and exchange commission today authorized further postponement to April 12 of oral argument to review disciplinary action taken by the National Association of Security Dealers against members for alleged violation of price maintenance agreements in the December, 1939, offering of Public Service Company of Indiana bonds.

INVESTORS BID UP RAIL STOCKS TO 7 YEAR TOPS

Many Industrials Follow Upturn.

New York, March 21 (AP).—The stock market today was virtually an all-rail affair with widespread gains of fractions to about three points carrying many to new highs for seven years.

Rubber, liquor, utility preferred issues, and assorted specialties were strong at one time or another, but most failed to match the performance by rails. The rising trend developed after a hesitant start, with activity picking up as prices stiffened.

Revival of the carriers was attributed to investment demand based mainly on earnings and dividend prospects. Brokers reported a growing belief that, even with reduced net income, most roads would make a good showing after the war.

New Highs Numerous.

The Associated Press 60 stock average rose 0.3 point to 53.1 and the rail composite climbed 0.7 to 28.4, highest since October, 1937. Transfers totaled 1,464,470 shares compared with 1,196,210 yesterday.

At top levels for 1944 or longer were Erie, M-K-T preferred, K. C. Southern, Delaware and Hudson, Baltimore and Ohio common and preferred, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, New York Central, Western Union "A" and "B," Pure Oil, Standard Gas preferreds, Gimbel [on a boosted dividend], Fajardo Sugar, Goodrich and United States Rubber. Also higher were Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Westinghouse Electric, Johns-Manville, American Tobacco, Schenley, Chrysler, and Bethlehem.

RAIL BONDS RISE.

New York, March 21 (AP).—Revival of speculative activity among medium priced railroad issues and moderate investment interest in the higher rated groups combined to give the bond market substantial rising power today.

The Associated Press average of 20 rails was highest since 1937 at 86.1, up 0.3 point, and numerous individual issues changed hands in total amounts from $100,000 to $500,000. Sales of all bonds aggregated $14,071,400, the largest since Feb. 24.

United States government issues were quiet but steady.

CHICAGO LIST RALLIES.

Prices showed renewed strength on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, with 11 issues attaining new peaks for 1944. Chicago corporation continued the most active stock, and the price reached a new high on a turnover of 26,800 shares. Other volume leaders selling at higher prices were New York Central and Utah Radio Products. Commonwealth Edison closed unchanged.

NATIONAL TEA'S PROFIT CUT BY STORE PROGRAM

National Tea company could have shown larger profits in 1943 and 1942 if the management had not continued the modernization of its stores, the expense of which was charged against current income, John McKinlay, president, told stockholders at their annual meeting yesterday.

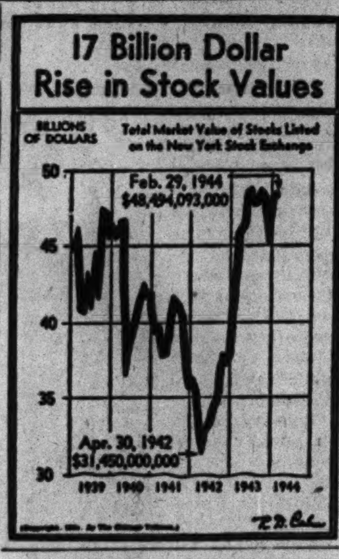
"From 1938 on we have paid more than $3,100,000 for repairs and modernization expense, all of which came out of earnings," he said. "During this period, we have paid out $2,950,000 for capital items such as store fixtures and equipment. Notwithstanding, our working capital has increased from $2,938,000 in 1938 to $5,260,000 at the end of 1943."

Sales, which totaled 55 million dollars in 1938, had risen to 91 million in 1943, and since Jan. 1 there has been a further increase of 4.8 per cent above the corresponding 1943 period, he said.

MIDLAND CLAIMS APPEAL DENIED AS 'FRIVOLOUS'

Philadelphia, Pa., March 21 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today penalized a committee of stockholders of Midland Utilities company for an appeal from an order of the federal District court of Delaware which the appeals bench termed "frivolous and taken for the purpose of delay." The court ordered the stockholders group to pay printing costs and an attorney's fee of $1,000 incurred by their opponents.

17 Billion Dollar Rise in Stock Values



Food Supplies May Be Equal to '43—Jones

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—Civilian food supplies this year may equal those of last year for most commodities, Marvin Jones, war food administrator, told a house agriculture appropriations subcommittee today. He said 75 per cent of last year's food production was allocated to civilians, 13 per cent to the army, and 12 per cent to allied nations.

This year, he said, civilians will get 73 per cent and possibly less, but production goals are higher—calling for 16 million additional acres, or 4 per cent above 1943.

Details 1944 Outlook.

Jones gave these details in the outlook for 1944 civilian supplies:

Milk—if present production trends continue, there probably will be 2 per cent less milk than in 1943.

Cheese—about 19 per cent less American cheese, 15 per cent less of other cheese.

Eggs—Two to three per cent more.

Chickens—Supplies about the same.

Fats and oils, including butter—Increase of 7 per cent, but civilian supplies may be slightly less because of military demands.

Canned vegetables—Three-fourths to four-fifths of the 1932-'43 consumption.

Jones said 1943 ended with the largest livestock inventory in history, with 3 per cent more cattle and 19 per cent more hogs, but 4 per cent fewer sheep and lambs than a year ago.

Many Problems Remain.

Most of the problems which confronted agriculture in 1943 still exist, including farm prices, man power, machinery, and supplies, Jones said.

Farm price supports were found essential in gettting the large production in 1943, he said, urging that congress continue that program. Support payments amounted to 350 million dollars in 1943, but Jones said they prevented a rise in prices.

Production of farm machinery is "in pretty good shape now," he said, and termed the fertilizer situation "good."

H. R. Tolley, head of the bureau of agricultural economics, said United States food production last year was adequate to feed 170 million people, and "if everything were available" in the way of machinery, equipment, and man power production could be boosted to feed 220 million two years from now.

People and Events

Problems confronting businessmen and methods of solving them will be discussed by Edward T. Ryerson, chairman of Inland Steel company, tonight at a dinner meeting of business executives studying in the evening program of the school of business, University of Chicago. The dinner will be held in the University club.

The highest 1943 award paid under the Pullman company's suggestion system went to W. J. Harris, an accountant in the Chicago general offices, who received $1,420 for an improvement in accounting practice. Seven Chicago area employes were among the winners of the 10 top awards.

John B. Parrish, former war labor board economist, yesterday became Chicago regional director for the United States department of labor's bureau of labor statistics. He will coördinate the gathering of price, wage, and employment data.

Dr. Nevin E. Funk, president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, will address the Chicago section of the institute tomorrow night in the Engineering building. Funk is vice president of the Philadelphia Electric company in charge of engineering and plant operation.

Samuel J. Walker, formerly of the Chicago Railway Equipment company, assistant to the president, has been elected vice president.

M'KELLAR ASKS CONGRESS RULE TVA'S RECEIPTS

Curbs on Agency's Powers Urged.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—Having invested nearly 1 billion dollars in the Tennessee Valley authority, congress should have the power to determine how TVA receipts should be spent, Sen. McKellar [D., Tenn.] told the senate today as debate opened on a $76,981,873 TVA appropriation.

Debate centered on an amendment offered by McKellar to the independent appropriations bill, in which the TVA appropriation is included, which would provide that all TVA receipts be paid into the general fund of the treasury, instead of into a special TVA fund on which the agency can draw for expenses.

Other amendments to the TVA section of the appropriation bill, all approved by the senate appropriations committee, included a prohibition against spending by TVA of government funds for any advertising except that required by law, a requirement that all employes earning more than $4,500 a year receive senate approval, and a rule against funds being used for political purposes.

Charges Review Avoided.

"Between 750 million and 1 billion dollars have been invested by congress in the TVA," McKellar asserted. "It is only reasonable that congress should at all times keep its authority over the TVA and determine how it will spend its funds. It wasn't until the TVA started to make money two years ago that its directors tried to avoid a review of their activities by congress."

David Lilienthal, chairman of the TVA, uses the prestige of his office for political purposes, Sen. Clark [D., Mo.] charged during the debate.

Sen. Stewart [D., Tenn.] asserted that Lilienthal on one occasion stated, "we have defeated them [TVA opponents] on the Washington front, now we'll watch out for the second front in Tennessee."

McKellar said that the "second front" meant that Lilienthal and his co-workers were waging a campaign in Tennessee to discredit him [McKellar] and to place financial control of TVA within the authority.

Hill Leads Opposition.

Opposition to McKellar's amendment was touched off by Sen. Hill [D., Ala.], who charged that if it is enacted every substantial decision of TVA operations would have to be made by congress.

"I cannot recall a more dangerous step toward centralization in Washington," Hill said. "Congress was established to determine the policies of government, not to decide technical questions."

Hill said the result of McKellar's amendment eventually would be to reduce TVA revenue, limit electrical power capacity below contractural requirements, jeopardize the continuity of electrical service in the TVA area, and hamper war production.

BONNEVILLE BIDS 90 MILLION FOR PUGET SOUND CO.

Seattle, Wash., March 21 (AP).—The Bonneville power administration announced today that it had presented a joint acquisition proposal to the Puget Sound Power and Light company to purchase all the company's electric properties for 90 million dollars.

Paul J. Raver, administrator, made the proposal to the company directors following the recent request of the city of Seattle and the Puget Sound public utility districts that the Bonneville administrator act as negotiating agent for the purchase of the company's properties.

War, It Seems, Changes Even Styles in Meat

Changing styles in meat packing brought about by war conditions were described yesterday by officials of Wilson & Co. at the annual meeting of stockholders.

Thomas E. Wilson, chairman, predicted that boneless beef will be an important commercial product after the war. Millions of pounds of beef from which bones, skin, and excess fat have been stripped are now being furnished by the packing industry to the military services and lend-lease.

Much Cargo Space Saved.

"It has meant a tremendous saving in storage and shipping space," Wilson said. "Furthermore, the by-products never leave the packing plant and are utilized."

Wilson predicted that much of the beef supplied to civilian trade after the war will be boned at the packing plant and shipped to butcher shops in 50 pound boxes as the army and navy now receive it. The saving in packing space, compared with the carcass form, is about 60 per cent.

Edward Foss Wilson, president of the company and son of the chairman, said the company is doing extensive research work in meat dehydration in connection with post-war planning.

New Packages Predicted.

"There will be many new meat products and new packaging styles introduced after the war," he said.

One of the company's most successful products is a dehydrated corned beef, the entire output of which is going to the military services.

"If domestic help is hard to obtain after the war, it is products of this type that will have a good market," Wilson said.

Shareholders were told of a "favorable trend" in tonnage sales and earnings in this fiscal year. No figures were released. Chairman Wilson said that under existing office of price administration regulations packers cannot operate fresh meat departments at a profit.

"Fair Profit" Unobtainable.

"With the government regulating prices at which we buy and fixing price ceilings under which we sell, there does not remain the 'margin of fair profit' guaranteed by the price stabilization act," he said.

Shareholders were told the company was not in a position to make a statement on common stock dividend prospects. Remaining dividend arrearages on the preferred stock were recently paid up and the stock is now on a current basis.

As reported earlier the company had gross sales of 522 million dollars in 1943 and net profit of $7,403,000. Profit equaled 1.39 per cent of sales.

OIL PRODUCTION TAX IN ILLINOIS KILLED BY COURT

Springfield, Ill., March 21 (AP).—The Illinois 3 per cent oil production tax, under which $9,500,000 had been paid under protest into the state treasury since July, 1941, was invalidated today by the state Supreme court.

The court ruled that the law lacked uniformity in its application. It said the act attempted to tax royalty owners as being engaged in the business of producing oil, and asserted many are not so engaged, "any more than a stockholder by accepting dividends from a corporation is in the corporate business."

The production tax had been challenged by several oil firms whose complaints were dismissed in Sangamon county Circuit court. The lower court's decree was reversed and remanded with directions to enter an order in favor of the oil firms, who sought to recover amounts paid under the levy.

INT. HARVESTER SALES AT PEAK; EARNINGS SLIP

15 Million Refunded to Government.

International Harvester company's net sales of $448,035,041 in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1943, were largest in the company's history, Fowler McCormick, president, reported yesterday in his annual statement to stockholders. This compared with $364,526,600 in the preceding fiscal year.

Profit in the 12 months was $25,692,944, equal to $4.70 a common share, against $26,746,552, or $4.95 a share, a year earlier. McCormick attributed the decline to the fact that sales of war products, on which the margin is low, amounted to $297,499,000, or 66.4 per cent of the total income.

Refunds Made to Government.

Net income was affected also by refunds of $15,418,000 made to the government as a result of voluntary price adjustments on war products. Total compensation of employes, exclusive of executive officers, was $166,911,000, or 36 millions above a year earlier.

The company transferred 20 million dollars from surplus to reserve for post-war rehabilitation and contingencies, but shifted back 18.8 millions from other reserve accounts. Net receivables as of Oct. 31 from regular customers totaling $18,050,000 were described as "the smallest in the company's history." Net working capital increased $14,491,000.

More Materials Authorized.

McCormick said the war production board recently authorized the use of 20 per cent more materials for production of farm equipment for the period from July 1, 1944, to June 30, 1945, than the schedules under which the company is now operating.

He said cancellation of the company's 217 million dollar tank contract was the largest industrial war production project terminated up to the date of the cancellation notification in March, 1943.

Twelve Harvester plants were engaged in various phases of the program, besides 437 subcontractors, whose commitments totaled 90 million dollars. To meet the problem both the ordnance department and the company created special organizations to work on the settlement. The company also set up a special war contract termination committee in its general office to coördinate the work.

Settlement Near, He Says.

The settlement of subcontractors' claims on the tank project is well toward completion, McCormick said. It is estimated that the grand total due the company from the government will be about 26.5 million dollars, exclusive of profit. The ordnance department has already advanced 16 million dollars as partial payment. The amount of profit will be a subject of negotiation, the report said.

"Late in 1943 we were informed by the war department that production of the 20 mm. aircraft cannon would be terminated Dec. 31, 1943, and we were also informed that production of the half track military vehicles would be terminated March 31, 1944," McCormick said.

The government has approved immediate construction of a new manufacturing building at the West Pullman works. The building, with 135,000 square feet of floor space, will approximately double the company's ball bearing capacity.

Sears Gives an Accounting to Employe Stockholders

Arthur S. Barrows.

Arthur S. Barrows, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., presented his annual accounting of company operations last night to his "big board of directors" about 1,400 employe-stockholders who met in Sears' west side headquarters," about 1,400 mailed to other stockholders, he disclosed earnings of $5.80 a share in the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, only 7 cents less than in the preceding year despite the increasing difficulties of merchandising during war.

The meeting comprised one of the largest employe-stockholder groups in the country, representing about 47,000 who directly or thru the Sears profit sharing program have an 87 million dollar stake in the company.

Watch Business Closely.

Barrows calls them his "big board of directors" because they are often more exacting in their demands on the management than the regular corporate board, and explains this is so because of their close contact with the business.

He said merchandise available on the market has improved in quality in recent months, altho war restricted quantities still fail to meet all consumer demands. The company has restricted its purchases of essential goods falling below standard quality, with the result that 97 per cent of the inventory is in goods of pre-war or "acceptable" grade, he asserted.

"The merchandising situation is particularly tight in textiles," Barrows said.

He asserted that in the last few months there had been less difficulty in mail order operations resulting from a lack of merchandise to fill customers' orders.

Wood Refuses Forecast.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, company chairman, refused to forecast the trend of this fiscal year's business.

"My showing as a forecaster was very poor last year when we budgeted for a 15 per cent decline in sales," he remarked. "Business was better than war conditions had led us to expect, and sales declined only 1¾ per cent."

However, he said that company budgeting thru next July 31 provided for operations in expectation of a level of business equaling that of last year.

Sears sales in the last fiscal year totaled $852,596,706, against $867,834,052 the preceding year. Net income after taxes and other charges amounted to $33,866,087, compared with $33,946,989. Federal, state, and local taxes amounted to $63,971,324, compared with $73,136,026 the preceding year.

Sell All War Surplus Now, U. S. Aid Asks

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—W. L. Clayton, surplus property administrator, said today surplus property held by war agencies should be disposed of immediately.

"The more we can dispose of now, the less will be our problem in the post-war period," Clayton told a special house committee on post-war problems.

He said he has asked the war and navy departments to "bring to the surface" all possible surpluses which can be sold to civilians now. He assured the committee government surpluses will be sold thru regular trade channels with the buyer protected against exorbitant prices. Regional offices will give business men thruout the country a chance to buy surpluses which may be centralized in one or two places.

One specific policy that has been laid down is that surplus army and navy trucks must be sold to dealers and thru them to individuals at reasonable prices, he said.

A board, composed of representatives of 14 government agencies which buy or sell property, has been set up to advise with Clayton's office.

PROFITEERING CURBS URGED.

Sale of government owned surplus goods should be handled thru non-profit channels to prevent the profiteering which occurred at the end of the last war, National Coöperatives, Inc., and the Coöperative League of the United States resolved yesterday at a joint meeting in the Morrison hotel.

The resolution urged formation of a commission to control distribution of surplus goods and disposal of government owned factories. It asked that representatives of coöperatives, labor, agriculture, and small business be included on the commission.

WPB TELLS LUMBER USERS TO OUTLINE NEEDS BY APRIL 25

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—Moving to effect more complete control of increasingly scarce lumber, the WPB today announced that all major consumers must file applications on or before April 25 for second and third quarter requirements. WPB expects to draw a new order establishing procedures under which delivery of lumber will be authorized, probably to take effect at the beginning of the third quarter.

The application order affects consumers who used more than 50,000 board feet during the final quarter of 1943 or who expect to use more than that amount during either the second or third quarter of 1944.

Only exemptions are for lumber required for mine and smelter producers assigned serial numbers under order P-56, authorized under petroleum administration order 11; for resale by sawmill or distributor; for use outside continental United States, and for construction jobs specifically authorized by federal agencies when the authorization does not require WPB permission for construction.

Pipe Line Firm Meeting Adjourned to March 27

Wilmington, Del., March 21 (AP).—The annual stockholders meeting of the Missouri-Kansas Pipeline company was adjourned today until Monday, March 27.

FEDERAL DEBT TO RUN BELOW BUDGET FIGURE

Expected to Miss Total 10 Billions.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

With almost nine months elapsed in the present fiscal year it is clear that the federal debt will not reach by June 30 the 210 billion dollar level forecast in the original budget estimates.

It is indicated that the debt will be 10 billions below the estimated mark on June 30 and perhaps as low as 190 billions. The fact that war spending is not keeping up with estimates made earlier was an important factor in the rejection by congress of the administration's tax demands.

The United States is spending 7½ billions monthly for war. At this rate it will be nearly two years before all funds thus far authorized for war purposes are spent.

War Costs 165 Billions.

The war has cost the United States to date approximately 165 billion dollars as compared with total appropriations for all war purposes of 350 billion dollars.

While war agencies are turning back unused appropriations they are also requesting new appropriations. Whether the new appropriations are fully expended will depend on military developments. There is the possibility that estimated expenditures for the next fiscal year will be substantially reduced and the indicated debt increase will be less than anticipated.

"The time is not yet ripe for gauging the ultimate size of the public debt or the prospect for achieving and maintaining fiscal stability after the war," says Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings institution. "We must be content for the moment with observing that the growth in the debt is likely to be much less than has been feared."

Urge Definite Plans.

Moulton and others believe that a definite program to bring the federal budget into balance is essential for the early post-war years. If not immediately after the war then within a comparatively short period a balanced budget should be attained, they say.

At present the treasury has a cash balance of about 20 billion dollars. Substantial additional revenue will be received during the present fiscal year in income taxes. The treasury is not expected to do any more public borrowing until June 1. About a half of this year's government expenditures will be met by taxes. The 50-50 ratio between tax revenues and borrowing is approximately the same as exists in Canada and Great Britain. Most of the money borrowed by the United States treasury this year is from nonbanking sources.

WHAT WILL BE THE IMPORTANCE OF THESE AND OTHER NEW INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS IN THE POSTWAR PERIOD?

- Investors looking to the postwar future will find in the field of synthetic fibers many of the most revolutionary developments of recent years. These developments are certain to have great influences in American life—influences which are likely to appear first in the stocks of the companies making these new products.
- We have available a comprehensive new study of the entire textile field which, in normal times, is the second largest industry in the country in terms of value of manufactured products. Especially emphasized is this new field of synthetic fibers. Individual companies in the industry are analyzed separately.

CITY ANSWERS CAPTAINS' PLEA TO REGAIN JOBS

Policemen Will Request Ruling Tomorrow.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Jerome De Jonckheere.

Action toward an early decision regarding the suspension of eight police captains during the gambling investigation last fall was undertaken yesterday by Assistant Corporation Counsels Carl H. Lundquist and Fred V. Maguire. They filed answer to the court plea of the captains for an order restoring them to duty and Judge John C. Lewe will be asked to rule on the question tomorrow.

Those involved are Captains Walter Healy, Thomas Harrison, Thomas Connelly, John T. Cartan, Louis Klatzco, Eugene F. Barry, and Patrick T. Crotty, and Lt. William J. Drury, who was an acting captain at Town Hall station.

30 Day Limit Cited.

The city's reply conceded that the facts were set forth correctly in a petition filed on March 15, which complained that Police Commissioner Allman had kept the captains under suspension since October. The answer, however, disputed the contention that this was in violation of the law, which the captains interpreted as giving Allman the power to suspend "for not more than 30 days."

Atty. Lundquist said there never has been a court decision on the right of a city department head to suspend a civil service employe for more than 30 days.

Healy Decision Pending.

The police trial board spent eight weeks hearing the charges involving Capt. Healy, but has not given a decision. The Cartan trial is scheduled to be resumed tomorrow.

Jerome De Jonckheere, who has been sought for participation in the murder of Martin Quirk, a gambler, which helped bring about the investigation of the police department's responsibility for gambling, surrendered in Chief Justice Benjamin P. Epstein's court and was jailed. Prosecutors said it was doubtful if he would be tried because of the acquittal of three others.

Seeks Girl's Custody

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. ROSE JOHNSON.

Mrs. Rose Russow Johnson, 20, of 4319 N. Lawndale av., a former model, yesterday tearfully asked Judge Robert J. Dunne, of the Circuit court, for custody of her daughter, Ruth Marie, 2.

On Oct. 17, 1943, she obtained a divorce from her husband, George Russow, 26, now a marine stationed in Oregon. At the time she agreed to let him have custody of the child. Since, however, she has remarried.

The girl is with Russow's half sister, Mrs. Ruth Moore, 1910 Ainslie st. Judge Dunne ruled that Mrs. Johnson should visit her daughter as frequently as she wishes, and continued the case to April 12 for a social service investigation.

NEW CUT IN GAS CALLED BID FOR EASTERN VOTES

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Convinced they already have lost much of the middle west, Roosevelt fourth term strategists clamped the cut in A gasoline rations taking effect today on the remainder of the country to win votes in the congested east, State Rep. Lottie Holman O'Neill [R., Downers Grove] charged yesterday. Mrs. O'Neill, secretary of the Illinois joint legislative commission on the rationing of petroleum and petroleum products, has studied the office of price administration handling of the problem since its inception.

"I recently talked with men in the Roosevelt administration who have charge of handling the gasoline supply for civilian use," Mrs. O'Neill said, "and they tell me confidentially that the cut from 4 to 3 gallons and this latest one were purely political moves.

Wants PAW Cleared.

"I can well believe it: A few days ago Col. Bryan Houston, chief of gasoline rationing for OPA in Washington, said the cut was because of the administration's wish to equalize A rations thruout the country. At the same time Deputy Petroleum Administrator Davies made it plain that the petroleum administration for war had nothing to do with this latest cut.

"Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator, said over the radio: 'I agree that there is enough gasoline for each A card holder to continue to get three gallons a week.'

"Then he continues: 'I agree from the standpoint of the total supply the cut wasn't necessary. But here's the thing that people sometimes forget. There does exist a black market. It isn't a fairy story. It's a reality and a grim one, too.'

Points to Daily Drain.

"He added that the black market is draining 2½ million gallons of gasoline daily from the nation's supply.

"But he didn't mention that the black market is not in the A coupons at all but entirely in the Bs, Cs, and others. He didn't admit that the A card drivers are suffering because of the black market in the other coupons and that A card holders have been demonstrated as the class of drivers keeping most thoroly within their rations."

Reason More Political.

G. A. Prim, executive secretary of the Illinois Petroleum Marketers association, issued at Springfield, a statement saying, "The reason for the cut in A rations appears to be more political than anything else."

"Washington officials, to pacify voters in the east, have long wanted to put gasoline ration coupons on an equal basis with the eastern states," Prim said. "They give little consideration, however, to the longer distances of travel necessary in the midwest compared with eastern states. These gasoline troubles in the middle west must be laid on the doorstep of the White House."

SEEKS SEPARATION FROM EX-PREACHER; CHARGES INFIDELITY

The Rev. Stanley Gilbert Belland, 38, former pastor of the Jefferson Park Bible church, 5518 Gettysburg st., was sued for separate maintenance yesterday in Superior court by his wife, Mrs. Jule Lasse Belland, 40, of 5206 Carmen av. She charged he deserted her last Oct. 10 after the trustees of the church relieved him of his duties because of his attentions to a woman member of the congregation.

Mrs. Belland's bill asserted that her husband admitted intimacies with the other woman and asked his wife to sue for divorce. He spent all his evenings away from home, and often returned after midnight, saying his "duties" detained him, the suit charges.

Mrs. Belland asked custody of their two sons, temporary alimony, and support money from the $65 a week she says her husband now earns as a route foreman for a laundry. The Rev. Mr. Belland, who lives at 3108 Berteau av., said he had resigned of his own accord from the Jefferson Park Bible church, where he was pastor for 13 years. He declined to give his reasons for the resignation.

Roosevelt Has a Cold; Stays in His Quarters

Washington, D. C., March 21 (AP).—President Roosevelt was treated for a head cold today and, upon the advice of his physician, remained in his White House quarters.

SENATORS URGE PALESTINE AS A HAVEN FOR JEWS

New York, March 21 (AP).—Senators Barkley [D., Ky.] and Taft [R., O.] tonight expressed favor toward Jewish immigration into Palestine, but Barkley declared military considerations might cause the entry to "be held in abeyance." Taft, asserting the war "has gone beyond North Africa," said there could be no military effect on further Jewish immigration. "That opposition which we now meet is one of political policy and not of military policy," he said.

Address Garden Rally.

Both men addressed a "rally for Palestine" sponsored by the American Zionist Emergency council held at Madison Square Garden here.

Gov. Dewey of New York in a message read to the 20,000 persons at the rally said: "It is essential that a way be found to open the doors of Palestine." Sen. Wagner [D., N. Y.], terming Jewish Palestine "Great Britain's most dependable ally in the the middle east," urged abrogation of the British white paper which prohibits Jewish entry into Palestine after March 31.

Says British "Impressed."

Dr. Stephen S. Wise, co-chairman of the Zionist council, said Palestine represented less than 1 per cent of Arab territory and declared: "I do not believe we are going to be asked to surrender our national homeland for the sake of a pipe line from Saudi Arabia to Alexandria or Haifa."

Dr. Israel Goldstein, president of the Zionist Organization of America, who arrived here tonight from London, said the British were impressed by the "unanimous demand" of American Jews for abrogation of the white paper and said he believed they would "hesitate to close the gates of Palestine to refugees."

Aurora Gunner Missing in Guinea, Parents Told

Staff Sgt. John Schwartz, 25, an aerial gunner, has been missing in action over New Guinea since March 5, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Schwartz, 423 S. Jackson st., Aurora, were informed yesterday.

OPA HOLDS TENANTS MAY REFUSE TO SIGN WAIVER OF SERVICE

The office of price administration yesterday advised Chicago tenants they would be within their rights in refusing to sign renewals of their dwelling leases which contain a rider covering reduction of service or repairs by virtue of war shortages.

The clause, of which thousands have been printed for attaching to regular lease forms, said Alexander Rothstein, chief enforcement attorney for the OPA rent control office, will not offer additional protection to landlords nor prevent a tenant bringing damage or rent reduction action under OPA regulations. It reads, Rothstein said:

"If lessor [landlord] shall be unable by reason of . . . shortages . . . to furnish any material or perform any labor required hereunder, lessor shall be excused from furnishing . . . materials or . . . labor without thereby being guilty of a breach of any of the terms or covenants of this lease. . . ."

Rothstein said that "under OPA rules the tenant has no right to waive any provisions for rental refunds, and if such a rider is attached to a signed lease his right to take any action for recovery is not jeopardized."

COURT BLOCKS FREEDOM FOR 2 UNDER 1941 ACT

The Illinois Supreme court in Springfield yesterday granted a mandamus writ sought by Atty. Gen. Barrett to compel Criminal Court Judge John A. Sbarbaro to expunge an order liberating Orrin Luster, embezzler, and William Mohlman, convicted robber.

Luster, son of former Municipal Court Judge Max Luster, and Mohlman had been sentenced to one to 10 year terms and had served 18 months, the maximum recommended by the trial judge. The recommendations preceded the high court's invalidation of the 1941 parole act amendment authorizing such action.

Freedom hopes of approximately 1,500 Illinois prison inmates were believed by the attorney general's office to be frustrated by the Supreme court ruling.

ONLY EMPLOYE, WOMAN BUNDIST ARGUES AT TRIAL

Mrs. Irene W. Matz.

Mrs. Irene W. Matz, only woman among nine Chicago German American bund members named in citizenship revocation proceedings brought by the government, insisted yesterday that she was just an $18 a week secretary in the Haus Vaterland club, 3857 N. Western av.

The attractive 43 year old blonde secretary to Dr. Otto A. Willumeit, Chicago bund leader, called as an adverse witness in a hearing before Federal Judge William J. Campbell, protested during a three hour examination that she didn't know any of the principles of the bund.

Francis J. McGreal, assistant United States attorney, asked her, "What about 'Once a German always a German?'"

"I can never change the fact I am German born," said Mrs. Matz in a heavy German accent, "but I can always be a darn good American citizen."

Mrs. Matz, a native of Berlin, came to the United States in 1923, and in 1927 went back to Germany on a four month visit. She was naturalized 12 days after she returned to the United States. The government charges she took the oath of allegiance with reservations.

Mrs. Matz, who lives at 1509 Rosemont av. and has a son, Charles, in the United States navy, testified she joined the bund in 1938 and a year later became secretary in the now closed Haus Vaterland headquarters. Her duties included collection of dues and "tending bar" in the Haus Vaterland.

CICERO BOARD FINDS WAY TO PAY TEACHERS

The Cicero school board met the suburb's teacher pay crisis last night by approving issuance under state law of teacher orders, bearing interest at 4½ per cent, against anticipated tax revenues. The orders will be available to meet school pay rolls on Friday, Board President Michael J. Solar said. Teachers who need cash may convert these orders thru investment firms, board members said.

The teachers were paid in cash last month, but March salaries became doubtful when the school working cash fund of $440,000 ran out. This fund will not be replenished until taxes come in after July 1. The board could not issue tax anticipation warrants or bonds because of its financial condition.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS STATE AID'S CONVICTION

The Illinois Supreme court in Springfield yesterday affirmed the conviction and 1 to 15 year prison sentence of Lawrence J. O'Connell, 39, former chief securities examiner of the Illinois industrial commission. He was convicted of embezzling bonds and cash deposited with the commission.

The court also affirmed the conviction of Thomas Bartell, 27, for manslaughter in the fatal slapping of his daughter, 20 months old, in their home at 3204 Washington blvd. He was sentenced to prison for 1 to 14 years.

WFA SUSPENDS MILK PRICE CUT TO AID OUTPUT

The war food administration in Washington yesterday announced it had suspended portions of the federal milk marketing orders which would have decreased producer returns for class I. fluid milk in the Chicago milkshed during the spring and summer months. The new order was issued to encourage sustained production.

The portion of the Chicago order which the WFA suspended called for a drop of 20 cents a hundredweight [46.5 quarts] during May and June.

"As Good as Gold"

We'll go out of "OUR WAY" to give YOU an honest, square deal.
BECAUSE: [1] We're out of the high rent district.
BECAUSE: [2] We don't need fancy trimmings or high pressure salesmen.
BECAUSE: [3] You don't pay for silk curtains, marble floors.
